Congratulations Spring And Summer Graduates

NORTHEAST
MISSOURI STATE COLLEGE
ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

A Message from the President

It has been my pleasure to serve as Association President for the past 10 months since the first election of officers at the Centennial Homecoming. The cooperation of Association officers, board members and the college administration has led to several important decisions for the growth and betterment of the Association. The increased interest shown by graduates and former students has been most encouraging.

We extend congratulations and best wishes to the spring and summer graduates along with a warm welcome into the membership of the Association as the newest alumni of the college. Your active membership and participation is needed.

Several projects are being considered and it is hoped that final plans will be completed on some of these at a meeting of the board in early September.

The 1968 Homecoming has been scheduled for Saturday, October 19. A full weekend of activities is being planned including the annual business meeting of the Association. Additional information on all of the activities will be forthcoming from the College Alumni Office.

Sincerely,

Seaton A. Bonta

Drama Department Establishes Ice House Theatre In Hannibal; Present Five Plays in Mark Twain Setting

A joint venture of the Northeast Missouri State College Drama Department and a nonprofit organization in Hannibal has resulted in the establishment of Missouri's newest legitimate theatre, the "Ice House" located in Hannibal. The project uses a 114-year-old ice house adapted into a 230 seat theatre featuring a new stage, dressing rooms and entrance lobby.

Summer shows opened July 2 with an adaptation of Huckleberry Finn, especially written by J. G. Severns and Alfred Srnka, members of the College drama faculty who are directing the Ice House Players. Other shows presented in repertory rotation included "Luv," "You Can't Take It With You," "Picnic," and "Thurber Carnival." Most of the Ice House Players are College drama students although there is a resident company of professionals including Brenda Currin of New York who will be remembered for her role as Nancy Clutter in the recent popular movie, "In Cold Blood."

The Huckleberry Finn script honors Hannibal's connection with Mark Twain and the author's famous novel. The Ice House Theatre is located at the corner of Front and Hill Streets, just a block east of the Mark Twain home.

The entire Ice House Players Company is pictured in front of the abandoned icehouse which was converted to a legitimate theatre in Hannibal. The Company was made up of Northeast Missouri State College students, Hannibal residents and a resident company of professionals including Brenda Currin of New York who played the role of Nancy Clutter in the recent movie, "In Cold Blood."

Originally the building was erected in 1854 by the Stillwell Cold Storage Company and the Stillwell hams, which were sold around the world, were stored in the structure. Artificial ice was introduced to the plant in 1880 and by 1912 meat packing was discontinued and the sale of ice and winter storage of apples became the principal business.

Ice was moved in three hundred pound cakes at the rate of 100,000 cakes annually. The ice house operated 16 hours a day, normally, and a full 24 hours a day during the summer.

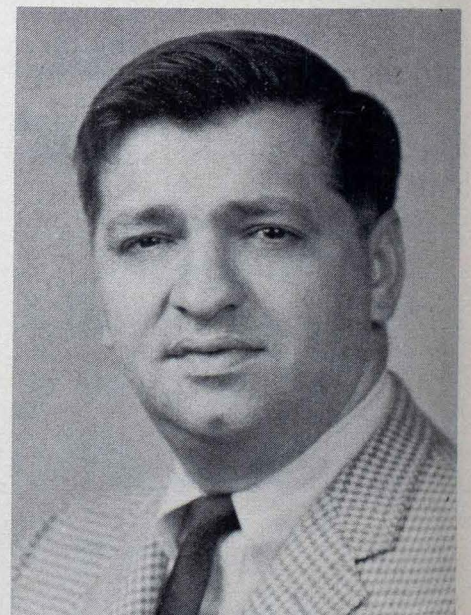

Now after standing vacant for many years, the old ice house has sprung to life again during the 6 week drama session.

A maximum of 9 hours of undergraduate credit is being earned by each of the students and eight $280 subsistence scholarships were granted. Classes offered included Rehearsing and Performing A Major Role; Rehearsing and Performing A Supporting Role; Stage Management; Technical Theatre Procedures and Theatre Business Practices. Rehearsals for the summer productions began on June 17 and the theatre closes on August 10.

Spring Commencement Week Features Cornerstone Ceremonies for Centennial Hall, Symington Address

Commencement week activities for the Spring division of the 1968 graduating class included Cornerstone Laying Ceremonies for the new Centennial Hall, Baccalaureate, senior and graduate banquets and closed with the conferring of a record breaking 737 degrees by College President F. Clark Elkins.

Members of the first class of the second century took part in the cornerstone ceremonies, Sunday, May 12, for the last building to be constructed on the campus during the first century.

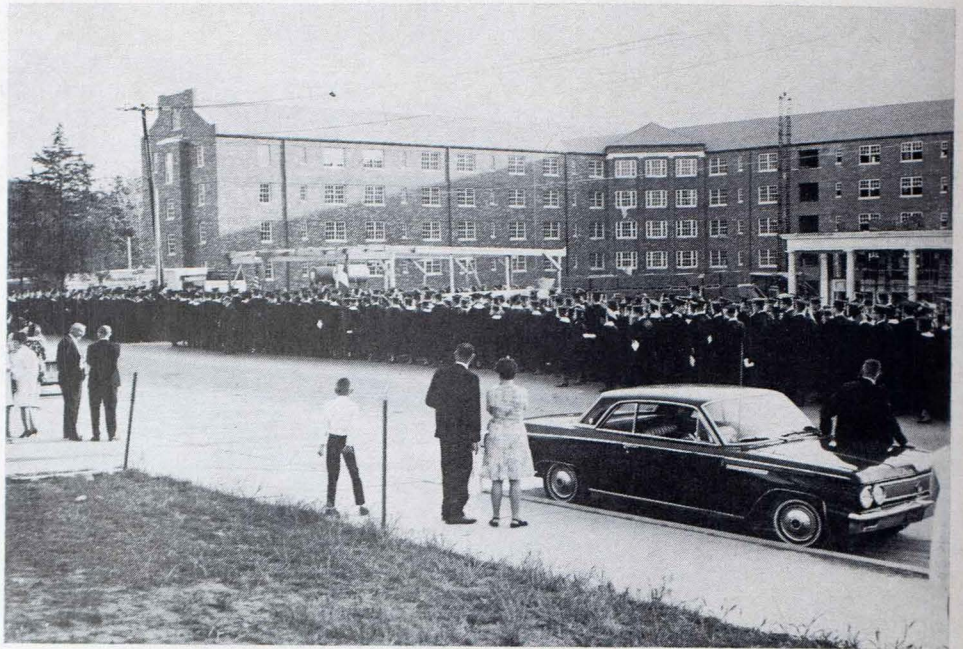

An unusual feature of the traditional ceremonies was the fact that they were conducted by the officers of the Grand Lodge of AF and AM of Missouri headed by Grand Master William R. Denslow of Trenton. Walter C. Ploeser, Grand Orator of Missouri Masons was the principal speaker using as his topic "What Can You Do When You Can't Do Anything?"

James R. Reinhard, President of the College Board of Regents, presided over the ceremonies. Bruce H. Hunt, Regent from Kirksville, introduced Mr. Ploeser.

The ceremonies were held at the site of the new dormitory for women which will house 682 students and will be opened this fall. The building is located directly across Franklin Street from the Student Union.

Other Grand Lodge Officers of the State of Missouri Masonic order who participated in the event were: Elvis A. Mooney, Bloomfield, Deputy Grand Master; J. Morgan Donelson, Princeton, Senior Grand Warden; William H. Chapman, Webster Groves, Junior Grand Warden; Elmer W. Wagner, St. Louis, Grand Secretary; Freelon K. Hadley, St. Joseph, Grand Lecturer; Thomas J. Davis, Jr., Piedmont, Senior Grand Deacon; Walter L. Walker, Neosho, Senior Grand Steward; Robert L. McKinney, Kirksville, Junior Grand Steward; Herman A. Orlick, St. Louis, Senior Grand Marshal.

The graduates proceeded to the Baccalaureate services held in the College Auditorium featuring an address by The Reverend Harry E. Maurer, Vicar of the Trinity Episcopal Church.

Cornerstone Laying Ceremonies for the new Centennial Hall.

Commencement exercises for the newest alumni of the College on Friday, May 17, featured an address by James W. Symington, son of U.S. Senator from Missouri Stuart Symington. Senator Symington was unable to deliver the address because of crucial items on the Senate agenda.

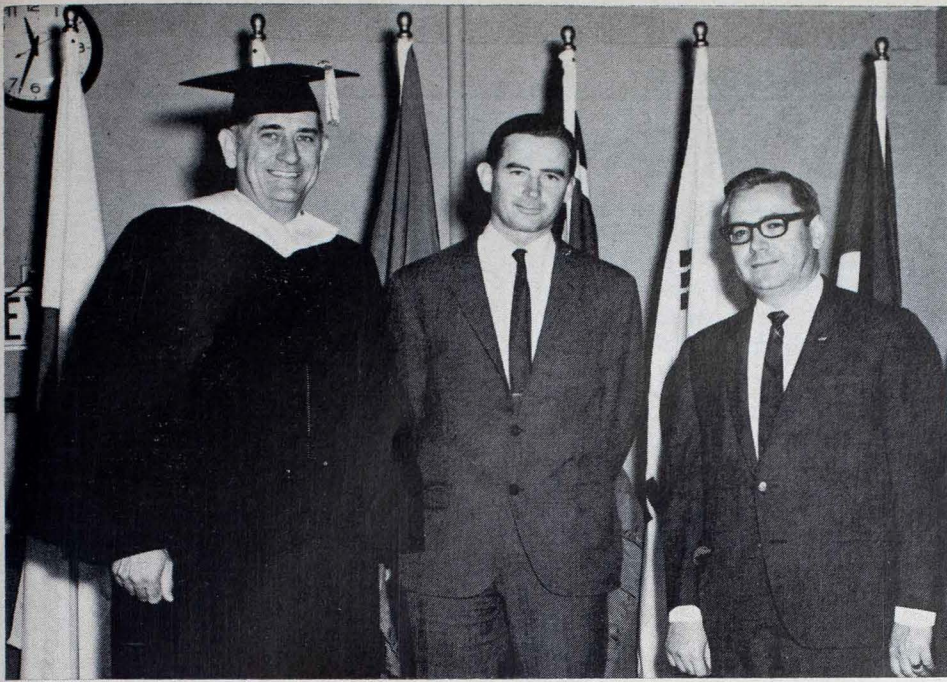

The well received substitute speaker had recently resigned as Chief of Protocol of the United States to run for Congress in a St. Louis District. More than 6,000 parents and friends attended the commencement week closing ceremonies.

'Dogs' Football Coaches Braden, Holmes, Sloan Confronted with Rebuilding Team for '68 Season

1968 PRE-SEASON OUTLOOK

Last summer, Marv Braden, football coach at Northeast Missouri State College, then starting his first year at the helm of the Bulldogs, felt his 1967 edition might surprise a few prognosticators, provided his performers remained healthy through the early weeks of the campaign. Twelve months later, this opinion holds true for the 1968 season, according to the mentor.

"I'm not trying to be pessimistic, just realistic," laments Braden. He stresses his key losses from last fall, including five players, either first team or alternate team all-conference. They are quarterback Rick Gorzynski, end John Newcomb, tackle Jim Farrell, guard Mike Bielie, and halfback Rick Reeves. Other departures include guard Ralph Gleissner, tackles Dan Stehle and Rick Cash, and linebacker Ken Powers. Cash was the 10th draft pick of the Green Bay Packers. Reeves and Stehle are serving with Uncle Sam, and Powers transferred to West Texas State. These performers figured prominently in last season's improved team that posted a 4-5-0 overall mark and finished in a tie for third in the MIAA Conference. Two years ago, the Bulldogs fell to the league cellar, and were only 3-6-0 for all contests.

From a defensive standpoint, Braden's 1968 squad appears formidable. Only Farrell, Reeves and Powers are missing from the 1967 unit that was second in final league statistics. Three all-conference selections, end Ken Bebermeyer, safety Jerry Meyer and defensive guard Frank Wagner, are back. Other returning defensive stalwarts include linebackers Jerry Lybarger and Aubrey Johnson, tackle John Suell, end Ron Belew, halfback Charles Blakley, and rambler Gary Newcomb.

"However, offensively, we'll have to build an entirely new interior line and replace Newcomb and Gorzynski," moans the coach. This latter duo comprised one of the best aerial combinations in the history of the College. "It's possible a few freshman faces may be seen in our offensive forward wall, because each position will be up for grabs," declares Braden.

He emphasizes the Bulldogs were almost a good team in 1967, but their inability to score prevented them from winning four additional games. "We had the football first-and-ten inside our opponents' 10-yard line 13 times during the season, but scored only four times," recalls the mentor. "We should have scored about 10 times in this situation. If we're going to be a good team this fall, we must maintain possession of the ball and push across the goal line when in the scoring area."

Offensive regulars returning this season are halfbacks Steve Garrett and Lloyd Wiese, fullback Pete Cirrintano, and tight end John Bringer, who may be moved to tackle. Braden may have to borrow personnel from his defensive unit to strengthen the offense. Blakeley and Mike Berentes have the ability to break a game wide open, if work horses are found to open holes up front. Don Cummings, who gained some experience as a freshman last year, may have the inside track at the signal-calling slot. When Gorzynski was sidelined with an injury in the 1967 opener, Cummings stepped in and performed like a veteran for the first three outings. Jim Arico, a returning squadman, is also a strong candidate for the quarterback role.

The Bulldogs also lost both assistant coaches. Bill Richerson will be working toward his doctorate at the University of Utah, and Kenneth Gardner will devote full time to teaching and directing the track team. Gardner assisted with gridiron duties for 17 years, and Richerson for seven seasons. "Both men will be greatly missed, but two fine new coaches, Russ Sloan and Bill Holmes, will join our staff," comments Braden. Holmes, former head coach at Central Methodist College, will replace Richerson while he is gone. The new assistant mentor will tutor the defensive secondary. Sloan, who is coming from a head coaching job at Carthage High School, will be responsible for developing offensive and defensive linemen.

"Most of our opponents look better than we do on paper, but we're going to play them on the gridiron where anything can happen and usually does," concludes Braden.

Tennis Team Possesses Qualities of Champion; Two Bulldogs Place High in National Tourney

What are the necessary ingredients to produce an outstanding tennis doubles team? For one thing, the players must strive for teamwork, and complement each other's game.

Coach Ralph Pink of Northeast Missouri State College feels Ron Selkirk (Alton, Illinois) and Dave Romberg (Quincy, Illinois) more than exemplify these qualities.

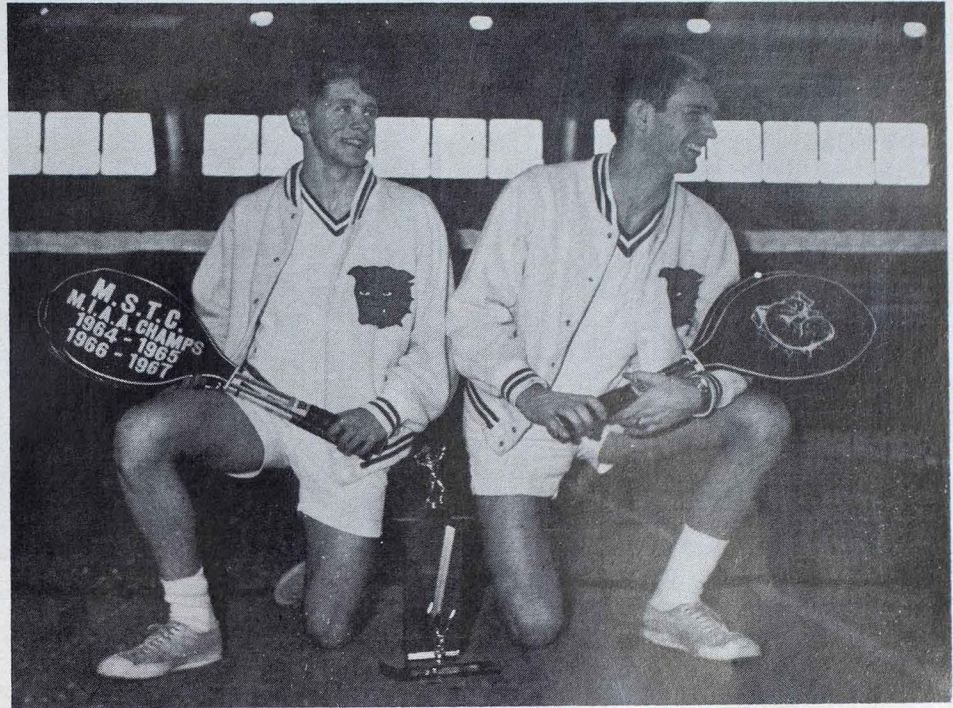

They are the first racquet performers from the College to advance to the semi-finals of a national tourney. In early June, these two juniors lived up to their fourth-place seeding in the NCAA College Division championships at Fort Worth, Texas. After a first-round bye, they survived the following rounds by defeating James Zajicek and Robert Boggio of Illinois University (Chicago) and Tony Esquiro and Gary Granell of San Fernando Valley.

Selkirk and Romberg were eliminated from further competition when they dropped 6-2, 6-1 sets to Fresno State's Gary Ogden and Jim Powers, eventual national titlists. The duo was instrumental in Northeast Missouri's fourth-place team standing in the tourney, one of the highest national finishes for any Bulldog athletic squad in the history of the school.

Other high finishes, according to College records, include the 1964 cross-country team's second-place finish in the NCAA College Division National Meet and the 1960 cross-country team's fourth place finish in the National Meet.

"I'd have to say Ron and Dave are the best doubles team to ever represent us," declares Pink. The mentor has directed tennis at Northeast Missouri since its inception as a team sport in 1959. "Both men complement the other psychologically and from a performance standpoint. Each has a strong service, especially Selkirk.

Their record in singles action is highly respectable, too. Selkirk advanced to the quarterfinals at Fort Worth before Sherwood Stewart of Lamar (Texas) Tech bested him, 6-4, 6-3. Stewart, the 1967 national singles champion, subdued Selkirk a year ago in the second round. The Alton athlete compiled an 8-6 dual mark and 16-12 overall standard in 1968. In three years of dual action, he shows a

Dave Romberg and Ron Selkirk

26-11 record. "Ron just might be the best No. 1 singles performer I've coached here," asserts Pink.

In discussing Romberg, who stands 5' 6" and weighs about 125 pounds wringing wet, the mentor points out the value of the Quincy, Illinois netman. "As Dave goes, so go the Bulldogs," he exclaims. In dual matches, the Bulldogs lost only when Romberg was upended. The Quincy lad lost dual decisions to Missouri and Bradley in the only matches dropped by the Bulldogs in a 12-2 campaign. Since coming to Northeast Missouri, he and his team have amassed a 35-2 ledger, excluding tourney-type competition, the past three years.

Although the two Illinois products can reflect happily on a satisfying spring, they undoubtedly are thinking ahead to their senior year and hopefully, an even more successful trip to the national tourney.

Newcomb Recipient of Coveted Stickler Cup; Four-Year Letterman In Football, Tennis

John Newcomb, East Aurora, Illinois, was the recipient of the 1968 Stickler Cup, awarded annually to the outstanding senior athlete at Northeast Missouri State College.

The presentation was made by athletic director, James J. Dougherty, last spring at an honors and awards program. Stickler Cup recipients must possess qualities of scholarship, leadership and ambition. Newcomb, a physical education major, is a four-year football letterman, and four-year tennis monogram winner. In four years as an offensive end, he caught 87 passes for 1,413 yards and 11 touchdowns. He was tri-captain of the 1967 football squad.

Newcomb was also elected captain of the 1968 tennis edition. During his four-year career, he posted a 21-5 dual record.

The Stickler Cup, made possible by Dr. R. O. Stickler of Kirksville, former athlete at the State College, has been awarded since 1930, except for the years of World War II.

Newcomb also received the R. E. Valentine Award for outstanding scholarship during the past winter and the spring of 1966.

This $25 scholarship, presented to the K-Club member with the highest grade average for the previous college quarter, was established for the late R. E. Valentine, former college and faculty member and athlete. Newcomb is past-president of the K-Club.

Three other State College athletes were honored at the Spring Awards Program. Jerry Walker of Edison, New Jersey, Fred Banks of Los Angeles, California, and Paul Economides of Alton, Illinois were recipients of the 1968 Rollins H. Brownlee Track and Field award, which is presented each year to the outstanding athlete or athletes in this sport at the College. Recipients must possess qualities of scholarship, leadership, citizenship and ambition. The award is made possible by Rollins H. Brownlee, banker from Brookfield and former member of the College Board of Regents. Track Coach Kenneth Gardner made the presentation to the three athletes, who were tri-captains of the squad.

Tennis Team Wins Conference Crown, Fourth Place Tie in NCAA; Cindermen Capture Tenth Consecutive MIAA Title; Golf and Baseball Teams Manage to Improve Records

Three of the four intercollegiate spring sports at the State College recorded winning seasons, with tennis performers gaining national recognition for their accomplishments.

Although Coach Ralph Pink's 1968 netmen dropped their first dual encounter in March after 30 consecutive victories, they finished the campaign with a glowing 12-2 mark. They also captured their fifth straight MIAA Conference title, their first NCAA College Division Midwest title, and fourth place in the NCAA National Championships at Ft. Worth, Tex. The finish at Ft. Worth was the highest any Bulldog racquet team has ever placed in national competition, and one of the top team finishes on the national level in the college's history. Previously, the 1964 cross-country team finished second, and the 1960 aggregation, fourth in the national meet. Ron Selkirk of Alton, Ill. and Dave Romberg of Quincy, Ill., advanced to the semi-finals of doubles action at Ft. Worth, before tasting defeat. Selkirk, the only Bulldog player to survive opening rounds in singles competition, was upended in the quarterfinals.

Coach Kenneth Gardner's cindermen continued to dominate MIAA track by notching their 10th consecutive conference outdoor title. Fred Banks of Los Angeles, Calif., veteran sprinter and relay performer, was named the outdoor meet's outstanding performer. The lanky senior captured the 220 and 440-yard dashes and was on the winning mile relay team. Earlier in the season, the Bulldogs had claimed their 10th MIAA indoor crown in a row. They also were undefeated in outdoor dual competition, with victories over Western Illinois, Northwest Missouri State, and Lincoln University. After finishing third in the NCAA College Division Midwest Meet, the thinclads were represented at the NCAA National Meet by Banks, Wayne Denney of Chicago, Al Jackson of Dallas, Tex., and Pat Sullivan of St. Louis. Denney placed third in the 800 meters to earn All-American honors. His time was equivalent to a 1:51.3 half mile, two seconds behind the winner. Sullivan, only a freshman, finished a highly respectable ninth in the 1500 meters. His time was equivalent to a 4:10.3 mile.

The Bulldog golf team, coached by William Richerson, compiled a 10-2 ledger, one of the best marks in recent years. However, the linksmen had to settle for third in the conference tourney, 17 strokes behind the champions, Southwest Missouri State Bears. Mike Brake of Washington, Ia., who performed at the number one position most of the spring, was one of the five medalists in the league outing.

Despite dropping their last eight decisions and finishing in the conference cellar, the 1968 baseball Bulldogs still managed to post a 7-17 standard, the best mark since the diamond sport was started two years ago. Weak hitting throughout the season plagued Coach Sam Nugent's men, who batted an anemic .199 as a team. Among the regulars, left fielders Mike Gilbert of St. Louis boasted the best average, .352. He was also team leader for two-base blows with nine and total bases with 36. Team pitching, the Bulldogs' most impressive department this spring, showed a 2.32 earned-run average. Bob Miller, freshman from St. Louis, carved out a nifty 1.88, tops among the moundsmen, and Rick Morgan of Ottumwa, Ia., another yearling, was not far behind with a 2.06 ERA.

1968 Football and Cross Country Schedules

Two new teams appear on the 1968 Football Schedule for Northeast Missouri State College, announced this week by Athletic Director James J. Dougherty.

Missouri Southern College of Joplin and Lincoln University of Jefferson City have never met the Bulldogs on the gridiron. Coach Marv Braden's eleven will travel to Jefferson City on Oct. 5, and to Joplin on Nov. 23.

Two 1967 intersectional opponents, Parsons College and Kansas State of Pittsburg, have been scheduled again next fall. The remainder of the nine-game slate is composed of MIAA Conference foes.

Myrtle Cheney Murdock, 1912, Honored in Washington Ceremonies; Wife of Former Educator and Congressman John R. Murdock

BY P. O. SELBY

Myrtle Cheney Murdock, 1912, is creating a fourth or fifth career for herself by her interest in the art work in the U. S. Capitol at Washington.

Mrs. Mrudock and her husband, former Congressman John R. Murdock were students here about sixty years ago. Mr. Murdock received the bachelor of pedagogy degree at the Kirksville State Normal School in 1910. He remained to teach history and work in what was named the Teachers College Course, receiving a bachelor of science degree as Mrs. Murdock received her bachelor of pedagogy degree on August 9, 1912.

The Murdocks taught at Ridgeway in 1912-1914, and then went to Tempe, Ariz. Mr. Murdock taught in the State Normal School in Tempe, 1914-1932, and when it was renamed State Teachers College he became the dean, serving in that capacity from 1933 to 1937. In 1936 he ran for Congress on the Democratic ticket and was elected. He served in Washington from 1937 to 1953.

Mrs. Murdock, who had reared three children, went along to Washington and became interested in the art and architecture of Washington and particularly of the Capitol Building. She served for many years as a Capitol Guide and came to know all the congressmen and all the employees in the Capitol Building. Her interest in art led to the authorship of five books: Your Uncle Sam in Washington, 1948; Constantino Brumidi, Michelangelo of the U. S. Capitol, 1950; Your Memorials in Washington, 1952; National Statuary Hall in the Nation's Capitol, 1955; The American Creed and William Tyle Page, 1958.

Particularly Mrs. Murdock became interested in Brumidi, Italian-born artist, who had painted many frescoes in the Capitol Building. She button-holed Congressmen until she had many of them interested. She located Brumidi's grave in Glenwood Cemetery and induced Congress to mark the grave as well as to conduct a program honoring Brumidi and later to have his friezes cleaned and to have one finished which was left incomplete by Brumidi's grave.

Recently Congress authorized a bust of Brumidi to be placed in the Capitol Building and our Myrtle Cheney Murdock, now doctor of education (George Washington University), was given the honor of unveiling the bust in exercises held during the first week of May, 1968.

John R. Murdock, who originated in Lewis County, is a greatuncle of Miss Martha Spath who teaches physical education at NMSC and often visits the Murdocks in Washington.
