1993-94 Jepson Fellows Named

President Russell G. Warren has announced the 1994-95 recipients of the Robert S. and Alice A. Jepson Fellowships for Active Learning Initiatives. The 20 Northeast faculty members will each be awarded a $4,000 grant to support a variety of active learning initiatives.

The Jepson Fellowship program was established in October 1992 through a $500,000 gift from Georgia businessman Robert S. Jepson Jr. and his wife, Alice A. Jepson. The funds support active learning initiatives over a five-year period, particularly in the areas of classroom and co-curricular learning.

The Jepson Fellows form the nucleus faculty of the Center for Teaching of Liberal Learning, a program goal articulated in the University's multi-year planning document A Higher Order of Excellence. The work of the Fellows forms the basis of a developing active learning culture on campus and the foundation for information exchange through the Center concerning the effect of active learning techniques in the classroom. Their initiatives will emphasize direct participation in learning and will focus on critical thinking, decision making, and programs intended to broaden student perspective beyond the classroom. □

A Survivor's Account of the Holocaust

Robert Clary was born on March 1, 1926 in Paris, France, the youngest of 14 children.

In 1940, when he was 16, the Nazis invaded France and changed his life.

"We had only 10 minutes to collect our belongings and prepare for deportation... I could not leave my mother so I wrapped some clothes in my blanket and proceeded to the deportation center with her. My sister stayed behind to hide. Today she still lives in Paris." Clary claims that it was "pure luck" that he did not meet the same fate of six million other Jews who were exterminated by the Nazis during the war; 13 members of his immediate family were deported from Paris to Nazi concentration camps—Clary was the only one to survive.

In 1980, Clary felt the need to share his experiences during the war with young people.

"Thirty years from now there will be no eye-witnesses to the Nazi Genocide. What is happening in the world today is frightening, there are academicians claiming that the Holocaust is a hoax, that it never happened—it is our responsibility to inform the world of our experiences, as painful as that may be, so that it never happens again," Clary said.

Monday Nights in Ryle will host a presentation by Clary titled "5714: A Memoir of Liberation," a survivor's account of the Holocaust at 8 p.m., Jan. 24, in Ryle Hall main lounge.

Clary is best known as Lebeau on "Hogan's Heroes" and as a stage and screen star. He currently appears on "The Bold and the Beautiful."

Clary's presentation is sponsored by the Office of the Vice President and Missouri and Ryle residential colleges. □

Alumnus Establishes Chemistry Scholarship

Northeast alumnus Tony Mitchell has established the Tony Mitchell Chemistry Scholarship with an initial gift of $1,000. The scholarship will be provided to an incoming freshman intending to major in chemistry at Northeast.

Mitchell, an assistant professor of chemistry at St. Cloud State University in Minnesota, graduated from Northeast in 1971 with a Bachelor of Science in chemistry. He received his doctorate in science education from the University of Iowa.

The scholarship is a named annual scholarship, which means that all gifts provided to the NMSU Development Fund for this purpose will be used in their entirety. As part of the establishment of this scholarship, Mitchell will pledge a similar $1,000 commitment in each of the next three years enabling the NMSU Development Fund to award a four-year, renewable scholarship to the student selected in spring 1994. □

Lynch, Masten Coaches of the Year

Mike Lynch, men's head soccer coach and Deb Masten, women's volleyball coach, were named coaches of the year for 1993. Lynch was named the Great Lakes Region Coach of the Year by the Umbro/National Soccer Coaches Association of America selection committee. Masten was selected as the Mid-America Intercollegiate Athletics Association Volleyball Coach of the Year by the conference coaches.

Lynch came to Northeast in 1992 after serving as an assistant coach at the Air Force Academy from 1989-1991. He guided the Bulldogs to a 7-10-2 record in his first season and in 1993 a record of 13-5 which earned the team a post-season appearance in the NCAA Division II playoffs.

"This kind of recognition comes about when you have a great group of players that are dedicated to getting the job done," Lynch said. "It actually is a tribute to the quality of their play this season."

On Jan. 14 Lynch was honored with other regional selections at the NSCAA National Convention in Santa Clara, Calif.

Masten led the Lady Bulldogs to second place in the MIAA, their highest conference finish in 10 years, with a 15-3 MIAA record. In the preseason conference poll Northeast was predicted to finish sixth.

Northeast was also the first team since 1983 to defeat conference champion Central Missouri State in a regular season and conference match. Northeast ended its regular season with a 28-12 record. □

Baldwin Lecture Set for Feb. 4

The 1994 Baldwin Lecture will begin at 7:30 p.m., Feb. 4 in the SUB Activities Room. This year's featured speaker is nationally acclaimed teacher, and principal Joe Clark. Clark's speech is titled "From disgrace to amazing grace." Preceding Clark's lecture will be a dinner in the Georgian Room at 6:30 p.m. which will include refreshments before the buffet dinner. All faculty, staff and students are invited to attend. Tickets for the dinner will be available Jan. 17 in McClain Hall 203 for $5 per person. There is no charge for the lecture.

Clark's lecture is sponsored by Faculty Development. A feature on Clark will be included in the Jan. 24 Northeast Today. □

New Faces

Bryan Baker is a temporary part-time instructor in fine arts. He received his Master of Music at San Francisco State University and his Bachelor of Music at San Diego State University.

Baker was on the piano and theory faculty at the Arizona Community School of the Arts, he was a teaching

Notables

Adam Davis, assistant professor of English, will chair the session on oral traditions at the International Medieval Congress in Leeds, England, in July 1994.

An original musical composition by Warren Gooch, assistant professor of music, will be performed at the Region VI Society of Composers conference at Southwest Missouri State University, Feb. 2. The composition, The Harvest Moon, will be performed by the Southwest Missouri State University Chorale, under the direction of Guy Webb.

Johnny C. Ho, assistant professor of business, has an article titled "Flowshop sequencing with mean flowtime objective," accepted for publication in European Journal of Operational Research, published by Elsevier Science (North Holland) Amsterdam, Netherlands.

John Ishiyama, assistant professor of political science, has had two articles accepted for publication. The first, titled "Electoral Systems Experimentation in the New Eastern Europe," will appear in the September 1994 issue of East European Quarterly. The second, titled "Electoral Rules and Party Nomination Strategies in Ethically Cleaved Societies: The Estonian transitional Election of 1990," will appear in the journal Communist and Post-

Communist Studies in summer 1994.

An original musical composition by senior music composition major Ralph Kendrick will be performed at the Region VI Society of Composers conference at Southwest Missouri State University, Feb. 2. The composition, Six Preludes a Boda Zapha for piano, will be performed by a member of the SMSU faculty. It is rare for student works to be accepted for performance at professional music conferences such as this, as competition is extremely intense. Kendrick studies composition with Warren Gooch, assistant professor of music.

Philip LeMasters, assistant professor of philosophy and religion, had an essay published in Perspectives in Religious Studies, Vol. 20, No. 3, Fall 1993. The essay is titled "Radical Protestantism and Relative Goods."

Miles Lovelace, professor of education, on sabbatical in 1993-94 as a visiting scholar at the University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill this year, served as a consultant to the Arkansas Department of Higher Education last semester. He served as a member of a three-person team sent to evaluate a proposed new graduate program in educational leadership at Southern Arkansas University.

Nancy Lovelace, assistant professor of English, and Miles Lovelace, professor of education, both on leave in 1993-94, have been invited to give a series of lectures on "Changes in American Language, Literature, and Culture Since 1960" at the Faculty of Letters of the University of Istanbul, Turkey, in April 1994. Both taught at Robert College in Istanbul in the 1960s.

Rebecca McClanahan, assistant professor of nursing, presented a scientific paper titled "Alcohol and Drug Dependent Nurses' Perceptions of the Process of Their Dependency and Recovery" at the 1993 National Conference of the Association of Medical Educators and Researchers in Substance Abuse held in Bethesda, Md., Nov. 17-21. The study was co-authored with Eleanor J. Sullivan, dean and professor at the University of Kansas Medical Center School of Nursing, where McClanahan is a doctoral candidate. Partial funding for the study was provided by an NMSU Faculty Research Grant. A manuscript of the study has been submitted to the journal Substance Abuse.

Scott A. Olsen, professor of education, had his paper A Growth Modeling Method for Measuring Change in Achievement in the Context of an Integrated Item Banking System, presented at the annual conference of the Overseas Chinese Statistical Association in Taipei, Taiwan, R.O.C., on Dec. 18 by the paper's co-author, Tungshan Chou.

Robert V. Schnucker, professor of philosophy and religion, has an article titled "The Case for Journal Abstracts" published in the October 1993 issue of Scholarly Publishing. He was also recently included in Who's Who in America.

Lisa Sprague, director of Public Safety, was named Kiwanian of the Year for 1992-93. Other Northeast employees who have received the award in recent years include Dennis Markeson, Zel Eaton, Royce Cook, John Jepson, Robert Dager and George Hartje.

Shingmin Wang, associate professor of mathematics, had his article "Barking up the Wrong Tree" published in the World Forum No. 216 of the World Journal.

David Cratis Williams, associate professor of speech communication, has been named to the editorial board of The Southern Communication Journal. He has also recently reviewed manuscripts for Communication Monographs and Critical Studies in Mass Communication. His essay "Approaching the Abyss: Argumentation Theory and Postmodernism" had been published in Argumentation and the Postmodern Challenge, published by the Speech Communication Association.

Advancement Update

With the arrival of the new year comes the midway point in the current fiscal year. A review of the first half of the year finds several new initiatives which have taken place in University Advancement. Those will be highlighted in this insert. Also, an update to the University's Annual Fund will be provided, with special emphasis given to the Tel-Alumni effort, the faculty/staff drive, and the Parents Council project.

Fund Raising Recap

The highlight of the first half of the year is the establishment of the Raymond F. Bentele/Mallinckrodt Executive-In-Residence program at Northeast. The program, named for Northeast alumnus Ray Bentele, is made possible by a $110,000 grant from IMCERA Group, Inc. IMCERA is the parent company of Mallinckrodt Specialty Chemicals, which Bentele served as CEO from 1981 until his retirement in 1992. The Bentele/Mallinckrodt Executive-In-Residence program will bring to campus one outstanding individual from business and industry each semester to spend three days interacting with students and faculty. Bentele will serve as the first participant in the program later this semester.

As part of the University's major and planned gifts program, the Board of Governors authorized the creation of the Joseph Baldwin Society in the fall. The Society, named for the institution's founder, honors those individuals who further the development of Northeast Missouri State University by providing a planned gift for the NMSU Development Fund. The gift may be in the form of a bequest, a life insurance policy, a lead trust, or a life income gift arrangement such as trusts, pooled income funds, or gift annuities. Since its establishment, the Joseph Baldwin Society has added two charter members to those who had previously designated a planned gift to the NMSU Development Fund. They are Mr. and Mrs. Philip Wade of Miami, Fla., and Miss Marian Morelock of Kirksville.

Among the initiatives made possible by gifts to the NMSU Development Fund in the first half of the year are the establishment of two new endowed scholarships, one named annual scholarship, and the creation of an endowment in support of the University's Lyceum Series. The table to the right provides guidelines by which individuals or organizations can receive named recognition for gifts to the NMSU Development Fund. □

Named Campus Facilities
New and existing facilities and commemorative units within or associated with the facility, which remain unnamed, may be named with a gift equal to 20 percent of the facility's cost.

Development Fund Corporation

Annual Gifts--Private contributions by individuals in support of scholarships, services and programs for students, faculty, staff and alumni.

Major and Planned Gifts--Private gifts by individuals defined as large in nature or those given through bequests, insurance policies or life-income gifts.

Corporate Gifts--Private contributions by corporations and businesses in support of campus initiatives.

Contributions in support of Bulldog athletics are also included.

The Annual Fund

Private contributions made annually by individuals or organizations in support of University initiatives such as scholarships and services and programs for students, faculty, and staff comprise the Annual Fund. Following are mid-year updates from several key components of the University's Annual Fund drive.

Faculty/Staff

The involvement of University faculty and staff members in this year's Annual Fund has increased compared to last year. As of Jan. 10, 1994, 217 University members have participated with a gift to the NMSU Development Fund. This year's participation at the midway point in the year marks a 26 percent increase compared to the entire 1992/92 fiscal year. Of the 217 individuals participating thus far, 101 are contributing through payroll deduction while 116 have made an outright gift. If you have not been contacted by a faculty/staff campaign volunteer and would like to participate, please contact the Alumni/Development Office in McClain Hall 106. The support of the NMSU Development Fund by all faculty and staff members is greatly appreciated! □

Parents Council

In April 1993 the Northeast Missouri State University Parents Council was formed. It is comprised of parents of 15 Northeast students, and assists the University in several ways including career networking, public relations, and fundraising. This year, for the first time, an effort was made to involve parents of currently enrolled students in the University's Annual Fund effort. At the midway point, the results show that 219 families have participated, contributing a total of $41,308. In making the appeal to parents, the Parents Council chose a project of providing additional multimedia equipment in the library for student use. Thus far, $2,315 of the total has been designated by parent donors for the Parents Council project, $7,978 has been donated to other restricted accounts, while $31,015 has been donated unrestricted. □

Tel-Alumni

Northeast student volunteers raised $63,500 in pledges during the Fall Tel-Alumni campaign, the first of a two-part campaign. Each year, between approximately November and February, 750 students call alumni throughout the country to seek additional private support for endowed scholarships, divisional programs, University student loans, Lyceum events, faculty development, as well as unrestricted gifts used in budget relief. Tel-Alumni is an important element of the University's Annual Fund effort helping to meet the rising cost of education.

A total of 1,580 pledges totalling $63,500 were obtained by the following divisions this fall:

Business and Accountancy	$63,500
Business and Accountancy ($34,810)	$34,810
Fine Arts ($4,595)	$4,595
Education ($10,060)	$10,060
and Science ($9,930)	$9,930
with organizations ($4,105)	$4,105
conducting the final clean up week. The $63,500 in pledges thus far places this year's Tel-Alumni effort more than halfway toward reaching the goal of $120,000. The Spring Tel-Alumni campaign begins Jan. 31 and ends Feb. 17 with the following areas calling: communication disorders (Jan. 31-Feb. 2); health/exercise science (Jan. 31-Feb. 6); nursing (Jan. 31-Feb.2); math/computer science (Feb 2-10); language and literature (Feb. 3-10); social science (Feb. 6-10); organizational clean up week (Feb. 13-17).

To all our Tel-Alumni volunteers past and present, we send a heartfelt thank you. You are making a difference. □
