The 1875 campus map replica that was mailed to members of the Alumni Association has raised many questions about what life was like back then. We haven't been able to locate any alumni who were alive 114 years ago, but thumbing through the World Almanac has turned up some interesting facts.

- ◆ The school has been around since 1867, a year longer than the almanac.
- ◆ U.S. Grant was president, and the United States was in the midst of a great depression.
- ◆ The American people were still recovering from the Civil War and marveling over the idea that the Secretary of State would give the Russians $7.2 million for a very large chunk of ice called Alaska.
- ◆ The James Gang was in its heyday, but back East, Boss Tweed had been convicted and was serving time in prison.
- ◆ The people of Chicago were rebuilding from the great fire.
- ◆ The Kentucky Derby was run for the first time that year.
- ◆ Custer hadn't made his last mistake yet, and Geronimo was just beginning to make a name for himself.
- ◆ Mark Twain was preparing to publish Tom Sawyer.
- ◆ The telephone, microphone, phonograph and cream separator were just about to be discovered.
- ◆ Color photographs, the modern bicycle, the fountain pen, aspirin and the safety razor were still 10 or more years away.
- ◆ Parachutes had been around since 1785, but the Wright brothers were too young to be thinking about airplanes.

- ◆ The periodic table of elements and periodic law had been developed in 1869, but several elements were still missing, and atomic numbers were a long way off.
- ◆ In Kirksville, President Baldwin and his faculty were very proud of the new campus. Four years earlier it had been a corn field with a very deep gully running through it. But in 1875, it was a major tourist attraction. The gully had been turned into a lake, and the bell tower stood 126 feet high and could be seen for miles.
- ◆ Baldwin and his students created quite a stir in January of 1873 when the boys and girls marched together down ice-covered streets to the new campus from the old building, which stood at the corner of Mulanix and Hickory.
- ◆ The new school was the fruit of a lot of local politics and a great deal of lobbying in Jefferson City. The whole idea of state-supported higher education was a hot topic, and the new school represented one of Missouri's first real commitments to higher education. Adair County won the bid for the First District Normal School by passing a $100,000 bond issue for the land and the building. However, the money ran out before the building was finished.
- ◆ Baldwin and his supporters were able to lobby the legislature for another $50,000 in order to finish the project. The building in the center of the map was first known as the Normal Building, but was later renamed Baldwin Hall. The map brags about an electric bell clock and a ventilation system that changes the air in each room every 20 minutes. The electric fan hadn't been invented yet, so that may have been a way to say it was drafty.

- ◆ In 1924, the great fire destroyed the building. Today, the sunken garden is the site of the foundation.
- ◆ The lake in front of Baldwin Hall was nearly drained trying to put out the fire. Today the quad and Pickler Library are on the site of the lake.
- ◆ In 1875 tuition was free. A $5 incidental fee per term was charged. Room, board and lights cost $3.50 per week, but most students lived off campus because it was cheaper.
- ◆ Nothing is left standing from the first 'new' University or school that stood on this campus. All the people that created it are long gone, but the life, or spirit, that they breathed into it remains. The map should remind us of how exciting it is to watch a dream become reality and how far we have come since President Baldwin borrowed $50 and brought his idea to Kirksville 123 years ago.

As a member of NMSU's Alumni Association, you should have received a print of the map. If you have not received your poster and are a member of the Association, please contact us as soon as possible. Our number is (816) 785-4125.

If you would like to receive one of these treasured pieces of NMSU history, and are not a member of the Alumni Association, fill out the enclosed membership application and send it in. Not only will you receive the poster but also the Nemoscope Notes, and discounts on Homecoming tickets and merchandise sold through the Alumni Office and Campus Book Store.

Message from the President

The quality and funding of higher education are two hot topics in newspaper headlines. Should we raise taxes to fund the inflationary gap in higher education, or shouldn't we? Thus far in the legislature, the answer has been "no." Now, the state of Missouri faces a $192 million deficit and, as usual, our public colleges and universities are being asked to absorb the greatest share of the necessary budget cuts: $45.4 million.

Why aren't Missourians willing to pay higher taxes for their colleges and universities? Most newspapers report that citizens perceive a lack of quality and an excessive amount of waste in our schools. To combat that perception, former Commissioner of Higher Education Shaila Aery proposed a restructuring of Missouri's public colleges and universities for the '90s. Last November, Aery presented her plan, "Focus on the Future," to the Missouri Coordinating Board for Higher Education. In her presentation, she included this testimony to one Missouri university's adherence to high academic quality:

"In 1984 this Board also reviewed possible structural changes in Missouri's higher education system. Only one of those recommendations was realized, changing the mission of Northeast Missouri State University to a statewide liberal arts institution. Perhaps this change was accepted because it was the only recommendation that was perceived to speak to a vision of state needs and qualitative improvement," Aery said.

Was Northeast's mission change a good thing? This year, Northeast received more than 7,000 applications for the fall 1989 freshman class of 1,640 students. Northeast truly has been discovered, and that's a good thing for America. Let me offer some evidence:

1) Graduate and professional schools will be needing high-quality students as we enter the next decade. Northeast will be a major supplier of those students. That's good for America.

2) Northeast will provide the school teachers to provide leadership in the public schools as reforms are initiated and effected. That's good for America.

3) Northeast will provide leaders for corporate America in areas including accounting and those related to industrial and human engineering. That's good for America.

4) Northeast offers an ivy-league education at a state university price. (See the article about Marty Nemko.) That's good for America.

I believe it is good that we have so much demand from our students, parents and alumni. That demand has forced Northeast to look critically at itself. As a result of our constant introspection, we have improved academic quality and reduced administrative cost.

We can be the standard-bearer and the pacesetter in helping to guarantee a supply of talented persons to lead America in the new millennium. I express my thanks to all of you who have made this possible—alumni and friends. You are good for America.

The Kansas City Star.: College guide lauds Northeast ...

“Every state should have a Northeast, . . .
Most states don’t.”

By Michael Mansur
The Star’s education writer
Reprinted with permission from Feb. 18,
1989 edition of The Kansas City Star.

Martin Nemko is interviewed by Larry Moore (’67) for the ABC affiliate in Kansas City.

Across the country, a group of public four-year colleges, including Northeast Missouri State University in Kirksville, is attracting not only more students but more attention, thanks largely to Martin Nemko.

“Every state should have a Northeast,” Nemko said today in Kansas City. “Most states don’t.”

Nemko has written a college guide, How To Get An Ivy League Education at a State University, which includes Northeast and 114 other state universities that the education evaluator ranks as fine places to get a college education.

Nemko was in Kansas City today to meet with Northeast’s Board of Governors at the Westin Crown Center hotel.

Nemko said he set out “to find pockets of ivy,” in the 575 public four-year colleges because his daughter was a high school senior.

He said he discovered many places to get an affordable and quality college education—perfect for middle-class families who can’t afford an Ivy League school but don’t want to short-change their children’s college education.

At Northeast, Nemko said, “President Charles McClain has put most of the 5,800-student school’s resources in the classroom, trimming administration to a minimum.”

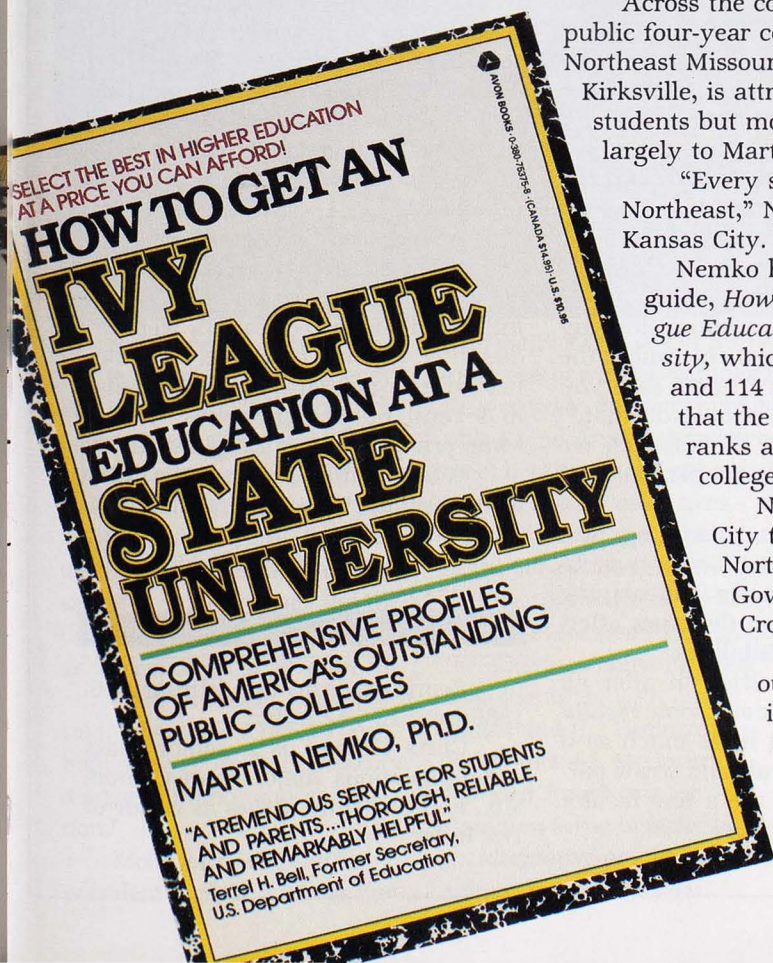

Northeast ranks high among public colleges in a number of the other 11 criteria Nemko used in judging them.

“Northeast sees a new interest in the college, where applications are up 66 percent compared with this time last year,” McClain said.

“But parents and students looking for a college usually are not good consumers,” Nemko said.

“People choose a car more carefully than they choose a college,” he said.

He advises parents to make use of the many college guides and consider more than how beautiful the campus is or how close it is to home. Potential students also should spend a night on campus.

Ivy League

by Chris Holmes

Is NMSU really 'Harvard of the Midwest?'

"Nothing I can say will take away from the mystique of the word 'Harvard.' And there's nothing like the feeling of coming home from college wearing a Princeton sweatshirt. I'm not going to be able to undo that."

But one thing author Martin Nemko might be able to "undo" is the perception that Ivy League schools are better than public universities—Northeast Missouri State in particular.

"Not only can you get an Ivy League education at Northeast, you can get a better than Ivy League education at Northeast," Nemko said.

Nemko, who recently boasted a best-selling book titled "How to Get an Ivy League Education at a State University," believes NMSU is one of the best undergraduate schools in the nation. He's been called the "Ralph Nader of Education" and had his book selected as the best selective college guide by Changing Times magazine.

"There has been an incredible amount of daring things going on around here (at NMSU)," Nemko said.

"It takes a lot of guts to fight a national trend against testing and put in the value added. It takes a lot of guts when everybody is saying 'let's open all our colleges and let everyone go to college' when Northeast is raising standards.

"It takes a lot of guts, when everybody is clamoring for pre-professional programs, for Northeast to say 'tough, we're going to have liberal arts—we're going to provide a real education, not just job training.'"

Nemko rated NMSU one of the 115 best public universities in the nation. But in his campus presentation, he seemed even more in love with NMSU.

"I've been asked many, many times which school is my favorite," Nemko said. "And I've always avoided that because I do believe there is no best school.

"But I will admit that I have a particular affinity for Northeast above and beyond a whole lot of others."

Aside from all of Nemko's praises, he did mention some areas which might need improvement.

Two areas he pointed out are faculty quality and advising.

"I don't want, as an outside guy who really hasn't spent any time at the University, to come in and say 'you should do this, you should do that,'" Nemko said. "But in the abstract, we should not try to fire people; the goal is to improve them."

He said a peer mentoring program including pairing faculty, watching each other's classes, videotaping classes and reviewing the tapes afterward are strong possibilities.

"Still," Nemko said, "if after all those efforts there are still some faculty who are not cutting it, as much as it tends to destroy morale and create paranoia, maybe there are a few faculty that should be let go."

He said advising is a problem not only Northeast has, but the entire nation. "

But criticisms of NMSU were not abundant in Nemko's speeches. From the quality of students to the Kirksville atmosphere, he made Northeast out to be a model school for all high school seniors to consider.

Nemko himself has a personal interest in the area of education consumerism with a senior of his own, an 18 year-old daughter, contemplating where to go to school.

It was his daughter approaching the college decision-making moment that helped persuade Nemko to write his books on best-buy colleges.

"When she started in the 9th or 10th grade, we started thinking about college," Nemko said. "You're always brought up to believe that you get what you pay for. There was always this mad rush from my friends to get their kids into these fancy private schools—willing to pay the $20,000 a year even if it breaks them. And I thought, 'Geez, if they're charging that much and people are still trying to get into them, they must be worth it.'

"That was option one. Option two was I could think of the money I'd save sending her to a public college. But somehow I kept thinking I'd be shortchanging her some way," Nemko said.

"I didn't like those two choices. So, I said 'is there possibly a way to save the money without shortchanging my child?'"

And the rest is history.

But even after traveling throughout the United States evaluating institutions of higher education, Nemko's daughter doesn't completely rely on her father's opinions. She has applied to several public schools as well as some private and Ivy League ones.

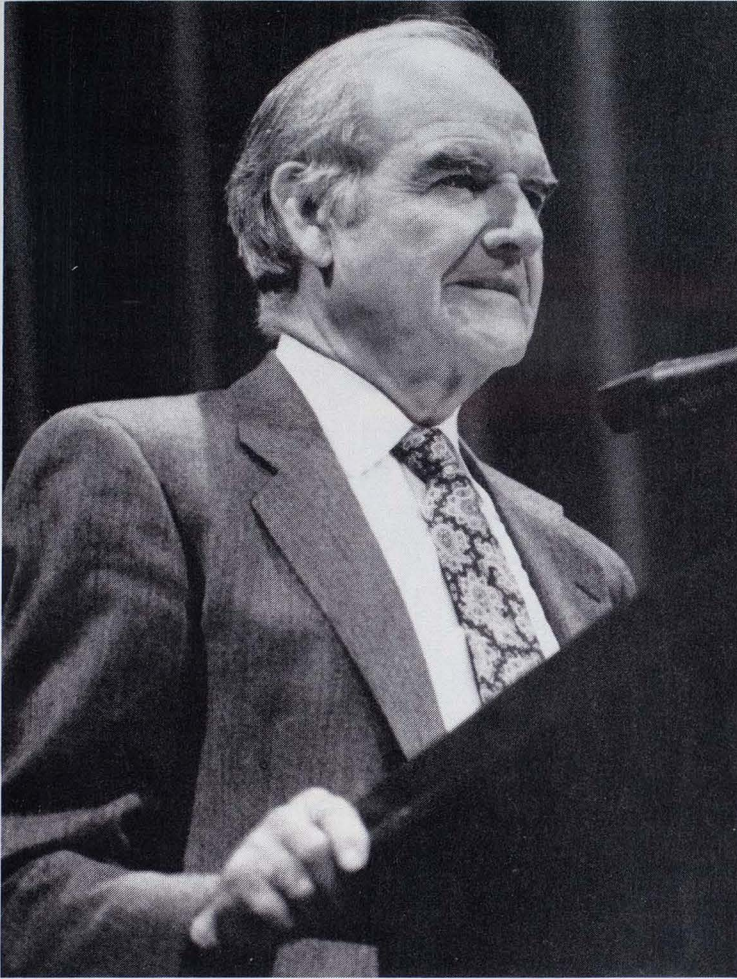

When Nemko suggests Northeast in Kirksville, Mo., as an intelligent choice for colleges . . .

"She laughs," Nemko said.

Political Pundits hold Court

Sen. George McGovern spoke on "The Presidency and the Election" as part of the Lyceum Series Nov. 2, 1988.

He believes the United States needs strong, creative, tough-minded liberals in order to survive and referred to the sale of weapons to Iran and the diversion of funds to the Contras as a breakdown of government.

"The president," McGovern said, "should be a person with high intelligence, high integrity, a sense of humor and imagination."

McGovern, who ran for president in 1972, said the Vietnam conflict was one of the primary reasons for his campaign. He wanted to do everything possible to end America's involvement because he did not see any point in risking more lives.

McGovern was a member of the Senate for 18 years and a member of the House of Representatives for two. The Voice of the American Spirit has long been identified with liberal causes and the Democratic Party. In 1982, McGovern founded Americans for Common Sense in order to give an alternative political voice to minorities and the poor.

William F. Buckley discussed "Reflections on Current Contentions" at the University Oct. 20, 1988.

During his speech, Buckley illustrated some of his controversial opinions. He said he wished fewer people would vote because he believes these would be more thoughtful votes. He contends people have an obligation to be informed before voting.

Buckley also supports having the same rate of taxation for all Americans allowing for everyone to pay an equal proportion of their income. He does not think people should pay higher rates just because they are fortunate enough to earn more money.

Believing strongly in individual freedoms, Buckley thinks Americans should be grateful to and remember those who helped provide them.

Buckley is best known for his syndicated column, "On the Right," which appears in more than 300 newspapers worldwide. He also founded the conservative journal, National Review, and hosts the weekly television program, "Firing Line."

Bill Cosby's consultant and script editor for "The Cosby Show," Dr. Alvin Poussaint, spoke on the NMSU campus. Poussaint showed his expertise and experience in his address, "Education and Multiculturalism," which discussed the problems and solutions of racism. Poussaint is also an associate professor of psychiatry and associate dean for student affairs at Harvard University Medical School.

Robert G. Schultz ('80) gave a lecture on "From River to Rails: Technology and Changing St. Charles, 1855-1920." He holds a master's in American history from NMSU. Schultz is the editor of St. Charles Heritage and resides in St. Louis with his wife, Suzanne. His lecture was sponsored by the Social Science Lecture Series.

With the implementation of Residential Colleges, the University has done a bit of reorganizing. Vonnie Nichols, former Student Activities Director, has been named Assistant Dean of the Colleges.

Nichols is involved both with the residence halls and the residential colleges. She works with the staffs and budgets of all the residential living areas and has assumed many of the jobs previously done by Residence Life.

She said she has found her

The Northeast Missouri State University Board of Governors elected officers for the 1989 calendar year. James Conway of St. Louis was elected president; Nancy Schneider of St. Charles, Mo., vice president; and Frederick Lauer ('50) of Raytown, Mo., secretary. Other members of the Board include Dick Pryor, Blue Springs, Mo.; Myra Baiotto ('63), Kirksville; Inks Franklin, Rocheport, Mo.; Kimberly Ahrens ('68), Hannibal, Mo.; and Michelle Blotevogel, student representative, Carrollton, Mo.

job to be both challenging and exciting, and that "I'm learning something new every day."

During this restructuring, the Alumni/Development Office moved into the former Residence Life Office.

should be sent to 101 A/H, NMSU, Kirksville, Mo. 63501.

Darrell Krueger, dean of instruction and vice president for academic affairs, has been named president of Winona (Minnesota) State University. Krueger joined the Northeast faculty in 1971 as an assistant professor of political science. In 1973, he became dean of instruction. Last year, he added the responsibilities of vice president for academic affairs to his position. Winona State University enrolls approximately 7,000 students. Krueger begins his tenure at Winona State July 1.

Alpha Sigma Tau sorority closed its chapter at NMSU. The local chapter was the first in the national sorority to ask to be closed. The members of the chapter received alumnae status. Despite high academic status, national awards and leadership in the Greek community, problems affected its ability to attract new members. As a result of the closing, the Panhellenic Council dropped to an organization of four national sororities and one local sorority.

Liberal Education, the bimonthly magazine of the American Association of Colleges, featured the University in the article "The Uses of Assessment." Northeast was one of six institutions profiled by author Ted Marchese, vice president of the American Association of Higher Education and executive editor of Change magazine.

Dore Ashton was featured in an open forum on contemporary art and the role of the visual arts in contemporary society. Ashton was a juror for this year's NMSU National Art Competition. The competition was open to artists living in the United States, and held in the Art Gallery at Northeast. Ashton is vice president of the International Arts Critics Association.

Helen Thomas, White House Bureau Chief, gave a lecture titled "From Inside the White House" during Northeast's Communications Week. Thomas has covered every president since John F. Kennedy became president-elect in 1960. She joined United Press International in 1943 and the Washington press corps. Thomas was the first woman to close a presidential news conference with the traditional, "Thank you, Mr. President." Since that time she has opened and closed almost every one.

Delno C. West ('61) presented a lecture titled "The Importance of Columbus." His lecture was sponsored by the Social Science Lecture Series. West is a professor of American history at Northern Arizona University and lives in Flagstaff, Ariz., with his wife Jean (Donald) ('60).

Richard Whiteacre, district forester for the Missouri Department of Conservation, presents Inks Franklin, former president of the NMSU Board of Governors, with an honorable mention plaque for the University from the Governor's Town Treescape Award competition. Awards for the the statewide Community Betterment competition are based on community improvement through tree planting.

NMSU's George Hartje, head of the Division of Libraries and Museums, and Robert Schnucker ('53), professor of history and religion, installed a permanent plaque in Pickler Memorial Library, which recognizes the library's designation as a Pollard & Redgrave Research Center. Pickler is one of only 35 institutions in North America with this designation.

Pickler Memorial Library was honored for its support of University Microfilms International's (UMI) Early English Books Series, which began 50 years ago and is scheduled to be completed this year. The series involves the microfilming of the 26,500 titles in Pollard and Redgrave's Short-Title Catalogue, which includes nearly every book printed in Great Britain or in the English language from 1475-1640. Filming of the collection has taken place on two continents at several cooperating libraries. Northeast owns the entire collection.

In addition, the collection at Northeast is complemented by extensive holdings in the Tudor-Stuart period. These include the Camden Society (105 volumes), the Hakluyt Society (210 volumes), the Parker Society (68 volumes), the Shakespeare Society (234 volumes), the Early English Text Society (335 volumes), Great Britain Historical Manuscripts, Harleian Manuscripts and the Harleian Miscellany, the Thomason Tracts, Cobbetts Parliamentary History of England, the Challen Typescript of Parish Registers, Hansard Parliamentary Debates to 1949, the Calendars of State Papers of the Tudor-Stuart period, Domestic, Foreign, Privy Council, Statutes of the Realm, and photocopies of the manuscripts of the state papers domestic for the reigns of Edward VI, Mary, and Elizabeth Tudor. Since 1972, a dozen students from NMSU have completed master's theses using these microfilm materials.

BATON ROUGE, LA.-

Dallas Draper ('39) was selected as a member of the Louisiana State University Alumni Hall of Distinction by the LSU Alumni Association. He is director of music at Village Church and an adjunct professor of the conservatory of music at the University of Missouri-Kansas City.

Draper has a nationwide reputation as a choral conductor, music educator and singer. He has served as visiting conductor and taught at workshops and clinics throughout the country and has been a soloist with many symphonic organizations as well as having presented a recital in Carnegie Hall. Draper lives in Overland Park, Kan.

NEOSHO, MO.-

Kent Farnsworth ('79) was nominated in the June/July issue of the Community, Technical and Junior College Journal as one of the Transformational Leaders in the Community College. Farnsworth has been the president of Crowder College since 1985. Presidents from 44 states were nominated from both large and small colleges in urban and rural settings. Farnsworth was one of four Missouri Community College presidents to be nominated.

Transformational Leaders have the "ability to influence, shape and embed values, attitudes, beliefs and behaviors consistent with increased faculty and staff commitment to both access and excellence," according to the Journal.

MEMPHIS, MO.-

LeRoy Huff ('63), principal of Scotland County R-1 High School, was named last October as Missouri Principal of the Year by the National Association of Secondary School Principals. One principal is selected from every state and the District of Columbia for this honor, based on the recipient's commitment to improving education and encouraging community involvement in their schools.

Huff became president of the Missouri Association of Secondary School Principals in October and is a past president of the Northeast Missouri District Principals Association.

He received his bachelor's degree in political science and later returned to NMSU to earn his master's degree in secondary school administration and his specialist's degree in education administration. He and his wife, Jane Romjue Huff ('61), live in Rutledge, Mo. They have two children, Elizabeth, 23, and Sean, 20.

WAUKON, IOWA-

Alfred Leathers ('52) received the "Teacher Tenure" award at the All-State Music Festival. He was one of nine high school music directors who received the award. The award has been developed by the Iowa High School Music Association to bring attention to those teachers who have served long and faithfully in developing the talents of music students. Leathers has taught high school vocal music for 31 years, 23 of those years were spent at Allamakee Community School District, where Leathers still teaches.

PEORIA, ILL.-

Mary Jo Papich ('74) was chosen 1988 Outstanding Educator of the Year by the Peoria Jaycees. Papich is band director at Woodruff High School. In 1988 the band performed at the Florida Citrus Bowl in Orlando, EPCOT/Disneyworld, Sea World, Music Bowl Competition at Soldier's Field in Chicago and the McDonald's Christmas Charity Parade. Papich has a master's from Bradley University and is doing doctoral work at Illinois State University. She lives in Peoria, Ill.

COLUMBIA, MO.-

Gordon Richardson, professor of education at Northeast, was awarded the first Service to Secondary Education Award by The Missouri Association of Secondary School Principals at the annual MASSP fall conference. Richardson is head of the educational administration program at Northeast. He is a graduate of Purdue University where he earned his bachelor's, master's and doctoral degrees.

The Service to Secondary Education Award was created this year to honor and recognize individuals in higher education, business, government and other vocations who have made significant contributions to the improvement of secondary education and to the professionalism of the secondary principalship.

BOWLING GREEN, OHIO-

Mark Searce ('83) won first prize in the 10th annual Young Composers' Competition, sponsored by the National Association of Composers. His winning work, "Five Poems in a Letter" is for the solo oboe, flute, violin, cello and piano. It will be performed in Los Angeles and New York City.

Another of his compositions, "Dance Suite," was selected for an American Music Week performance by the University of Toledo, and he is producing an album of contemporary flute music for Capstone Records.

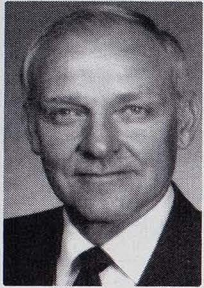

Searce is the administrative assistant for the Contemporary Music Program of the College of Musical Arts at Bowling Green State University, and his wife, Leda, is an instructor of voice at the university.

STUART, FLA.—

Jerry Young ('52) was voted by his peers as the Martin County High School Teacher of the Year for 1987-88 where he teaches world history. He was also voted into the Indiana Football Hall of Fame after coaching at Huntington (Ind.) High School. Young, who has been blind for the past three years, resides in Stuart with wife, Averill.

Legislative

INDEPENDENCE, MO.—

Richard (Dick) Franklin ('56) was elected to the Missouri House of Representatives in November 1988. He is the representative for the 55th District. Franklin is a retired principal from Fort Osage High School and resides in Independence with his wife, Ann.

KIRKSVILLE—

Katie Olsen Steele ('83) was elected to the Missouri House of Representatives in the 2nd District. She was also a staff member for the presidential campaign of Richard Gephardt.

Steele was formerly the programming coordinator at NMSU.

She and husband, Russ Steele, live in Kirksville.

Fashion

COLUMBIA, MO.—

Terry McDonnell Overfelt ('81) is a spokeswoman for the Columbia Mall which includes television commercials and newspaper ads. McDonnell also teaches speech/drama at Rock Bridge High School and is the manager of Jatra Skin Care. She, her husband, Jeff ('81), and their two children live in Columbia.

NEW YORK—

Jean Waters ('76) has appeared in nationwide ads. Named Miss Illinois in 1975, Waters is currently an advertising spokeswoman and commercial actress-model. Waters resides in New York and is seen in commercials for the weight reduction product Dexatrim.

Fraternity

PITTSBURGH—

Max E. McGowan ('63) became Sigma Tau Gamma's 25th national president when he took the oath at the fraternity's 33rd Grand Chapter meeting in Pittsburgh. He will lead the fraternity during the 1988-90 biennium.

McGowan previously served as regional director from 1979-83 and received the Outstanding Regional Director Award in 1982. In 1983, he accepted national general chairman for Project PITCH, a $1 million capital fund drive to endow the fraternity.

After his election in 1984 to the Board of Directors at Milwaukee, he continued his involvement in Project PITCH and was president of the Greater St. Louis Alumni Chapter.

McGowan has four children and lives in St. Charles, Mo. with his wife, Dorothy.

Child Development

DENVER—

Nancy Fopma ('87) was a nanny for the grandchildren of George Bush, four-year-old Lauren and two-year-old Pierce, during the 1988 presidential campaign. While their parents were working hard to get Bush in the White House, the children were cared for by Fopma, a child development major who is the youngest of six children and has 12 nieces and nephews.

After flying to the Bush Colorado home in November 1987, her first assignment was to accompany the family on a Hawaiian vacation. She also went with them campaigning in the Northeast and to New Orleans for the Republican National Convention.

Although she described her year with the Bush family as "unbelievably educational and exciting," she decided to leave them and return to graduate school at the University of Northern Iowa. Fopma was featured in an article by Jane Schorer in the Des Moines Register, Nov. 1, 1988.

Business

CHICAGO—

Donald Heneghan ('77) was admitted to partnership with Ernst & Whinney in its Chicago office. He was previously a senior manager and is now a principal at the firm. Heneghan lives in LaGrange, Ill., with his wife, Marilyn, and their daughter. He joined Ernst & Whinney in 1984 and specializes in Executive Search Services for industrial, financial and service organizations.

Nursing

KANSAS CITY—

Margaret Hiatt Schneider ('81) was on the cover of the October 1988 issue of The American Journal of Nursing, assisting a patient. Schneider is a registered nurse at Menorah Medical Center in Kansas City, Mo.

She and husband, Michael, live in Lenexa, Kan.

Kirkville, Mo. – known for farming, education and unusual weather. But one former Kirkville resident remembers the rural northeastern Missouri town with a different perspective.

“My two years in Kirkville were very important years for me, my jazz evolution and my development as a jazz musician,” said Mike Metheny ('76), nationally acclaimed jazz artist.

Metheny, Boston's 1988 Outstanding Brass Player, returned to Kirkville Feb. 11 for Phi Mu Alpha's 21st Annual Jazz Festival.

“I have wonderful, fond memories of those two years as far as going to Northeast and living in Kirkville,” Metheny said. “They were just two terrific years with lots of memories.”

Metheny was born in Lee's Summit, Mo., and attended the University of Missouri-Columbia before moving to the East Coast. In 1974, he came to NMSU on a graduate assistantship to earn his master's degree.

“I just finished living in Washington, D.C., for three years before I moved to Kirkville,” Metheny said. “It was really refreshing to get back to those Missouri roots.”

He said prior to Kirkville his jazz concentrated on a classical style. But in two years, his outlook had been modified considerably.

“During those two years, I became real serious about jazz improvisation and really began to study it like I never studied it before,” Metheny said.

This Kirkville-provoked improvisation style earned Metheny national recognition with his first album release, “Day In-Night Out.” His following release, “Kaleidoscope,” a little more than a year ago, rose to No. 1 on the jazz airplay charts of Record and Radio magazine, and to No. 6 on the jazz chart of Billboard magazine.

“There might be a correlation between jazz and college—the spontaneity and good time aspects of college,” he said.

Metheny said his “good times” in Kirkville and at NMSU are what made it so memorable.

Although none of his songs on either album are written about Kirkville, he contemplated how he would approach the idea.

“If I were to write a tune about Kirkville or NMSU, it would reflect the friendly people and slower pace,” Metheny said.

But he added that regardless of the geographic location, jazz is still jazz.

“It doesn't really matter where you live, whether you live in Kirkville or Italy,” Metheny said. “It all depends on if you're a jazz fan or not.”

“It's not exactly what you hear on the radio all the time. It's not the most popular kind of music at all. Sometimes people just kind of stumble into it.”

Metheny stumbled into jazz several years ago and continued with great success.

With his February visit, Metheny retraced his steps to rejoin the local jazz scene.

KANSAS CITY, MO.-

William Cable, director of Sports Information at NMSU, was inducted into the Citizens Savings-CoSIDA (College Sports Information Directors Association) Hall of Fame at their annual workshop. Sports information directors making outstanding contributions to the profession are chosen by their peers each year for induction. Cable contributed to the creation and organization of the Sports Information Office at Northeast, and in 1972, was named the first full-time director of sports information at the University. NMSU has 10 women's and 11 men's sports.

Cable attended NMSU 1952-54 and has been with the University since 1956. He and his wife, Dianthe Truitt Cable ('60), reside in Kirksville.

MIAMI-

Paul Garnett ('73) was a member of Nebraska's Gage County Division II men's golf team that won the 16th Annual American Cancer Society Championship in Miami, Fla. Garnett's team was one of 192 teams participating in the championship, which is the nation's largest amateur golfing event.

Garnett lives in Beatrice, Neb.

WEBSTER GROVES, MO.-

Jack Jones ('62) was honored as The Sporting News High School Football Coach of the Year. Jones is the football coach and athletic director at Webster Groves, Mo. He led the football team to its second state championship in 10 seasons in December 1988. The award is sponsored by The Sporting News and the St. Louis Quarterback Club. Jones has compiled a 159-82-4 record in 24 years as the head coach of the Statesmen.

He was featured in the cover story by Maureen Zegel in the Dec. 22, 1988 edition of the Webster-Kirkwood Times.

Jones and his wife, Jane Curry Jones ('63), live in Manchester, Mo.

WAUKESHA, WIS.-

Merle Masonholder ('69) was named 1988 Coach of the Year in the College Conference of Illinois and Wisconsin (CCIW). Masonholder is head football coach at Carroll College.

He guided the Pioneers to a 7-1 conference record and a tie for the CCIW championship title. Masonholder became Carroll's head coach in 1982. He also is director of athletics, associate professor of physical education and a certified trainer at Carroll.

LAKE OF THE OZARKS, MO.-

Walter Ryle IV ('54), professor of history, was named president of the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association at the 1988 fall meeting. Ryle has been NMSU's faculty representative to the MIAA since 1973.

During that time, he has served as chairman of Northeast's athletic committee and MIAA vice president. Ryle has been a member of the NMSU faculty since 1955. He holds two bachelor's degrees and one master's degree from Northeast and has also performed post-graduate study at National University in Mexico, Oxford University, Duke University, University of North Carolina and University of Sorbonne.

Ryle and his wife, Connie Carskaden Ryle ('67), reside near Kirksville.

BRENHAM, TEXAS-

Steve Silvey ('80) was voted National Junior College Athletic Association Track Coach of the Year for the 1988 indoor season. Silvey is currently head track coach at Blinn College in Brenham, Texas. His 1988 team won the NJCAA Indoor Track and Field Championship, as well as the outdoor track and field championship. Silvey served as assistant track coach at Texas A & M from 1984-1987.

KIRKSVILLE-

John Ware ('87), strength and offensive line coach for the NMSU football team, broke a world record in powerlifting Sunday, Jan. 29, 1989, at the USA Powerlifting Classic in Galesburg, Ill.

Ware won the superheavyweight division (275 pounds and up) with a combined effort of 2,427 pounds (squat, benchpress and dead lift), which is a World Powerlifting Congress world record.

"The record gave me a lot of self-satisfaction because it's been something I've been thinking about and working toward for a long time," Ware said.

He lifted 987 pounds on squats, 600 pounds on the benchpress and 840 pounds on the dead lift to break the world record. The WPC world record was previously held by Bill Kazmaier, who lifted a total of 2,425 pounds in 1977.

Ware finished second at the world championships in Johannesburg, South Africa (Nov. 25-26, 1988). He was not allowed to take his final lift due to a technicality in the rules.

Ware, a 6'3" 345-pound native of Ottumwa, Iowa, is a 1981 graduate of Drake University (Des Moines, Iowa). He earned an M.A. degree in school psychology from NMSU in 1987. Ware participated in the 1981 Blue-Gray All-Star Classic and played four exhibition games for the San Francisco Forty-Niners in 1982, before being cut by the defending champions.

Ware plans to go to nationals and the world championships one more time before leaving the sport competitively for a couple years. He has had powerlifting articles published in national magazines and wants to continue writing.

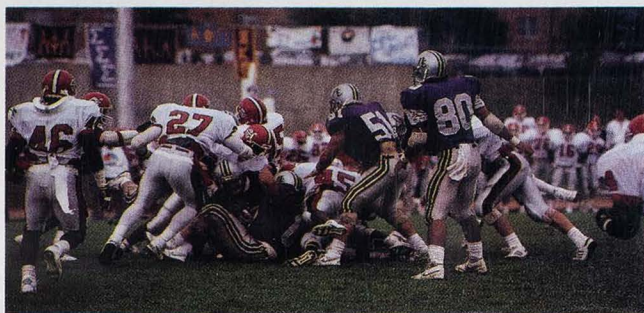

BULLDOG ROUNDUP

Six young fall sports teams at NMSU, with only a sprinkling of seniors in most cases, experience mixed results in 1988.

FOOTBALL Coach Jack Ball's football squad, which was expected to be a year away from seriously contending for the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association title, gained a share of the championships with Southeast Missouri State and Central Missouri State last fall. The Bulldogs finished with a 7-3 overall record and were ranked as high as fifth in the weekly NCAA Division II national poll early in the season.

Three seniors on the 1988 team were selected to Division II All-American lists. Tight end Gary Isaia (Pago Pago, American Samoa-Leon) was chosen to Don Hansen's National Weekly Football Gazette first team and the Associated Press Little All-America honorable mention unit. Offensive center Jim Burchett (St. Charles-Francis Howell) was picked for the Don Hansen third team and AP honorable mention team. Defensive linebacker Ricky Ruff (Chicago-Morgan Park) made the honorable mention list for the Don Hansen and AP teams. Although the football Bulldogs are losing 14 seniors, seven of whom collected some type of all-MIAA honors last fall, the remainder of the squad will return next year, including nine players, who earned all-conference accolades.

SOCCER Coach Dave Poggi's soccer men, ranked nationally at times in the 1988 campaign, posted an 11-6-3 record and finished second in the MIAA. Junior forward Quinn Ross (Portland, Ore.-Aloha) of the Bulldogs was named to the 1988 Soccer Coaches All-America Second

Two All-Americans, tight end Gary Isaia (80) and center Jim Burchett (51), were important catalysts in NMSU's drive toward a MIAA football tri-championship last fall. Isaia was selected to the 1988 National Weekly Football Gazette first team and the Associated Press honorable mention list. Burchett was Football Gazette third team and AP honorable mention choice.

Team for Division II. Ross and senior back Bob Atherton (Federal Way, Wash.-Decatur) were tapped for the Soccer Coaches Midwest Team for Division II.

The Bulldogs lost only three seniors from their 1988 squad. Their returning nucleus for next season will include six all-MIAA recipients.

Coach Al Duran's soccer women enjoyed their best campaign in the five-year history of the sport at NMSU, finishing the 1988 season with a 10-7 record and a 12th-place ranking in the Division II national poll.

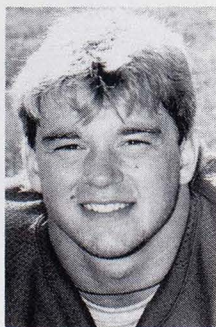

Sophomore forward Shauna Putnam (Webster Groves), who led the Lady Bulldogs in scoring with 32 points, and freshman midfielder Maggie Froelich (Palatine, Ill.-William Fremd) were named to the 1988 Soccer Coaches Southern Region First Team for Division II. Sophomore forward Stacy Erickson (Florissant-Hazelwood West) and senior back Diane Rothmeyer (St. Louis-Fort Zumwalt) made the second team for the Southern Region, and senior goalkeeper Becky Eggleston (Monett), junior back Tracy Feder (St. Louis-Ursuline Academy) and sophomore midfielder LaDawn Zitur (El Paso, Texas-Coronado) were chosen for the honorable mention list for the Southern Region.

The soccer women lost only two seniors, Eggleston and Rothmeyer, from the 1988 squad.

CROSS COUNTRY The cross-country women, spear-headed by All-American junior Kerry Knepper (Cascade, Iowa), logged a better than expected season in 1988. They finished second in the MIAA, fourth in the NCAA Division II Great Lakes Regional Meet and did not place lower than fifth in any meet. The Lady Bulldogs were ranked as high as 13th nationally among Division II schools during the campaign. Knepper earned All-American honors last fall for the second straight time by finishing fifth in the Division II Championships.

Coach John Cochrane had only three seniors, Mary and Sherry Wulff (Columbia-Hickman) and Cindy Arnold (Chateaugay, N.Y.), on his 1988 roster.

Coach Ed Schneider's cross-country men lost only senior Craig Langemeier (Liberty) from the top seven runners of last season.

In their best team performance, they finished second in the MIAA Championships last fall. They also came in fifth at the Division II Great Lakes Regional but did not qualify any individuals for the national meet.

VOLLEYBALL The Lady Bulldog volleyball team experienced a disappointing campaign, finishing with a 7-17 overall record and a fifth-place finish in the MIAA Tournament.

But the young NMSU spikers started only one senior, Jackie Vowell (Fenton), who received honorable mention all-conference recognition as a hitter. Junior hitter Tracy Moore (Eldridge, Iowa-North Scott) was named to the second all-MIAA team, and sophomore hitter Sandra Hester (Davenport, Iowa-Central) made the honorable mention list.

BASKETBALL Coach Willard Sims hopes the experience his young 1988-89 players gained in a 7-19 season will reap dividends next year.

The Bulldogs lost only 6-8 senior center Glenn Jacobs (Bowling Green) from this year's team. He was second in scoring average (12.7) and first in rebounding (6.8) and was tapped for the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association honorable mention list. Heading the list of holdovers for next winter is 6-4 sophomore forward Steve Schieppe (Lebanon, Ill.), an NCAA Division II South Central Region first-team selection by the National Association of Basketball Coaches. Schieppe, who was also chosen to the all-MIAA second team, finished third in conference scoring with a 19.6 average.

In late January, he sustained a foot injury that hampered him severely the remainder of the campaign. A second X-ray after the season indicated Schieppe had developed a stress fracture.

Schieppe is fifth in school all-time single-season scoring with 510 points and 11th in NMSU career scoring with 945 points.

Two other mainstays scheduled to return in 1989-90 are 6-5 junior forward Mike Stenger (Cincinnati, Ohio-Oak Hills) and 6-4 freshman guard Eivind Gronli (Trondheim, Norway-Woodland High School in Streator, Ill.). Stenger, who was sidelined for five games with knee problems, averaged 10.1 points and was named to the all-MIAA honorable mention team. Gronli, who averaged 12.5 points and 3.3 assists, leading the Bulldogs in the latter category, was also a member of the 1988-89 all-conference honorable mention unit, as well as the five man, all-freshman team for the league.

A combination of youth, inexperience and a tough schedule contributed to a disappointing 2-25 season for the NMSU women's basketball team in 1988-89.

The Lady Bulldogs never got on track and failed to win any of their 14 games in the always-tough Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association.

Only one senior, guard Kelly Boyd (Argenta, Ill.-Argenta-Oreana), appeared on the roster, and she was not a full-time starter. The remainder of the squad was comprised of freshmen and sophomores.

A bright spot for NMSU was sophomore forward Felicia Sutton (St. Louis-University City), who landed on the second all-MIAA team for the second straight year. Sutton erased the school and MIAA records for single-game rebounds (27) and led the conference with a 12.2 average.

She also shattered the NMSU and league standards for single-season rebounds (330). Sutton paced Lady Bulldog scorers with a 14.8 average.

Rhonda Soper (Kahoka-Clark County), who averaged 9.4 points and 6.2 rebounds last winter, made the MIAA all-freshman team.

INDOOR TRACK Both NMSU track teams ended their 1988-89 indoor seasons on an upbeat at the NCAA Division II Championships in early March at Vermillion, S.D.

The Lady Bulldogs finished 17th in the national meet after capturing their first-ever Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association indoor title a week earlier in Warrensburg, Mo.

Performances at the NCAA Championships were spearheaded by junior Kerry Knepper (Cascade, Iowa), fourth in the 3,000-meter run with a school record-breaking indoor time of 10:00.9, and junior Karla Ringger (Newton, Iowa), sixth in the 55-meter hurdles with a clocking of 8.41. Both women earned All-American honors by virtue of finishing in the top six of their events.

Junior Rich Hayward (Indianola, Iowa), the only member of the men's team to compete in the national meet, was sixth in the shot put with a heave of 52'10 1/4". He also received All-American recognition.

The Bulldog men placed 23rd as a team in the NCAA encounter. They finished a disappointing fifth in the 1989 MIAA Indoor Championships.

NMSU Hall of Fame – Twelve men were inducted in the NMSU Hall of Fame with a banquet and formal ceremonies Saturday, Nov. 5, 1988. Three of the inductees are Kirksville residents, and three are deceased and were represented by family members.

WRESTLING For the first time since the 1985-86 academic year, NMSU put an intercollegiate wrestling team on the mats.

The sport was reinstated by the University before the 1988-89 season. Although the results were not spectacular, Coach Mike Knight said his team achieved its primary goal of establishing a wrestling program.

Seven grapplers stayed with the wrestling program for the entire campaign. Those with the most victories were Jason Lind (Ogden, Iowa), 22-15 at 142 pounds, Eric Ashby (Camanche, Iowa), 21-20-1 at 158, and Shawn Ellingson (Nevada, Iowa), 18-15 at 150. Lind and Ellingson are juniors and Ashby is a sophomore. When preseason workouts began in mid-October, Ellingson was the only wrestler with collegiate experience.

SWIMMING Bulldog swimming coach Chuck Arabas termed this past season as a successful one for his men's and women's teams.

The women wrote a 5-3 dual record, captured the Midwest Regional Championship and won the Grinnell (Iowa) College Invitational. Arabas loses only senior Lori Terzopoulos (Columbia-Hickman), a sprint-freestyle performer, from the 1988-89 roster.

His men's team posted only a 1-8 dual mark this past winter but showed steady improvement during the campaign and logged their best times in the season-ending Midwest Regional Championship. The Bulldogs had no seniors on their 1988-89 roster.

Vera Ross Gillet Estate endows scholarship fund

The estate of Vera D. Ross Gillet ('30) endowed one of the University's largest scholarship funds with a gift of $100,255 last November. The Vera Ross and Dr. Ralph W. Gillet Scholarship Fund will provide several awards for incoming freshmen to Northeast with special consideration given to those students entering from La Plata (Mo.) High School.

Vera Gillet and her late husband, Ralph W. Gillet, D.O., were long-time residents of La Plata. Mrs. Gillet graduated from NMSU with a degree in business education and taught business courses in northeast Missouri public schools for more than 20 years. Dr. Gillet practiced medicine in La Plata from 1931 until his death in 1969.

NMSU was one of several charitable organizations to benefit from the generosity of Gillet. In all, more than $400,000 was distributed to groups in northeast Missouri.

According to her brother, Paul Ross, of Kansas City, Mo., her charitable interests were centered around home.

"(Vera) was impressed and pleased with the pre-eminent position her alma mater and taken in higher education."
.....

"She felt it was only fitting to return what she and her husband had earned in northeast Missouri back to the area. She loved her community and in particular had an affinity for Northeast and the time she spent at KSTC."

In regard to the scholarship fund, Mr. Ross said, "She was impressed and pleased with the pre-eminent position her alma mater had taken in higher education.

"Vera took great pride in education," Mr. Ross said. "She received pleasure from the success of many of her students at various academic festivals."

The first Vera Ross and Dr. Ralph W. Gillet Scholarships will be awarded for the 1989-90 academic year. Interest from the fund will provide approximately four to six scholarships ranging from $500 to $2,000.

In recognition of her gift, Mrs. Gillet will be posthumously inducted as a Very Distinguished Fellow in the John R. Kirk Society during Homecoming festivities, October 20-21.

Alumni Answer the Call with $115,000

Northeast's annual Tel-Alumni Campaign concluded Feb. 22 after establishing a new pledge record of $115,454. Tel-Alumni is a phone-a-thon to raise private financial support for the NMSU Development Fund. The previous record had been set in 1988 with $114,386 in pledges.

Tel-Alumni is one of the largest philanthropic activities in northeast Missouri or southern Iowa. Nearly 15,000 alumni and friends were contacted with the help of more than 450 faculty, staff and student volunteers.

Calling was segmented by academic division, allowing students and faculty the opportunity to speak to graduates with similar backgrounds. Student Senate organized the final week as a "clean-up" effort to call those who had not been contacted.

The project involved the use of 29 WATS lines installed in the Student Union Building. Calling was conducted each Sunday through Thursday evening from 6:30 to 9:15 p.m. over a five-week period.

Proceeds from Tel-Alumni are placed in the NMSU Development Fund, an agency of the University, which receives, manages and distributes all private financial support. Assets of the fund are invested and the resulting interest income provides funding for scholarships, student loans, instructional support and other projects—supplementing state funding.

Gifts to the University may be given on a restricted or unrestricted basis. Areas where gifts may be designated are specific scholarships, divisional funds or athletic teams. Unrestricted gifts are used where the needs are greatest as determined by the President and the Board of Governors.

Since its inception in 1980, Tel-Alumni has helped to raise the Development Fund balance to more than $2.6 million. In addition, Tel-Alumni serves as a valuable source of information to the Alumni Office, providing updates on alumni addresses, phone numbers, careers and personal news.

Faculty/Staff Campaign Exceeds Goal

Northeast conducted its first faculty/staff Development Fund drive last November resulting in $14,110 from 134 University employees. The original goal had been set at $10,000.

"I'm delighted with the results of our first campaign. The response shows tremendous commitment on the part of the faculty and staff," President Charles McClain said.

The faculty/staff campaign was the first concerted effort to seek financial support from University personnel. Though many faculty and staff have given generously in the past, the campaign's objectives were to raise awareness levels and publicly illustrate the institution's internal support.

Nationally, many institutions conduct similar fund-raising drives. The results are then used in appeals for financial support from corporations, foundations and other philanthropic groups.

Reunions

Wim joins me in congratulations to you and your office for a most successful reunion (Homecoming) last month. It was the first such occasion we have made at NMSU (and that is our loss). We truly enjoyed the weekend and . . .

it was a real pleasure to see 1938 classmates at the excellent luncheon.

Enclosed is our application for a Joint Life Membership.

Many good wishes in your endeavors for a fine University. We are proud!

Sincerely,

James K. Terry ('38)

Lawrence Kan.

The 1938 reunion was really nice and I am sure everyone enjoyed it thoroughly.

The young lady, Ellen, was so very helpful in every way.

Please do relay my thank you to her.

As secretary of the class of 1938—fifty years later—may I say a big thank you to you and your department for making the reunion of class 1938 a great success.

Sincerely yours,

Lois Carmichael Mulford ('38)

(Mrs. Max E. Mulford)

Kirksville

Enclosed is my check for the University's development fund.

I thoroughly enjoyed my 40th reunion. My first visit to the campus since my graduation in '48.

The national recognition 'earned' by the university, the requirements for entrance and for graduation, and the sound growth in enrollment are only a few of the reasons I'm proud to be a graduate of NMSU.

Hopefully, you will be able to return to the "Valley of the Sun" and update former students about our university.

Best wishes,

L.L. Via ('48)

Scottsdale, Ariz.

Thanks for making my 10-year reunion a memorable one. I enjoyed visiting with many of my classmates.

Again thanks for a great weekend of fun.

Sincerely,

Carol Keller ('78)

St. Louis

Hall of Fame

Thank you for your invitation to the Sixth Annual Northeast Missouri State University Athletic Hall of Fame Induction Ceremonies November 1988.

I regret, because of prior commitment, I shall not have the pleasure of attending this year. I was there in college the years of 1929-30 and was on the football and basketball teams. We won the conference football championship in 1929 and Harold 'Bud' Protiva, Trusten McArtor, Frank 'Pancho' Bigsby and I were on the All-MIAA Conference team of All Stars.

It would be great to come there for next year's event and, hopefully, see some of the many friends I had in the late '20s.

I have been retired from business since 1971 and have been living in Arizona up until July this year.

Best regards and keep up the good work.

Sincerely,

Wyman L. Henry

Sikeston, Mo.

Your reception, November 5, 1988, to honor the inductees to the Athletic Hall of Fame, NMSU, was greatly enjoyed & appreciated by the John Trusten McArtor family.

Sincerely

Nina Starbuck McArtor ('31)

Webster Groves, Mo.

Unforgettable

I cannot forget my alma mater and all of you at NMSU.

The University and its people have done a lot for me. You are all in my heart, and I congratulate you for the fine work you are performing.

I enclose a check, a very small contribution, to show my appreciation.

My best wishes,

Elef Pavlopoulos ('78)

Kalamaria,

Greece

It's a pleasure for me to continue supporting the outstanding educational setting that NMSU offers.

I've been teaching for 19 years now and believe NMSU's graduate departments in Education and Special Education have helped my career tremendously!

Keep up the fine work!

Sincerely,

Bonita J. Tompkins ('70)

Mount Vernon, Iowa

Update

I am not sure you need anything from me, but anyway I offer the following up-to-date stuff at 75:

I have written a drama for stage on Walt Whitman, and I have been invited to do a one-man reading of it in 10 European universities during 1989, places ranging from Valladolid, Spain to Debrecen, Hungary. The Whitman journey in Europe I have taken since 1975, reading & commenting on the great evolutionist. The piece will be translated into French in Lyons this coming year.

Keep me informed about KSTC, as we affectionately called it.

Sincerely,

William L. Moore ('34)

Shizuoka-shi, Japan

Class

I saw the football team at Grand Valley State. Brought back old memories. I talked to some of the players afterwards. Jack Ball is doing something right.

They were class kids. You can be proud of them.

Tel-Alumni

Please don't hesitate to phone me when Tel-Alumni rolls around. I will be glad to contribute more than. Northeast will always be a part of me.

Attending the University was an experience I'll never forget.

I am proud to say I graduated from Northeast, & will continue to make several contributions a year to Northeast's mission.

At this time, I have an excellent career opportunity with ITT Financial Services. I am currently a manager trainee with the company & attribute much of my success to Northeast.

Alumni Poster

Thank you very much for the wonderful calendar.

It is nice to have the description of the beginning of NMSU. It is nice once again to go back to the root of its being and think about today's greatness of the institution.

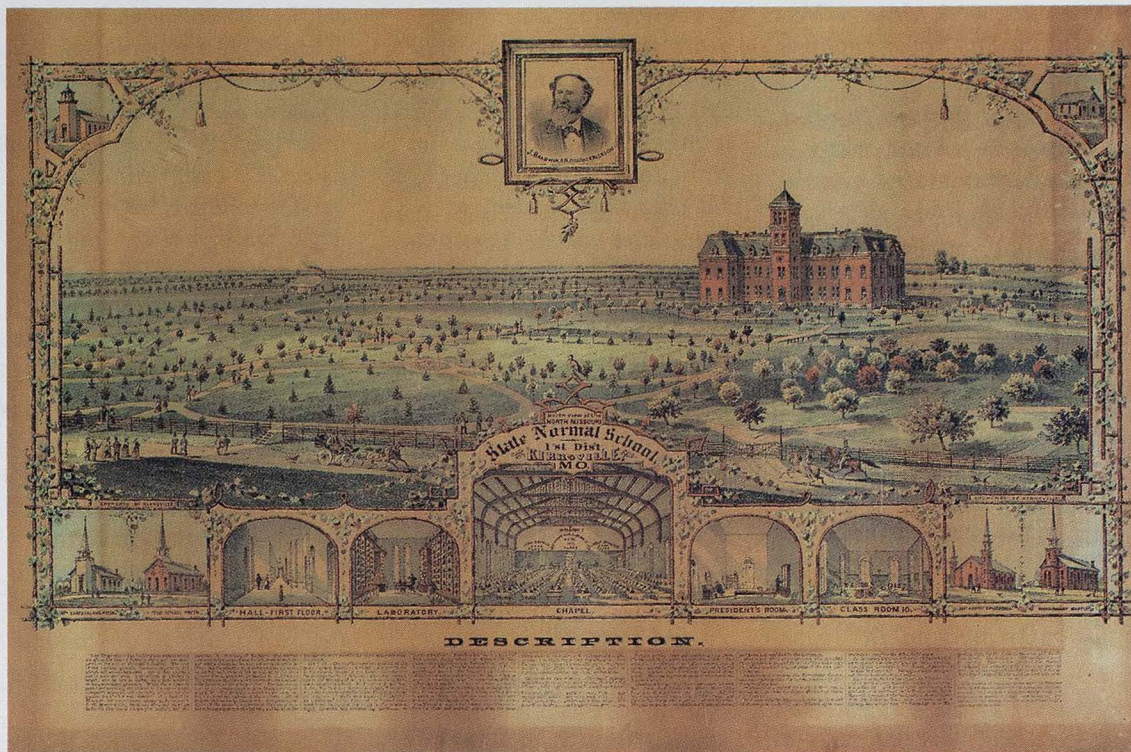

NMSU is the first-rate university in the nation, of which we are so proud. I am much proud of having President McClain who has dedicated himself to the development of the University and of all the faculty and staff members whose superb contribution has made it possible to achieve today's distinction of NMSU.

Let me once again express my sincere appreciation for your kindness in sending me the wonderful calendar.

Sincerely,

Tom Miura ('59)

Tokyo, Japan

I was delighted to receive the beautiful poster calendar of the 1875 campus of Kirkville's Normal College.

I plan to have it framed for I cherish the memories I enjoyed of that institution in its later years. I hope too, that those I pass it to will also enjoy it. Thank you most sincerely.

Mary Erwin ('57)

Shelbina, Mo.

Thank you for sending the calendar with the first Baldwin Hall. This or a similar picture used to hang near the South door of Baldwin Hall.

This building and a part of the old Science Hall burned the fall we moved to Kirkville. My sister was a freshman.

I doubt if even Dr. Kirk dreamed that the college would grow as it has —with so many buildings and students.

Sincerely,

Dorothy Pearson ('28)

Kirkville

What a beautiful year's poster calendar you have sent to the Alumni Members.

This is truly something to be treasured and framed.

Thank you so much.

Mother would so much have enjoyed seeing it if she had lived. She was a 1910 graduate. She had pictures of the campus, the lake, programs and characters taking part as in the Pinafore. She took her high school training for exams at the Normal School as she went to a country school, taking the eighth grade over more than once and getting extra classes.

Do you ever have current pictures of the campus for a comparison?

Sincerely,

Mildred Wadsworth ('50)

Worthington, Ind.

I want to sincerely thank you for sending to me the picture of the college . . .

I had to shed a tear or two, as Donna was very happy when she was on the faculty there. It was so hard for me to lose her in death at some very young age. I shall cherish the picture forever. It is lonesome without her.

Very truly yours,

Mrs. Elsie Smith

(mother of Donna Crawford)

Cedar Rapids, Iowa

I want to thank you for the large calendar you recently sent, showing the campus and original buildings. I will keep it forever.

Except for the size of the trees, it is exactly as it was when I started in kindergarten in 1910.

Sincerely,

Ruth Gardner Sherard ('26)

Richardson, Texas

Thanks for the calendar with the campus map which you sent for the new year. Bruce (Poese ['80]) has it up in his office, and it gives a chance to talk about NMSU. News about Northeast makes national publications more and more these days. I saw an article in USA

Today last week about colleges where the number of applications is increasing, and Northeast topped the list. I get more proud of my alma mater every year!

I received a master's in mathematics from the University of Maryland in 1984, and since then have been on the faculty at Montgomery College, a two-year community college in Montgomery County, Maryland. I am currently an assistant professor.

Bruce is working as a materials chemist for the Defense Department, which is why we are living here just outside of Washington, DC.

On a personal note, Bruce and I had our first child on July 17, 1988. His name is Scott William and he is a very happy and healthy little boy.

Thanks for all the work on the alumni publications.

Sincerely,
Debra (Brockschmidt)

Heartfelt

John R. Morris ('50) is an invalid, has had 5 strokes and cannot walk. I (his wife) am caring for him at home. He is lucid and enjoys the mail, and I read him the paper and tell him the local news.

He never forgets his college. I had delayed sending your check and a nice young lady called on the phone-i.e., this matter.

Enclosed is check . . . one never knows what lies ahead but his heart is still with his college.

Sincerely,
Bernice S. Morris
Needles, Calif.

I hope this letter finds you well. I want to thank you for everything during my years at NMSU. I thoroughly enjoyed myself and received a BSE in Business Education and a 'minor' in Marketing. I am currently working on my Physical Education master's at Akron and am the Assistant Offensive Line Coach. I love coaching and hope that one day I will find myself coaching back at NMSU. I loved the school, people and area. Thank you again.

Sincerely,
RoyDon Richards ('87)

Address Correction

Thank you for including my letter in the latest Northeast Review. I have, to date, received four letters in response.

Unfortunately, my use of an old letterhead caused you to list the Killeen, Texas, address of our home campus, when I should have indicated my office address in Alameda. Perhaps you can somewhere indicate a correction.

Thanks again for your help and your excellent publication.

Sincerely,
Bob Rothschild, Ed.D.

Update 2

. . . I currently work for Mission Bay Investments, located in San Diego, and I handle their public relations, promotions, and advertising for the St. Louis market . . .

Through this position, I have coordinated several major promotions for our piano dealers, i.e., Steinway and Sons and Yamaha. Many public relations professionals all over the country have worked with me on these projects. I must say, I feel as equally qualified as these outside contacts, many of whom have gone to 'name' universities.

I feel very confident with my qualifications as a Northeast graduate, particularly in the publications area. I understand that Northeast will be implementing some changes in the Mass Communications program. I'm certain that the program will continue to produce fine and very qualified candidates to the communications industry, and please keep stressing the importance of hands-on experience. It's so important!

Take care and thanks again.

Sincerely,
Peggy Smith ('88)
Chesterfield, Mo.

Reception

I got a letter from Glenda (Hampton) Malone ('64) on Christmas Eve Day. Glenda said that I might be seeing her in the future, since her nephew Larry Hampton, E. St. Louis High (class of '90-defensive end-football), was considering NMSU. "I am certainly encouraging him, since meeting Dr. McClain," she said. "I was impressed. The Midwest reception in Chicago was quite elegant." Glenda is honest and straightforward in her comments. Thought you would enjoy hearing them - they are genuine!

Hope you had a good Christmas. May 1989 be a wonderful year for you . . .

Sincerely,
William F. Hall
Kirksville

Protégé

Thank you for your kind letter concerning my husband's death. You and the faculty gave him the finest of gifts, recognition of his ability and dedication while he was living. He was one of Dr. Rieger's protégés and, I like to believe, one of his most rewarding. He truly supported the Rieger-Black Scholarship fund and I shall continue, too. That is Dr. Rieger's earthly immortality: he inspired Francis, and another generation is helped by Dr. Rieger's legacy.

Just let Francis ('39) be another graduate, proud to have gone to Northeast Missouri and hoping the University was proud of him.

Sincerely,
Marian Wadsworth

Update 3

Hello from Iowa! This town is quite a change of pace from St. Louis, but I think I really like Des Moines . . .

Enclosed you will find a check for the remainder of my lifetime membership dues. My parents forwarded a copy of Nemoscope Notes to me which made me think about the fact that I had not sent in the other half. I hope it is on time.

I really enjoy my new job with the Principal Financial Group. I am working in Information Systems-Individuals. I will be doing a lot of reading and training for the next several months. I will also be maintaining a lot of the ICS programs and might get to write a few on my own. The job requires that you be on your toes. Things go pretty fast on the ICS team . . .

If you don't mind, would you pass along this information to Vonnie Nichols for me.

I look forward to hearing from NMSU soon.

Sincerely,
Rob Dickerson ('88)
Des Moines, Iowa

Update 4

Knowing your interest in following the careers of NMSU graduates, I pass this announcement along to you. I am concentrating my practice in the area of commercial litigation. I am a member of a branch office whose firm's base is Dayton, Ohio.

Last May, I graduated from the University of Iowa College of Law. While in law school, I was an Associate Managing Editor for the Iowa Law Review and was published in the Review's January 1988 issue.

Doubtless, the skills I attained as an English major at NMSU prepared me well for this academic endeavor.

As a law student, and now as a professional, I learn to appreciate the education that I received at NMSU. Furthermore, the skills I developed through participation in extracurricular activities (Speech and Debate, SAB, Sigma Tau Gamma) were just as useful as my 'book learning,' particularly here in the workplace.

Selecting NMSU was one of the wisest choices I have ever made.

I wish you continued success during the upcoming year. I hope that NMSU continues to enjoy its growing reputation as one of the finest liberal arts universities in the Midwest.

Sincerely,
Charles L. Scalise, Esq.

We thought some of the alumni might be interested in this article. Therefore, we are sending it to you accompanied by this check. The 'Robin Girls' as we called ourselves send this gift to be used as needed.

THE ROUND ROBIN LETTER

1987 was a 'Special Year' for the girls who lived with Mrs. Vesa Brassfield and Ruby in 1937 at 308 East Randolph while attending college at North Missouri State Teachers College in Kirksville. Those were the days before dormitories. The girls brought most of their food from home. They prepared the food in the kitchen and ate together in the dining room. After studying, they often went to the Bulldog Inn for Cokes and visiting. Other fun times were spent by going to the show at the Princess, playing cards, attending programs sponsored by the college and college games. A lasting friendship developed. Mrs. Brassfield, Ruby and the girls started a 'Round Robin' letter to stay in touch. This wonderful tradition has continued for fifty years.

The girls living at 308 East Randolph during their collegiate days at NMSU were: Alice Behymer, Marie Behymer, Fern Harrington, Cecile Henry, Mary Lee, Marjorie McKinney, and Beatrice Thompson.

Mrs. Brassfield moved to Tulia, Texas, and Duncan, Okla., with her daughter, Ruby. We were all saddened by her death in 1975 at the age of 94.

Ruby Brassfield has a B.S. degree from NMSU and a master's degree in Education from West Texas State University. She taught in Benton School in Kirksville for 10 years. She married Dr. Robert L. Vick in 1940. Ruby taught four years in Amarillo and Tulia, Texas, and 21 years at Lee Elementary School in Duncan, Okla. They have one daughter, Linda Johnson.

Alice Behymer taught two years in Macon County and then decided to study nursing at St. Luke's Hospital in St. Louis. In World War II she was a member of the U.S. Nurse Army Corps. Alice was stationed in the United States, England, China, India and Burma. While working on a doctorate at Columbia University, she taught Psychiatric Nursing at Boston University and Columbia University. She was an instructor of Psychiatric Nursing Care in Philadelphia, Iowa, Chicago, Oklahoma and NMSU. Alice retired in 1975 and now lives in Columbia, Mo.

Marie Behymer graduated from NMSU in 1939. She received her Master's of Education at University of Missouri-Columbia. Later she attended Michigan University for Library Science credit. Marie taught Instructional Materials at Southern Illinois University during five summers in the 1960s. She served as Head Librarian in the Senior High School of Alton, Ill., before retiring in 1975. Marie has written a book compiling the 150-year history of the College Avenue Presbyterian Church in Alton, Ill., where she is a member.

Fern Harrington graduated from NMSU and holds a MRE degree from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth, Texas. She also did graduate work in Chinese at Yale University. Fern served 35 years as a missionary to the Chinese in the Orient. Her book, Captive Community recounts Fern's experiences as a prisoner of the Japanese in the Philippines during World War II. While Fern was a Japanese prisoner, all of the Round Robin letters written during her internment were saved for her to read upon her return. After the war ended, and she was released, she again went back to the Philippines to continue her work there. In 1976 she retired and returned to the States. In 1976 she married Herbert J. Miles, a retired professor of sociology at Carson-Newman College. They live in Jefferson City, Tenn.

Cecile Henry married Joe Kriegshauser in 1942. They were on the East Coast until World War II ended and then returned to Edina, Mo. They have two daughters: Janice and JoAnn. Cecile taught 30 years in Knox County, Mo. before retirement. She continues to live in Edina after the death of her husband.

Mary Lee received her B.S. degree from NMSU in 1939. She married George Swanson and lived in St. Joseph, Mo. Their children are Victor, Walter, Charlotte, Roy, Wendell and Virgil. She taught 22 years in Missouri schools. Mary Lee died Jan. 6, 1988.

Marjorie McKinney married Glenn Norton in 1938. Marjorie was a teacher and counselor in the Macon school system until her retirement. They had three sons: Charles, David and Joseph. We were saddened by her death in April 1987.

Beatrice Thompson received her B.S. degree from NMSU in 1936. In 1948 she completed a Masters of Education at Missouri University. She married Louis Collins in 1948 and taught in Fayette until her retirement. After Mr. Collins' death, Beatrice married Herbert Funston and they live in Wyandotte, Mich.

The house at 308 East Randolph no longer exists; but the memories linger on through the letters shared over the years, visits and reunions. The Round Robin continues to fly over his route each month to continue the tradition.

JAMES H. BYWATERS, PH.D.

James H. Bywaters, poultry geneticist and teacher, died Nov. 17, 1988, in Americana Health Center, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, following a lingering illness. He received his bachelor of science degree in 1925 from Ohio State University, majoring in animal husbandry.

Bywaters started graduate studies at Cornell University and completed his master of science degree in animal husbandry at the University of Kentucky in 1932. In 1936, he received a doctorate from Iowa State University in animal breeding and genetics. Bywaters continued his formal education by taking additional graduate courses from Bradley University in 1963.

He returned to the University of Kentucky in 1936, where he taught animal husbandry courses, developed federally funded breeding projects and was in charge of the Genetics Section of the Animal Husbandry Department. Bywaters moved to East Lansing, Mich., in 1939 where he was employed by the U.S.D.A. Regional Poultry Research Laboratory as a poultry geneticist. He remained at this location until 1947 except for a four year period from 1942 to 1946 when he was stationed at the Pentagon in Washington, D.C., as a Liaison Officer. In 1947, Bywaters moved to Blacksburg, Va., where he was professor in charge of poultry husbandry research. He moved again in 1958, this time to Chazy, N.Y., to be Director of Research at The William H. Miner Agricultural Research Institute. His last move as a researcher came in 1960 when he moved back to Iowa as a turkey breeding specialist for Yoder Feed Inc. in Kalona.

After more than two decades of research and forty publications, Bywaters started an active teaching career in 1962 at Keota High School in Keota, Iowa, and then moved to Abraham Baldwin Agricultural College in Tifton, Ga., in 1964. In 1967,

He owned and operated the Harrington Woodworking Co. for the past five years.

During World War II, Harrington served with the U.S. Navy from 1944 until 1946.

He was a charter member and past president of Theta Chi Fraternity. He received numerous honors during his teaching career and was a member of several professional organizations. Harrington had been active with the Boy Scouts of America and was a member of the Loyal Order of the Moose.

We've found the Missing Link!

Here is your opportunity to help us form the Northeast Network and put it into action for your benefit as well as for our current students!

Every year hundreds of NMSU graduates, from all disciplines and all parts of the country, complete their degrees and embark on their professional careers. Each comes prepared with unique qualities and abilities to offer to prospective employers.

For the student, as well as for the prospective employer, the key to success is forming a network that allows the two to make contact with each other. The first step in establishing this network is discovering who would be interested in participating.

First Link—BPC

At the Business Placement Center we work with the student part of the network. We assist all students outside the field of teaching in exploring career opportunities and in finding the position they desire. We know they are interested. You can help us complete the network by providing the missing link— the alumni portion.

Second Link—You

If you are in a position which enables you to make hiring decisions, or are in contact with the individual who does the hiring for your organization, you can provide us with a valuable resource to use in working with our current students. An established network of contacts would give our students additional avenues to pursue, whether it be for work opportunities or for information only.

Link Up!

We encourage you to help us develop our Northeast Network. Please complete the questionnaire and return it to us, or call our office with the information. You will be providing a great service to our current students, and we fully believe you will be doing your organization a favor as well.
