Medal Collection

Medals won by Harry Bledsoe while a student at the State Normal School

The first medals in track and field events won by the late Henry Bledsoe while a student in the State Teachers College, then the State Normal School, in the closing years of the last century, have been presented to the College.

Mr. Bledsoe attended the State Normal School in 1898 and 1899, and the seven medals were won during this period.

The medals were turned over to President Walter H. Ryle by Mr. Earl Bledsoe, of Grants Pass, Oregon, a brother of the late Mr. Bledsoe, with the understanding that they are to be properly labeled and placed in the College Museum. The medals have now been encased and labeled and are on exhibit in the museum.

The medals include an award for first place in the 100 yard dash; a medal for establishing a record in the 100 yard dash of 10.5 seconds; a first place in the quarter mile bicycle race; a medal for setting a record in the quarter mile bicycle rate of one minute, 6 seconds; a first place award in pole vaulting by some nine feet; a first place in the half-mile race with a time of two minutes, 18 seconds; and finally the largest medal for being the highest scorer in the events of the field day on May 24, 1898.

Mr. Bledsoe's 100 yard dash time compares favorably with the present day Teachers College record set recently at 9.7 seconds. The half-mile record of the college is one minute, 57.7 seconds and the current pole vaulting record is 12 feet, 6 inches.

Mr. Bledsoe was employed by the Accepted for mailing at special rate of postage provided for in section 1103, Act of October 3, 1917, authorized July 26, 1919.

Rock Island Railroad as a ticket agent following the completion of his work at the State Normal School. He died in El Reno, Oklahoma, in 1912, at the early age of 32. His death is thought to have been caused by some earlier injuries suffered while participating in track. He was the son of John Worth Bledsoe who was the campus policeman and head janitor of Baldwin Hall for five years.

Alumni Note

Walter E. Evans, 1930, was appointed principal of the Missouri School for the Blind in St. Louis for the 1958-59 school year. Mr. Evans had recently served as principal of the Pattonville Junior High School and is a former superintendent of schools at several Missouri towns. He is a native of La Plata and holds the master's and doctor's degrees from the University of Missouri.

Postwar Period of Instruction at Northeast Missouri State Teachers College

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the eighth of the planned reports of the instructional divisions covering the period since 1945. The preceding surveys—Fine Arts, Business Education, Home Economics, Science, Social Science, and Health and Physical Education—have appeared in recent numbers of the Nemoscope.

I. Organization

The division of Language and Literature is composed of the fields of English Language and Literature, French, German, Latin, Publications, Spanish, Speech, and Speech Correction. A comparison of course offerings in the 1944-46 Bulletin with those in the 1958-60 Bulletin will show the expansion:

	No. of Courses 1944-46	1958-60
Language and Literature	22	38
French	14	18
German	15	23
Latin	8	15
Publications	0	8
Spanish	6	21
Speech	13	20
Speech Correction	0	19

For a few years the work in Speech was divided into the fields of Speech Correction, Public Speaking, and Dramatics and Oral Interpretation but the 1958-60 Bulletin arranges the courses under Speech and Speech Correction. In 1945 there were a few courses in Publications included under Language and Literature and there were five courses under Speech which are now considered Speech Correction.

The total number of cataloged courses has expanded from 78 to 162. The enrollments in the two General Education courses offered in Language and Literature during the fall quarters of the postwar years reflect the growth of the College and the Division:

	Fundamentals of English	World Literature
1945	153	47
1946	409	90
1947	318	134
1948	339	174
1949	440	197
1950	385	223
1951	405	177
1952	345	185
1953	340	165
1954	391	207
1955	532	250
1956	480	381
1957	566	399
1958	697	474

II. Equipment

The Division of Language and Literature has been located on the second floor of Baldwin Hall since 1938, but recently it has had to use some classrooms and offices in other parts of the campus. With the addition of the Auditorium to Baldwin Hall there is additional space available for Language and Literature and the division will again be concentrated in one building. The present central office has rooms for seven teachers; the room to be vacated by the Alumni Office will accommodate six others; while Publications, Speech and Speech Correction will have other rooms, some of which are in the new addition. A modern language laboratory is now pretty well equipped and will receive other materials. Two rooms are equipped for showing of films and slides. The Little Theatre has been refurbished with luxurious seats and is now air cooled for summer. Dressing rooms and storage rooms in the Auditorium are so located as to serve also the Little Theatre.

Language and Literature

III. Staff

In the fall of 1945 the faculty in Language and Literature and the subjects they taught were:

J. W. Heyd, head of the division, teaching German and Modern English Grammar.

E. S. Avison, teacher of Freshman English and Interpretative Reading.

Miss Berenice Beggs, teacher of Freshman English, English and American Literature, and director of student teaching of English in the Kirksville Junior High School.

Mr. Sherod Collins, teacher of Debate.

Mr. Clifton Cornwell, teacher of Dramatics who left the faculty on November 1, 1945.

Dr. Vera Fawcett, teacher of Freshman English and World Literature.

Miss Viola Magee, teacher of Freshman English and Latin.

Miss Agnes Slemmons, teacher of Newswriting, and Literature, and Advanced Composition.

Dr. Nan Wade, teacher of World Literature, French, and Spanish.

Of this group, all are still on earth except Mr. Heyd. He died on January 28, 1949, and was buried in Maple Hills Cemetery, Kirksville. Miss Viola Magee and Dr. Fawcett retired in 1955 and are living in Kirksville. Dr. Wade retired in 1956 and lives in Columbia, Missouri. Miss Beggs retired in 1957 and lives in Moberly, Missouri. She returned to teach classes in the summer of 1958. Miss Slemmons and Mr. Collins have served continuously with the division to date although they have had brief leaves of absence.

Mr. Avison left the faculty in December, 1945, to join Hope College, at Holland, Michigan. He is now a teacher at the University of Kansas residence center in Kansas City, Kansas.

Mr. Heyd was succeeded on June 1, 1948, as head of the division by Dr. Robert M. Rodney, who remained until August 31, 1956.

The division has been served by a group of men and women who might be termed interim teachers, since they were not with the division in 1945 and are not with it today. Some of these taught as little as one class during one quarter while others were full-time teachers for several years. The records show:

Miss Marie Acevedo, part-time 1946-47.

Mr. James D. Allison, spring and summer, 1946.

Dr. Leon Aufdemberge, September, 1956, to May, 1957.

Dr. Amy V. Allen Baird, 1950 to 1952.

Miss Lola Allene Bane, summer of 1951.

Dr. Walter Blackstock, summer of 1957.

Mrs. Elizabeth Bradley, summer of 1950.

Dr. Arthur Brewington, summers of 1950, 1951, 1952, 1953, and 1955.

Dr. Delvin L. Covey, summer of 1958.

Miss Erlinda Dizon, one class winter and spring, 1952-1953.

Dr. Edgar H. Goold, June, 1949, to August, 1954. Dr. Goold went to the State Teachers College at Towson, Maryland, upon leaving here, but died in November, 1954.

Mrs. Janet Leslie Green, September, 1946, to August, 1949.

Dr. Bertram Hughes, September, 1957, to May, 1958.

Mrs. Noemy Gomez Jibben, December, 1947, to May, 1952.

Dr. Flora Kearney, September, 1954, to August, 1956.

Mrs. Alma Martin, summer and fall, 1949, summer, 1950.

Dr. William B. Martin, June, 1955, to August, 1956. He is now teaching in Tarleton State College, Stephenville, Texas.

Mr. Luis Mulford, spring of 1953.

Miss Patricia Paul, one class, fall of 1951.

Mr. Don Powell, summers of 1949, and 1950.

Mr. Roland Rude, one class, spring of 1952.

Dr. Andrew E. Shook, September, 1952, to August, 1957. Dr. Shook had a leave of absence in 1954-55 to complete a doctor's degree at New York University. He left here for a teaching position at the Territorial College of Guam.

Miss Virginia Swartz, summers of 1947, 1948, and 1949.

Miss Mary Agnes Swinney, summer of 1950.

Dr. Hazel Toliver, September, 1955, to August, 1957, who is now teaching at Lindenwood College.

Mr. Clarence E. Young, summer of 1952.

The faculty of today and the period of their service is:

Dr. Calvin V. Huenemann, head of the division and professor of literature, since 1956.

Dr. Georgia Clifton, associate professor of language and literature; since 1956. She was on leave in the summer of 1958.

Mr. Sherod J. Collins, assistant professor of speech, since 1937. Mr. Collins had a leave of absence in the spring of 1946 while appearing with a road company presenting "Dark of the Moon." He had previously appeared in the New York company of this play. He was also away in the summer of 1950 attending the State University of Iowa and the summer of 1954 while visiting Europe.

Dr. Hans H. Hagemann, associate professor of German, since June, 1948.

Mr. Jack Hensley, assistant professor of speech, since 1952. He had a leave of absence, 1956-57, while studying at Yale University.

Mrs. Leita R. Ballew Hensley, instructor in speech correction, since 1957.

Mrs. Eloise Hill, graduate assistant, 1955-56; instructor in English since 1956.

Mr. Hartmut Keiner, graduate assistant in Latin, 1958-59.

Miss Janys Murphy, graduate assistant, 1957-58; instructor in English since September, 1958.

Dr. James H. Platt, professor of speech correction, since September, 1958.

Mrs. Dorothy Ramon, temporary instructor in Spanish, since 1956.

Dr. Michel R. Ramon, associate professor of Spanish, since 1953.

Mr. Colin Skinner, lecturer in Literature, since September, 1958.

Miss Agnes Slemmons, assistant professor of journalism and English; since 1931. Miss Slemmons had leave of absence in the spring of 1958, visiting Europe in company with Dr. Nan Wade.

Mrs. Frances Walsh, assistant professor of children's literature, since December, 1957.

Miss Leona Whittom, instructor in English, since 1956.

Dr. Eugene Wiggins, professor of literature, since September, 1956.

Dr. Elizabeth Worrell, associate professor of speech, since June, 1947, on leave of absence, summer 1950; summer, 1951; spring and summer, 1952; 1952-53; 1953-54.

IV. Purposes Served

The division of Language and Literature bears the major responsibility for the growth of linguistic and literary understanding at all the levels of instruction in the College, so states the College Bulletin for 1958-60. In the College of General Education the Division teaches a year of Fundamentals of English, a year of World Literature, and offers the introductory courses in French, German, Latin, and Spanish. For the bachelor of science in education degree and for the bachelor of arts degree it offers majors in English Education, Language Arts, French, German, Latin, Spanish, Speech, and Speech Correction. It also offers minors for the bachelor of arts degree and the languages for the language requirement since the A.B. degree requires 15 hours of one language or 10 hours in each of two. Some of the specific requirements for majors in the Divisions of Business Education, Education, Health and Physical Education, and Libraries and Museums are offered in the Division of Language and Literature.

Master's degrees are offered with majors in English Education (two plans) and Speech Correction. (1958-1960 Bulletin).

Dr. J. J. Wimp, 1927, of Kirksville was elected representative from Adair County in the Missouri General Assembly at the election on November 4.

Thirty-eight Masters' Theses Completed and Approved During 1958

by

Leon Karel

Professor of Theory, Northeast Missouri State Teachers College

Almost twice as many Masters' theses were completed and approved during the year 1957-58 as in the previous year. This past year's total of 38 is indicative of the total growth of the graduate program and reflects this growth only in part because of the fact that Master's degree candidates in the field of Education are not required to present the thesis but may elect to take comprehensive examinations instead. During this year, an even 100 hundred M.A. degrees were conferred.

The 38 theses were distributed among the areas of academic work as follows: Business Education, 4; History, 3; Physical Education, 14; Music Education, 7; Social Science Education, 1; English Education, 5; General Science Education, 1; and Industrial Education, 3. The latter two fields have only recently awarded the degree while the other areas have been active in Master's Degree work for between five to ten years.

Counting these graduates, the all-time total number of theses written in each field stands as follows: Business Education, 41; History, 28; Physical Education, 37; Music Education 27; Social Science Education, 16; English Education, 11; City School Administration, (Thesis Optional) 1; General Science Education, 1; and Industrial Education, 3. Thus, a total of 165 Theses have been written and approved at KSTC.

The 38 candidates listed below with their thesis titles were presented at the May and August Commencement exercises.

A TRIBUTE TO MISS JANE CROW

by

Viola Magee

Assistant Professor of Latin Emeritus, Northeast Missouri State Teachers College

Born in Illinois and educated in the public schools of that state, Jane Crow very early in life chose the career of a teacher. For a time she attended Chicago University and the University of Illinois. Later she received the B. S. degree from the Northeast Missouri State Teachers College and the M. A. degree from the University of Washington at Seattle.

Her first teaching was in the rural schools of her native state, but when the Kirksville Junior High School was established in 1923, she became a member of its faculty—first as a teacher of mathematics and later as assistant principal, a position she held until her retirement in 1952. During all the years of her connection with the Kirksville Junior High School, she continued to teach mathematics and for a time served as guidance director of the school.

Miss Crow was a fine and inspiring instructor who never deviated from her high standards of excellence. Deeply interested in her subject, but more deeply interested in the boys and girls under her tutelage, she was able to impart to them a great measure of her enthusiasm for the subject she loved. She expected the best from them and they measured up to her expectations. They were her friends and she loved them all.

As an administrator and supervisor, Miss Crow was always helpful. Possessed of high professional standards, she expected excellence in the teachers under her supervision, but she was always able to understand their problems and was desirous of giving aid if it were at all possible.

In the midst of her busy life as an administrator and teacher, she found time to do some professional writing. In 1930, in collaboration with Iris Cleva Good of the Fort Morgan Junior-Senior High School in Colorado, Miss Crow published a book, Home-room Activities.

She was also an active and interested member of the honorary professional organizations of Pi Lambda Theta, Kappa Delta Pi and Delta Kappa Gamma as well as of various civic and social groups.

As a friend, Miss Crow was loyal and true as can be attested by the many who had the rare opportunity of being closely associated with her. Her courage, her perennial good nature, her abounding energy made her a charming companion and an inspiration to all who had the privilege of knowing her intimately. She made friends readily as was shown by the deep regret voiced by so many in the community when they learned that she was retiring from active service.

Miss Crow will always be remembered as an excellent teacher, a splendid administrator, and a beloved friend.

She departed this life on September 14, 1957, but she still lives on in the hearts of her friends. "To live in the hearts we leave behind is not to die."

"There are stars that go out in the darkness
But whose silver light shineth on;
There are roses whose perfume lingers
When the blossoms are faded and gone.
There are hearts full of light and sweetness
When no longer their life current flows;
Still their goodness lives on with the living
Like the souls of the stars and the rose."

So it is with Jane Crow.

Foster B. Lamb, 1935, has been appointed supervisor of off-campus extension classes and instructor in education in the University of Wyoming's division of adult education and community service. He holds the B. S. degree from the Teachers College and an M.A. degree from the University of Missouri. He completed further work in education at the University of Wyoming last summer. He has served as principal of a number of Missouri's high schools. Mr. and Mrs. Lamb live in Laramie, Wyoming.

STATE MUSIC JOURNAL EDITED ENTIRELY BY MUSIC FACULTY

For the past seven years, a grand total of nearly 50,000 copies of Missouri School Music have been edited by a succession of State Teachers College faculty members and mailed out five times yearly to music educators all over the country.

The magazine, running from 16 to 24 pages each issue, is the official journal of the Missouri Music Educators Association, and for the past seven years members of the college music faculty have had the high honor of being chosen as editors. First in the line of succession was Dr. Leon Karel, professor of music theory, who held the post until 1955 when he was granted a year's leave of absence to study music education in Germany on a Fulbright Research Grant. During his absence, Mr. Karl E. Webb, head of the Fine Arts Division, assumed editorship. At the close of the 1955-56 year, Karel resumed his duties for one year. In 1957, Dr. Paul Strub, professor of band music, was chosen as editor of the publication and in the winter of that year was further honored by being elected as president of the Missouri Music Educators Association. With the additional burden of office, the editorship was divided and at the present time Strub and Karel are associate editors.

Editorial duties in this type of publication are many and varied. Because the magazine is supported chiefly through the income from advertising, one of the editor's main chores is that of writing and visiting prospective advertisers. At the present time, the publication is attracting between 25 and 30 nationally known firms to its columns. A second feature of the editor's work is news gathering and convention crowds are accustomed to seeing the editor with his notebook and camera at every session and concert getting pictures and news items. Then there are the official reports and minutes, constitutional changes, ballots and other material of business nature which must go into the paper. By virtue of his important position, the editor is made a member of the official board of the association and is, with the State Director of Fine Arts, the only permanent member.

Under the guidance of the local editors, the magazine has grown from a small, almost local paper, to a slick-paper journal of national reputation. Incorporating such unusual features as specifically-written columns concerning each phase of school music and containing not only the news of music in Missouri schools but also, private music teacher news, Missouri School Music ranks high among the other state papers in the field of music. In a recent evaluation of all such journals, an independent authority rated the paper as one of the best and praised the contents, layout, and cover.

SPORTS

The Teachers College Bulldogs won five of nine games played in the 1958 football season, finishing third in the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association with three victories and two defeats. In Dale Mills, the Bulldogs claimed the small college leading rusher through games of November 1. He compiled more than 1350 yards rushing during the K.S.T.C. grid campaign.

The College cross country team won five of its first six meets this fall, losing only to the thinclads of Western Illinois University, Macomb.

Bernard W. Hartman, 1942, a Kemper teacher in 1944-46 and 1947-50, has rejoined the Kemper Military Academy faculty in Boonville, Missouri, as a member of the science department, teaching high school chemistry. He holds the M. S. degree from the University of Kansas and has taken graduate work in chemistry at the University of Missouri.

ALUMNI NOTES

Louise Chidester, 1956, received a master of education degree from Kent State University, Kent, Ohio, at the forty-fifth annual summer commencement, August 23.

Jay L. Blanchard, 1941, has been named manager of the Palmer Nurseries in Osprey, Florida. Blanchard was previously head of their landscape department. He holds the B. S. Degree in education from the Teachers College and the M. S. in Agriculture from Cornell University. He was instructor in horticulture and landscaping from 1948 to 1952 at the State Teachers College.

Dr. V. H. Casner, 1929, retiring president of the Missouri Association of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons, delivered his presidential address at the annual banquet of the organization's convention held at the Sheraton-Jefferson Hotel in St. Louis, October 2. He portrayed the contributions of osteopathy to the tremendous strides of medicine in the last 75 years and recommended intensive research into the causes of the degenerative diseases which have increased so much with the prolonged life span. After the banquet Dr. Casner was honored at the president's ball. Dr. Casner is Director of Rural and Special Clinics at the Kirksville College of Osteopathy and Surgery.

Manville Carothers, 1896, Kirksville, was recently honored by Adair Lodge No. 366, A.F. & A.M., of that city. He was presented a 50-year Masonic apron for the 50 years that have passed since he was Worshipful Master of that lodge. Mr. Carothers is a retired postal worker, and joined the Masons in 1902.

Dr. W. A. Deskin, 1948, has received a grant of $10,500 from the National Science Foundation for research work at Cornell College at Mt. Vernon, Iowa, where he is a member of the chemistry staff. The subject of Dr. Deskin's research is "Studies of Complexes of the Transition Metals." The results of research done in 1957 will soon be published in the Journal of the American Chemical Society. Deskin holds a master's degree from the University of Missouri and his doctorate from the State University of Iowa. He joined the science staff at Cornell in 1956.
