James F. Jae, Jr. NSMU Regent Dies

James F. Jae, Jr., a member of the NMSU Board of Regents from Hannibal, died Thursday, January 29, following an apparent heart attack. Mr. Jae was 51. Memorial services were held on Saturday, March 31, at the Trinity Episcopal Church in Hannibal. The remains were cremated.

A Memorial Scholarship Fund in honor of Mr. Jae has been established and gifts to the memorial fund may be sent to the office of the President of the University.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Jae, Sr., he was born Sept. 1, 1921, in Des Moines, Iowa. Mr. Jae attended Roosevelt High while living in Des Moines. The family then moved to Indianapolis and later to St. Louis where Mr. Jae completed his education, receiving his high school diploma from University City High School.

He attended the University of Missouri, Columbia, from 1939 to 1942 before entering the Naval Air Corps as a pilot. Mr. Jae received an honorable discharge in 1945, and returned to the University of Missouri to complete his education. In 1947 Mr. Jae was graduated with an A.B. degree from the University.

Mr. Jae then became interested in the media, starting with the newspaper business in Bourbon, Missouri. He then moved to television with a station in St. Louis. The first radio work Mr. Jae encountered was with KLIK in Jefferson City.

For the past 16 years, Mr. Jae has been employed at KHMO in Hannibal. Until his death, he served as vice president and general manager of KHMO.

Former governor Warren E. Hearnes appointed Mr. Jae to the NMSU Board of Regents to replace Howard L. Hoffmaster in February of 1970. He served in that capacity until his death.

Mr. Jae was a member of the Hannibal Chamber of Commerce for a number of years, a member of the executive committee of the Cannon Dam Association and a member of the Hannibal Industrial Council Executive Committee. He also served on the City of Hannibal Airport Commission since 1968.

In 1969 Mr. Jae was national chairman for the National Association of Farm Broadcasters and also president of the Missouri Broadcasters Association.

Mr. Jae is survived by his wife, the former Maisie Lou Coe, and three children, Jeane, 21, enrolled at the University of Missouri, Columbia, James and Sherrel, 20 and 19, enrolled at NMSU. Also surviving is his mother of Bourbon, Mo.

Scholarship Program Expanded

Northeast expands its scholarship program in an effort to recognize the achievements of outstanding Missouri high school graduates as well as student scholars at NMSU.

"There also is an upswing in the need for college and university graduates," said President McClain. "The employment picture for 1973 graduates is indeed bright."

McClain said the University had instituted the John J. Pershing Memorial scholarship as one way to recognize the achievements of the high school students. The scholarships, covering all University fees plus room and board, will be awarded to 20 Missouri high school graduates who post high test scores, rank in the top 10 per cent of their graduating classes, and are leaders in their communities.

"The Pershing scholarship is basically the same thing that the athletic departments have known for years as the 'full ride,'" McClain said. "The University feels it is time to recognize and encourage the super scholar as well as the super athlete and therefore has taken the lead among colleges and universities in offering this kind of academic scholarship," McClain said. "I am sure many other Universities will follow our lead, once they think about it," McClain stated.

The scholarship is renewable for four years, conditional upon maintaining a 3.50 grade-point average and demonstrating leadership qualities at the University. The potential value of the scholarship is close to $4,500. After four years as many as 80 Pershing scholars could be attending NMSU. Much of the funding for the NMSU scholarship program comes from private donations from alumni and interested citizens.

"Without the help of these people, we wouldn't be able to carry out such a comprehensive program as we now offer," McClain said. "We are indeed indebted to these people."

John J. Pershing was an alumnus of NMSU and during World War I his transcript was publicly posted at the University to inspire other students.

In a note to the University in 1938, General Pershing wrote: "With many pleasant memories of my experiences while there as a student way back in the late 70s and early 80s, and with a feeling of gratitude and with cordial good wishes for the future, Sincerely, John J. Pershing."

Jasim Jamal, B.A. 1968, pictured above, was recently appointed Permanent Representative to the United Nations by the State of Qatar. Qatar, an oil-producing sheikdom on the Persian Gulf, is one of the smallest U.N. members. The population of 150,000 makes it about the size of Bridgeport, Conn. It became independent of Britain in 1971 and Jamal is its first ambassador to the U.N. He and a colleague operate out of small offices in the same building that houses the British mission of 23 persons.

Gift from Fowler Estate

Announcing a gift of $5,000 from the estate of the late Sina Faye Fowler, a 1927 graduate of NMSU, President Charles J. McClain said, "We are highly pleased that Miss Fowler remembered her alma mater so generously. The practice of giving has been growing in recent years, and this has resulted in the establishment of a development fund whose function it will be to manage gifts of this nature to the end that student life on the campus will be enriched."

Provisions of the gift indicate that an award be established for a deserving senior student majoring in home economics with special interest in foods and nutrition.

Miss Fowler received her B.S. degree in home economics from NMSU in 1927, and an M.A. from Kansas State University in 1933. She also had attended Iowa State University. Employed as a dietician at St. Mary's Hospital in Kankakee, Ill., for three years, she published a book, "Food for Fifty" in 1937.

The late Miss Fowler served as second lieutenant in the United States Army Air Force, and while in the service, she was a dietician for the Army Air Force Hospital, Newark, N. J. Following her service experience she was dietician for Western Electric in Chicago.

Retiring in 1958, she made her home in Kirksville until her death in 1970.

Center for Public Policy Established

Northeast, in cooperation with the American Enterprise Institute for Public Policy Research, establishes the Center for Public Policy on campus for faculty and students.

The American Enterprise Institute is a publicly supported, nonpartisan research and educational organization located in Washington, D.C. It was established in 1943 to assist the nation's legislators and educational leaders by providing factual analyses of important national policy issues.

Issues of major national significance are discussed through legislative and special analyses, long-range studies, rational debates, seminars and symposia. AEI also publishes basic handbooks for use in both the national high school and national intercollegiate debates.

Subscribers to AEI publications include most members of both houses of Congress, numerous congressional staff experts and key officials in the executive branch. College departments and faculties, national organizations, leading corporations and members of the press also subscribe to AEI publications.

Rational debates bring together outstanding authorities in economics, law, education, journalism and politics, related interest groups and the press for an open exchange of views and opinions on specific issues. Proceedings of rational debates are published in book form and also available on film.

Recent rational debates have included: "The Presidency and the Press Conference," Edward P. Morgan, Washington correspondent for ABC; Max Ways, member of the Board of Editors, FORTUNE magazine; Clark R. Mollenhoff, Washington bureau chief, DES MOINES REGISTER—TRIBUNE; and Peter Lisagor, chief of the Washington bureau of the CHICAGO DAILY NEWS. And: "Can Regulatory Agencies Protect Consumers?", Manuel F. Cohen, former Chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission and George J. Stigler, Walgreen Professor of American Institutions at the University of Chicago.

Carpenter Named Division Head

Mrs. Mary Alice Bunney, acting president of the Board of Regents announced the appointment of Dr. Edwin C. Carpenter as new division head of language and literature at the University, effective July 1. Dr. Carpenter is currently director of public affairs and professor of public address at Lincoln College, Lincoln, Illinois.

Dr. Carpenter received his B.S. in public address and political science and an M.S. in public address from Illinois State University, and his Ph.D. in public address from Southern Illinois University. He has been active in numerous organizations and associations: organizer and first president of the Association of Private Two-Year Colleges; member, the North Central team for evaluation of Illinois high schools; and membership committee, the National Council of Independent Two-Year Colleges.

Dr. Carpenter is married and has two daughters.

Judge Reinhard Resigns

Judge James R. Reinhard resigned as President of the NMSU Board of Regents in early January. Judge Reinhard will remain a member of the board but felt he could not continue as president following his appointment as Missouri Tenth Judicial Circuit Judge effective January 1, 1973. Mrs. Mary Alice Bunney, formerly vice president, is serving as acting president.

Judge Reinhard was named to the Board of Regents in 1965 and was elected president in 1967. The University Board of Regents has honored him for his outstanding service. Reinhard had been a prominent Paris, Mo. attorney since opening offices there in 1957. The Reinhard family will move to Hannibal. The Tenth Judicial Circuit includes Monroe, Ralls and Marion Counties.

Judge Reinhard's letter of resignation sent to Mrs. Bunney is as follows: "On January 1, 1973, I became Judge of the Tenth Judicial Circuit. This office is one that will require my undivided attention.

I hereby submit to you my resignation as President of the Board of Regents of Northeast Missouri State University. Because of the request of each member of the Board, others of the University community and interested citizens of both political parties, I have decided to remain a member of the board.

The President has tremendous responsibilities and the office requires much more time than that of a member. In addition to the responsibilities at Northeast, the President is also a member of the Advisory Committee to the Missouri Committee to the Missouri Commission on Higher Education. I am serving on the Executive Committee of this committee along with President Foster of Northwest Missouri State University, President Brown of Lindenwood College, Chancellor Schooling of the University of Missouri, and Commissioner Mallory of the State Department of Education. It was a great honor and experience to be the only non-educator on this committee. Of course, my resignation means that I will no longer serve on this committee.

I became President of the board on January 20, 1967. During that period of time the school passed into the second century of its existence. Also in that period the name changed from Northeast Missouri State Teachers College to Northeast Missouri State College to Northeast Missouri State University. I am proud of our record. Please accept my thanks for the support you and the other members have given me.

The time has now come for new leadership and I assure the board of my support and cooperation.

Sincerely yours,
James R. Reinhard"

Mrs. Ryle Dies

Mrs. Walter H. (Maurine Lea) Ryle, 69, wife of President Emeritus Walter H. Ryle, died December 3, 1972, in a Kirksville hospital where she had been a patient since December 1.

Funeral services were held at the First Baptist Church in Kirksville, with burial in Maple Hills Cemetery, Kirksville.

Mrs. Ryle was born October 26, 1903 at Clifton Hill, the daughter of Ashley Lea and Adele Pollard, and married Dr. Ryle on June 7, 1927, at Clifton Hill.

Mrs. Ryle graduated from Clifton Hill High School, Stephens College in Columbia, and earned her bachelor of science degree in 1929 and master of arts degree in 1952, from NMSU.

Prior to moving to Kirksville in 1928 where Dr. Ryle served as president of Northeast for 30 years, Mrs. Ryle was a high school teacher at Yates.

Mrs. Ryle served as dorm mother at Blanton Hall from 1958 to 1961 when it was used as a girls' dormitory. She was a member and past president of C.W. Chapter of PEO, Monday Club, College Dames, First Contemporary Club and the American Association of University Women. She was also a member of the Sojourners Club, a charter member of the Tuesday Club and Garden Club and a life member of the NMSU Alumni Association.

Mrs. Ryle was a member of the First Baptist Church where she served as a Sunday School teacher for several years.

Other survivors include one son, Walter H. Ryle IV of Kirksville, one sister, Dr. Frances McCurdy of Columbia and three grandchildren, Douglas Evan and Alanna Jennifer Ryle of Kirksville and Vela Marie Ryle, who is a student at the University of Tulsa at Tulsa, Oklahoma.

Art Gallery Opens With Kraus Show

The formal opening of the new NMSU Art Gallery, located on the second floor of Baldwin Hall, was held on April 8.

The gallery's development became a reality through the Jean Mason Kraus Memorial Fund. In honor of Jean Mason Kraus, an alumnus of NMSU, the first exhibition in the new gallery was the Kraus Retrospective Exhibition.

Jean Mason Kraus, 1943-1970, graduated from NMSU in 1965. He was an art teacher in the Clark County school system and taught in Germany two years before induction into the service. Sgt. Kraus had been in Vietnam only a few weeks when he was killed in action Aug. 5, 1970. His mother Marie and his father, the late Milton Kraus, made public their memorial gift for the Art Gallery at the NMSU presentation of the St. Matthew Passion in memory of Jean Kraus, April 23, 1972.

Trudy Jones, temporary instructor in art, is the gallery director.

Dr. Krueger Named Dean of Instruction

Just prior to publication, the Board of Regents named Dr. Darrell W. Krueger to succeed Dr. Earl D. Ludlow as Dean of Instruction. Dr. Krueger was formerly Assistant Professor of Political Science at Northeast. Dean Ludlow is retiring effective July 1.

Faculty News

Dr. R. Linn Terry, Professor of Education at NMSU, received an education award at Phi Delta Kappa's November luncheon held in conjunction with the Missouri State Teachers Association meeting in Kansas City. Terry joined Phi Delta Kappa in 1941 at the University of Missouri-Columbia, became Missouri Coordinator in 1961 and has been instrumental in increasing the number of chapters from eight to 13. He came to NMSU in 1958 and has been chapter sponsor since that time. Dr. Lowell Rose (executive secretary of Phi Delta Kappa International and a friend of Dr. Terry) gave the tribute, and Marvin Nuemberger (coordinator of the Missouri-Kansas line chapters and master of ceremonies for the program) presented the award to Dr. Terry. This award is given annually by the Missouri chapters to a Missouri educator. The inscription on the plaque reads: "To Dr. R. Linn Terry by the Phi Delta Kappa Chapters of Missouri November 2, 1972 for service to education in Missouri, through Phi Delta Kappa." Dr. Don Q. Milliken, Professor of Science at NMSU, spoke on behalf of the local chapter of which he is secretary-treasurer, and presented Mrs. Terry an orchid and Dr. Terry, a Phi Delta Kappa longevity pin. Eighty Phi Delta Kappans were present.

Alumni Notes

When the 1972-73 school bell rang to open classes at the Shelbina Elementary School, three familiar faces were not present. Mrs. Agnes Hardy 1935, Mrs. Juanita Harrison 1962 and Mrs. Marian Pemberton B.S.E. 1956 & M.A. 1959 have retired after careers which closely paralleled throughout the years. Their combined careers represent over 109 years of classroom teaching. The three teachers have shared many common interests and experiences. They are all members of P.E.O., MSTC, CTA and all three were honored with an invitation to Delta Kappa Gamma.

Mrs. Hardy started her teaching career at Hunnewell, then went to Newark, before coming to teach fourth grade in Shelbina. She and her husband, Estel Hardy, live at 408 W. College in Shelbina.

Mrs. Harrison began her teaching career at Clarence where she taught nine years. She then taught four and one-half years at the Shelbina grade school until her marriage. She returned to teaching at Shelbina in 1954. Her husband was Roe Harrison, who died in November, 1971. They have two sons, David L., of Columbia, and Phillip R. Harrison 1964 of Shelbina.

Mrs. Pemberton taught for 12 years in Shelbina public schools until her son was born. When he was in junior high, Mrs. Pemberton resumed her career. After the death of her husband, James A. Pemberton, Sr., in 1958, she enrolled in Graduate School at NMSU and received her M.A. degree. She then taught the first grade in Shelbina until her retirement. Her son, James A. Pemberton, Jr. is an associate attorney in the law firm of King and King, Washington, D.C.

Alumni Letters

November 6, 1972

Dear Sir:

I am pleased to hear that N. E. Missouri State College has grown to the size of a University, and that the Board of Regents has adopted the name University.

As a New Englander, who chose to have his college education at Northeast Missouri State Teachers College, I can tell you that it is with pride that I can tell those I meet that I graduated from your University.

Since I received my degree in 1968, I have attended graduate school at the U. of Missouri, School of Medicine in Columbia, Mo., and at present I am a Ph.D. candidate at Northeastern University in Boston, Mass. Having talked with my fellow graduate students and seeing the type of education my colleagues at work received in Eastern Colleges and Universities, I can say that my education at the undergraduate level at Northeast Missouri State was much superior to those of my colleagues and fellow grad students that attended schools back east.

This I believe to be true, especially in the Biological Sciences. Because of my education at NMSU I was able to get a good job at the largest hospital in R.I. and in a matter of 2 years was promoted in rank. Again, I want to say thank you for a good education and keep the tradition of the College going. I would at this time like to apply for a new diploma bearing the name University.

Thank you,
Franklin David Meglio
Instructor and Chief
Serology and Virus Lab. Section

Ronald Eugene Boyer B.S.E. 1967 & M.A. 1970, 62 Cheryl Lane, Apt. 4, Valley Park, Mo., is guidance counselor and head varsity basketball coach at Valley Park H.S. Following are excerpts from a news story by Tom Barnidge of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch staff in the Dec. 12 issue of that paper . . . In some communities they might have summoned the undertaker by now. They might have driven the hearse to the high school gymnasium, loaded it with basketballs and proceeded to the cemetery. "We now pronounce this sport dead," the athletic director might say over the grave. The folks at Valley Park High haven't purchased their casket, though, despite last season's 4-20 record. Some of those 20 losses were by scores of 99-49, 103-56, 91-54 and 102-59. Losing games was something new to Valley Park. The Hawks had compiled a respectable record from 1968 through 1971, including a banner 21-6 season in 1968-69. What the folks at Valley Park were used to losing were coaches. Despite the winning records, the coach resigned after each of the four previous seasons, apparently because of the poor conditions at the school and because of the lack of an organized basketball program. Now yet another new coach is in charge, this time saddled with the responsibility not only of building a program, but also with reversing the losing trend established last season. "The spirit is great," said first-year coach Ron Boyer. "Truthfully I was surprised. The students still back the team." Boyer is a 27-year-old Iowan who came to Valley Park by way of a coaching job at Waco High in Wayland, Iowa, a three-year stint in military service and a teaching position at Tri-City High in Buffalo, Ill. When he was informed that last season's team went 4-20 and that no starters would return, how did he react? Boyer chuckled and then made a surprising statement. "I sort of looked forward to the challenge," he said. The challenge unquestionably is there, Boyer related the situation: "The kids on the team now never had a junior high program. They didn't play organized basketball until they were sophomores, so they are weak on fundamentals. In the past, they had only one coach for both the varsity and the 'B' team." So far as chances for this season, Boyer figures his team should be in the game against "seven or eight teams," which would be an improvement over last season. But the real improvement Boyer foresees is about two years away. Valley Park now has separate coaches for the varsity and 'B' teams, plus a junior high intramural program. A week-night program for fifth and sixth graders also was begun this year. "Two or three years from now, we could have a pretty good program," Boyer said. Meanwhile Valley Park continues to lose but Boyer isn't giving up. He isn't resigned to losing and he isn't ready to resign, as have his predecessors. Boyer said emphatically that he would remain.

"Complete Disappointment" Sums Up 1972-73 Basketball Season

"Complete disappointment" was the phrase used by Willard Sims and his basketball team to appraise the 1972-73 season.

"All of us felt before the campaign we could develop into MIAA pennant contenders. But our play was too spotty, and we just didn't put it together. Although 10 of our 13 varsity performers are slated to return, we need a big, talented backliner and frontliner to make a run for the title next year."

Forward Lou Gregory (East St. Louis, Ill.) and guards Jim Magruder (Oakland, Ill.) and Mike Church (Jerseyville, Ill.) are the only seniors from a club that wrote a 12-13 record and deadlocked CMSU for fifth place in the conference.

Gregory, who led his aggregation in point production with a 14.6 average, flipped in 1049 points as a four-year collegian.

Church received starting assignments in the final stages of the campaign, and finished with a 7.8 pace. Magruder, a part-time starter, hit at a 6.5 clip this winter. Gregory and Magruder were co-captains.

Holdovers for next season are seven juniors, two sophomores and one freshman. The third-year men are forward G. V. Saffarrans (Palmyra), guard Ron Mandarino (Benton Harbor, Mich.), center Lee Smith (Detroit), forward Bobbie Brown (Detroit), forward Mark Seip (Tuscola, Ill.), guard Tom Pausche (Lisle, Ill.) and forward Dave Cecil (Donnellson, Ia.).

Sophomores returning will include backliner Jim Blaydes (East St. Louis, Ill.) and forward-center Ted Petchell (Lake Ozark). Tom Johnson (Ottumwa, Ia.), promoted to the varsity the last month of the season, was the only freshman to see any varsity action.

Sims listed a porous defense, anemic outcourt scoring punch, inconsistent shooting and untimely injuries as primary reasons the Purple and White did not play up to expectations.

NMSU surrendered an average of 78.8 points per game this past winter. Moreover, the pace by the enemy in the final 13 outings was 81.1. "Our defensive lapses were due to a combination of things," the mentor analyzed. "We failed to help each other enough, our new and old players didn't fully adjust to one another and our opponents at times were quicker or bigger in individual match-ups."

None of NMSU's six guards scored points with consistency. Blaydes chalked up the best average in the backline, an 8.2 figure, but a painful knee was instrumental in the "so-so" campaign for the 6'0" sophomore.

"Our field goal shooting improved from .417 the previous campaign to .455 this year but that increase was misleading," Sims stressed. "We'd often experience a dry spell, and couldn't beg a basket."

Sims said by the time next season rolled around, at least two varsity performers will have undergone surgery to correct knee problems. For Petchell, a second operation was necessary in February. The rugged 6'5", 215-pound forward-center reinjured his knee after surgery last summer.

Brown, expected to blossom into a solid regular, performed with a heavily taped knee as a reserve in the final stretch of the winter calendar.

According to Sims, Petchell's absence for all but three contests was more damaging to the Purple and White than many observers realized. He pointed out the husky, 6'5", 215-pounder was supposed to be a backup performer for the pivot spot and Gregory's forward position and might have worked this way into the lineup eventually.

Gregory, troubled by a knee in the last two encounters, was expected to undergo surgery, too. Another player bothered by the same type of injury was Cecil, who logged limited time in a reserve capacity.

NMSU's statistics indicated the Sims bunch barely held its own in rebounding. The Purple and White grabbed an average of 44.9 caroms per tilt while rivals captured 44.5 loose balls off the boards. However, the skipper said Bulldog adversaries were stronger in this department than the previous year.

"Gregory and Smith came on strong after slow starts and Saffarrans did one heck of a job for us," Sims continued.

Center Lee Smith hits one of five field goals against Quincy College in the NMSU basketball finale this past winter. The 6'6" pivotman scored 11 points and pulled down eight rebounds against the Hawks, who fell to the Bulldogs, 92-78. Attempting to guard Smith is Quincy's Paul Kreke.

Saffarrans, expected to be the top man off the bench this winter, earned a starting assignment on the basis of his pre-season work. Actually carrying the offensive load in the first month of the season, he climaxed the campaign with a 12.1 average.

Smith posted a 9.2 figure and topped NMSU rebounders with an 8.0

pace. However, the 6'6" transfer from Oakland (Mich.) Junior College hiked his statistics appreciably in the home stretch of the campaign by hitting 13.8 in the final 12 games.

"Lee learned to adjust to our league's brand of play, which is more aggressive and better defensively than the juco league in which he performed the past two seasons," Sims remarked.

The taskmaster complimented his bench for "holding up well", considering the rash of ailments that struck the team intermittently.

"We'll have a pretty good returning nucleus," Sims exclaimed. And if the coach has anything to say about it, the epilogue to the 1973-74 campaign will be more fitting than the one this year.

Team Effort Key to Track Success

"Team effort" may seem like an overworked cliché, but Northeast Track Coach Kenneth Gardner doesn't think so.

He feels glittering performances by the Bulldogs over the past 15 years in the MIAA Conference Indoor Meets have largely been due to the "all for one and one for all" attitude of his thinclads.

Only twice since 1959 has NMSU stumbled in its quest for the indoor crown. This year, however, wasn't one of them.

The Purple and White successfully defended their title on Feb. 23, outpointing Lincoln University, 72½ to 63. Southeast Missouri State, the other team to nab championships in the 15-year period, had to settle for third with 40½ points. Southwest Missouri tallied 35 points, Northwest Missouri, 24½, Central Missouri, 16½ and Missouri (Rolla), 4.

While Lincoln captured seven events, Gardner's well-balanced aggregation claimed five and added nine second places, one third and five fifth places in the 16 categories. The Bulldogs were blanked in only one event—the 60-yard high hurdles.

"It may sound trite to make this statement, but we really got an all-out effort by everybody, which we needed to win," Gardner said. "I like to divide the kids into three classifications—field events, sprints and distances. Field-event men scored 25 points, sprinters, 18½ and distance runners, 29. So I'm not going to single out any individual."

Moreover, the Purple and White combatants erased or helped break five MIAA marks along the way. Mile (3:19.7) and two-mile (7:52.6) relay quartets eclipsed the old standard of 3:23.2 and 7:55.6, respectively, although they were second. SEMS took honors in the two-mile relay with a time of 7:51.3, and Lincoln covered the mile relay course in 3:18.2. Their clockings will go into the record book.

Other new league marks registered by NMSU were junior All-American Larry Jones' (Lemoore, Cal.) :49.1 in the 440-yard dash, junior Linley Lipper's (Kahoka) 9:23.2 in the two-mile run and senior All-American Tom Geredine's (Kansas City) 47'5" in the triple jump, a new indoor event this year.

Jones, NCAA University Division indoor quartermile ace last winter and runnerup in the NCAA University Division outdoor 400 meters last spring, was actually nipped by Lincoln's Robert Logan, clocked at :49.0. But the new Tiger sprinter was disqualified because of a foul in the race. Jones' achievement shattered a 1967 record held by a former Purple and White performer, Fred Banks.

Lipper, one of two double-winners in the meet, bettered Southeast Missouri Steve Parker's 9:24.6 figure in 1971 by :01.4. The Kahoka athlete also picked up a first in the mile with a time of 4:15.9.

Another winning feat that didn't smash an MIAA standard, but contributed to NMSU's second straight crown, was junior All-American Dennis Littrell's (Wheeling) 6'6" high jump.

Rebuilding Season for NMSU Wrestlers

Before Northeast's wrestlers started their 1972-73 calendar, the new coach, Larry Clemens, predicted his youthful crew would face a rebuilding season.

And as it turned out, the inexperienced NMSU matmen "took their lumps" much of the time between December and March. They were successful in only four of 15 dual appearances, and skidded to fifth in the MIAA Conference championships, the lowest finish for the Purple and White since they initiated the sport seven years ago.

Two senior mainstays, 126-pound Jay Gassman (Clinton, Ia.) and 177-pound Mike Burton (Kansas City), will not be back next winter. Gassman was the Bulldogs' biggest winner with a 23-8 ledger. Burton charted a 5-15-1 log.

Clemens, appointed as wrestling and an assistant football coach last August, had no opportunity to recruit. All of his 1972-73 freshman regulars at the conclusion of the season were walk-ons, except heavyweight scholarship recipient Jerry Stieferman (Jefferson City).

Other plebes in the starting lineup were 134-pound Bill Prideaux (St. Charles), 142-pound Dave Peters (Rochelle, Ill.), 150-pound Dave Scott (Clinton, Ia.), 158-pound Ralph Creed (Moberly), and 190-pound Al Schneider (Urbandale, Ia.). Their combined won-and-lost ledger was only 31-74-3.

"But I'm counting on these youngsters, plus sophomores Glenn DeHart (Keosauqua, Ia.) and Mark Littrell (Smithville), to comprise next winter's nucleus," commented Clemens.

He also hoped freshman Rich Vigil (O'Fallon), 1-3-0 at 134-142 and squadman Steve Johnston (Ballwin), scholastically ineligible this year, could give his squad a boost at the lower positions.

Littrell only participated during the second semester, posting a 3-10 record. DeHart, who represented the Purple and White at the NCAA College Division championships, wrote the best slate this past campaign among the matmen returning next year. He was 18-14-1 at 177, and his second-place finish in the league tournament on Feb. 24 was NMSU's highest finish at that meet.

DeHart was eliminated in the national championships by B. Shuffstall of Slippery Rock (Pa.), 4-2, after decisioning Doug Pound of Wheaton (Ill.), 14-1, in the first round.

Clemens now will turn his attention to recruiting for 1973-74. "I won't pass up a quality junior college prospect," he exclaimed. "However, I'm really going after freshmen, because we'll have them on our roster for four and not two years."

Three NMSU Men Go Professional

Three Northeast products will be in the professional gridiron ranks next fall, if the Bulldogs' two contributions to the 1973 National Football League Draft fulfill the hopes of the teams that chose them.

Offensive end Tom Geredine (Kansas City) and running back Lenvil Elliott (Richmond) were tapped in January during a two-day selection process. Geredine went to Atlanta in the fourth round, and Elliott was plucked by Cincinnati in the 10th.

The Kansas City athlete was actually the second choice of the Falcons, because two of their three players picked ahead of him were given to other clubs to complete trades. NMSU was the only Missouri school with more than one player selected in the draft. Rick Cash, drafted in 1968 by Green Bay, is the third man in the NFL who formerly wore the purple and white uniform. He was a starting defensive tackle last season for the New England Patriots.

Other Bulldogs of the past 15 years who have received tryouts as draftees or free agents include Bob Haller (Chicago Bears), Dale "Paley" Mills (Pittsburgh Steelers), Milt McPike (San Francisco Forty-Niners), Randy Jones (Kansas City Chiefs), Rich Rhodes (New York Giants), Sharron Washington (Houston Oilers) and Aubrey Johnson (Green Bay Packers). Johnson also got a trial with Saskatchewan of the Canadian League. Bill Seman played one season in the same loop with Hamilton before he called it quits after an injury.

Rhodes died in 1968 from wounds received as a member of the Army in Vietnam.

Kenneth Gardner, current Bulldog track coach and former assistant football mentor, turned down an offer to play with the Philadelphia Eagles after he finished his collegiate career in 1945.
