Wednesday ^{Wed 16} The war started about 3:00 P.M. One time today. Every day almost continuously we have been brought up to date on the war. Today is Monday Jan 21, 1991 Every day several times a day we get the war news by newspaper, radio and television. The first day the Americans did not seem to meet much opposition, but later they seemed to get more. A few Americans have been taken prisoner, and have been paraded on the ~~TV~~ television. A lot of the enemy missiles have been shot down by our missiles. The weather is bad the last two or three days on the battlefield and seems to slow up the action.

Saturday night some of Marks female friends decorated yard, car and cactus with balloons, toilet paper, Crayons

They really did a good job

Thursday Jan 24 A little cooler this a.m. but nice and clear. The officials say the war is going about as planned. The weather has cleared up some on the battlefield. Iran has not attacked yet. Mrs Kunz got Merle and I Tuesday P.M. and took us to her place. We had a good visit and a nice lunch. She is very interesting to talk to. We learned about her experiences in world war no 2.

Friday Jan 25 Clear and a little warmer. Not much news in the war, I took a walk

Saturday Jan 26 An Oil spill in the Persian Gulf. The U.S says Iran has deliberately dumped the Oil. Merle and I went with Harold to see Mark play Chess. His team won the tournament I believe 16 teams played.

Sunday Jan 27 real ~~fine~~ nice day. Light clouds. Susan Schille visited us this afternoon. She works at the F.B.I. A real nice girl.

Monday Jan 28 Clear this a.m. Bombing stopped the oil spill in the Persian Gulf. There has been heavy fighting and 12 marines were killed
