Members of Blue Key service fraternity ring a bell in memory of the late Dr. Walter H. Ryle III, president emeritus of Northeast Missouri State University. It rang 30 times at the funeral hour on Nov. 1, 1978, in recognition of his 30 years of service as president. Dr. Ryle died Oct. 30, 1978, in a Kirksville hospital.

PRESIDENT'S COMMENTS

Someone once said that "great universities are but the lengthened shadows of the great personalities that serve them." The lengthened shadow of Walter H. Ryle III truly is Northeast Missouri State University. I was privileged to serve with Dr. Ryle eight of his 82 years. In those eight short years, I saw the intricacies of his mind and felt the impact of his spirit with an intimacy that leads me to feel I can share with you, who knew him for a lifetime, the profound sense of personal loss his going brings.

You knew him as a teacher and college president: molding, building and shaping this college which, in turn, molded, built and shaped thousands of students.

I knew him as president and president emeritus, a counselor and trusted friend, one who could be counted on in times of need.

We cling to the memory of Dr. Ryle's rich and sensitive life and the Christian hope of immortality. Though we cannot prove immortality, surely we know those who qualify for it. If anyone among us is qualified for immortality, it must be Walter H. Ryle III.

LETTERS

Dear Mr. Harrison:

Homecoming to the NMSU campus, my first alma mater and the celebration of the 50th anniversary of my class of 1928, was indeed enjoyable and exciting.

How the campus has changed—so expanded and enlarged with a "Big Time" university look. But thankfully, it retains its tradition of quality, of warmth and friendliness.

The Alumni Banquet and the luncheon honoring my class reflected so highly that characteristic of cordiality, comfortably informal and most conducive to renewal of old friendships with classmates and faculty members. And in addition to making new friendships, many of which extended back over the years and linked with our friends now living in our areas, and with staff members of the Webster Groves High School of which I was a member for some 40 years.

The warm welcome and courtesies extended to my wife and me throughout is thoroughly appreciated. This quality and organizational success of this Homecoming event clearly indicated much careful and extended planning. You and your staff are to be congratulated.

We thank you kindly for the invitation and opportunity to participate in this heart warming experience and to be able once more, as a fringe benefit, to visit and enjoy the "Hills of Home."

Appreciatively yours,

Joseph R. Verby
600 Lilac Ave.
Webster Groves, Mo.

Dear Mr. Harrison:

The Alumni Office really gave us a great time at the Homecoming in honoring and entertaining the Class of 1928. We want to thank you for a wonderful weekend. Really great to meet class members again after 50 years.

We were saddened by Dr. Ryle's death. I know he enjoyed his time with us that weekend.

Russell, if you are in Clinton again, please call me. We'd love to have you come out to the house. Perhaps my "bridge" or other activities can be cancelled—ha!

I want to thank you again for an unforgettable event. Also thank you for including my husband.

Sincerely,

Alice Lomax Ream (Mrs. Floyd Ream)
504 South Third
Clinton, Mo. 64735

Dear Mr. Harrison:

Thank you for a memorable occasion. The Reunion for the Class of 1928 was superb. Thanks for the Centennial Plate and the Centennial History of the NEMO State Teachers College by Dr. Walter H. Ryle, the boutonniere, the banquet and luncheon and the bus tour. Then if that wasn't enough you sent us a picture of the Class of 1928 class members present. Kirksville class reunions can't be outdone.

Mrs. Kimbley joins me in expressing her thanks, too.

The attitude of your present students and their appearance was a delight.

Enclosed is my application for a Life Membership in NEMO State U. Alumni Assn.

Sincerely,

Wilbur P. Kimbley

Leavenworth, Kan. 66048

Dear Mr. Harrison:

I have been remembering with pleasure the wonderful weekend we enjoyed during the 50th anniversary of the Class of 1928. We were impressed with the hospitality, the interesting activities, the gifts and the fun in seeing our old classmates and former faculty members.

You and your staff are to be congratulated on the success of the occasion. It required a lot of work. Thanks for a wonderful weekend.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Alta Motter Adams
P.O. Box 519
Kirksville, Mo. 63501

Dear Mr. Harrison:

First I want to thank you and your staff for making last weekend one that Mrs. Lichty and I will always remember. We had a wonderful time and do hope that we can get back again for another Homecoming.

Then I wish you would convey our thanks to Mrs. Bailey for sending the homecoming button. Mrs. Lichty wanted one for a souvenir and when I went to get one, I couldn't find it. We do appreciate it.

Finally, I want to know whether or not there will be any of the pictures of the members of the Class of 1928 available. I would like to purchase one, if I can. If it is available, please send it to me and I will remit the cost.

Thanks again for a wonderful time and our very best wishes to you and your staff.

Sincerely,

Elden A. Lichty
502 Bowles Street
Normal, Ill. 61761

Dear Mr. Harrison:

I am so sorry and disappointed I could not attend the 50th anniversary of my class. I had so looked forward to it. I love the University because I was a personal friend to three presidents and their families. Also, my brother-in-law's library, The Glenn Frank Collection, is now in Pickler Memorial Library. He and I were such warm friends.

The main speaker Dorothy Pearson's two daughters went to school where I taught.

I have not been able to go to church for three years as my sister with whom I live is ill and needs a great deal of care.

Please find enclosed three dollars for the renewal of my dues.

Thanks for the lovely festivities of the Homecoming for our Class of 1928. You have been so untiring in your efforts for the school.

Yours truly,

Ida Mae Frank

Kirksville, Mo. 63501

Dear Mr. Harrison:

Let me send my sincere thanks to you for being so kind to invite me to the Homecoming Alumni Banquet and Saturday luncheon, which brought me much joy.

The wedgewood plate with the pictures of the presidents is a prize for me as I remember my mother, Emma Burgdorf Gatewood, speaking of Professor Blanton and Professor Dobson who were there when she was in school at Kirksville. I thank Dr. Ryle for his book, which he autographed for me, my corsage was beautiful and still is, the bus trip was enjoyable, the food was fine—but perhaps the greatest surprise was being able to meet more of the old classmates than I had expected.

Mr. Harrison, you did a fine piece of work for us old alumni.

Thanks again.

Sincerely,

Lucille Gatewood
Class of 1928

Dear Mr. Harrison:

Let me first of all congratulate you for your fine work in sending NMSU alumni communication to someone like me who changes addresses so often. The following is my new address and it should be good until the summer of 1979:

Hiroshi Okano
310 Asbury,
Evanston, Ill. 60202

I will not be able to attend this year's Homecoming, but I would like to be informed of my alma mater. I am now working for a private Japanese school in Skokie, Ill., and I am also continuing my study of these Japanese children who are in a unique situation as far as bilingualism-biculturalism is concerned. I studied these children for my dissertation and I received my Ph.D. from the University of Chicago this summer. I intend to do further work in the area of language development, bilingualism-biculturalism, psycholinguistics, comparative schooling of the U.S. and Japan, etc.

It has been eighteen years since I graduated from Kirksville, but I enjoy reading the newsletters, etc., from NMSU. Keep up your good work!

Sincerely yours,

Hiroshi Okano

Annie Lauri Tilson

Alumna leaves bequest to Development Fund

A bequest of more than $11,000 from the estate of Annie Lauri Wilson Tilson, a 1908 graduate, has been left to Northeast Missouri State University. Mrs. Tilson died Feb. 25, 1976, in Quincy, Ill. Her home had been in Los Angeles for many years until the last four years of her life when she returned to her native Knox County, Mo.

Mrs. Tilson was born May 13, 1882, on a farm south of LaBelle, Mo. A relative, W.R. Swartz of LaBelle, recalls Mrs. Tilson saying she lived a hard life growing up on a small farm.

"Her education," Swartz continued, "especially her college training, enabled her to make a good career for herself as a teacher. She was always appreciative of what Kirksville did for her."

Later Mrs. Tilson received a master's degree from the University of California. She devoted her life to teaching, having taught in Missouri, Iowa, Arizona and Idaho.

Prior to World War I she taught in a Presbyterian Mission School in Cairo, Egypt. She taught a total of 44 years, her last 30-plus years being in the Los Angeles school system.

"Mrs. Tilson's life and love of her school is typical of so many Northeast graduates. She remembered what her college had done for her and saw to it that it was recognized tangibly so others might benefit," said Dr. Charles J. McClain, University president.

He added that the money from the bequest will be added to the University development fund, where interest from the bequest may be used for critical needs including scholarships, research and instructional equipment, and faculty development.

International businessman returns to alma mater

by Mrs. Robert McKinney
International Student Adviser

A student who has become a manager in the largest business management firm in the Middle East came back to thank his teachers and advisers in the Business Division and the International Student Office at Northeast Missouri State University.

Riad Marei, who received his B.S. in Business Administration in 1973, returned to NMSU on Sept. 13-14 with his wife, Jala.

He works as the manager of projects and tenders in the Projects and Tenders Division of Yusuf A. Alghanim and Sons, a company employing 3,000 persons in Kuwait.

Marei says the company uses "the American way of business." He knows the American way of business from his training at NMSU and at the American Graduate School of International Management in Arizona where he earned his master's degree in business management.

NMSU has the best business department in the country, he says. "It is a great place to be educated."

He and his wife visited the University first on their tour of the United States. He says he wanted his wife to see the school he loves so well.

At the University, he was president of the International Club. He was active in many student organizations and made a special contribution to the 1971 Homecoming parade.

He led the parade of floats that year on an Arabian horse in authentic native dress. The horse was outfitted in silver regalia.

I remember him as a "top-notch student, a leader who was respected by students and faculty members."

I also recall he always was helpful to the International Student Office. He remembers us fondly and we remember him with pleasant memories.

Pamela Sue Petre

New assistant superintendent chosen

Mrs. Pamela Sue Petre, a graduate of Northeast Missouri State University, will be the new assistant superintendent for business services in 1978-79 in the Fort Osage School District.

Mrs. Petre completed her Educational Specialist degree in August at NMSU. She also received a B.S.E. in Business Education in 1973 and a double M.A. in Business Education and Counseling in 1975 from the University.

Mrs. Petre is the granddaughter of Mrs. Stella Johnson, Macon. She is a 1969 graduate of Macon Junior-Senior High School in Macon, Mo.

The new position in business services will have major responsibilities in coordinating and supervising accounting activities in data processing, payroll, warehousing, bookkeeping, budget preparation and resource allocation.

Her honors include selection as the Outstanding Senior in Business Education in 1973. She also has been chosen to be a member of Phi Delta Kappa education honorary.

Captain earns commendation

Meritorious service at Lackland AFB, Texas, has earned the second award of the U.S. Air Force Commendation Medal for Capt. Harry A. Trask (B.S. 1967).

Capt. Trask, a missile combat crew commander, was presented the medal at Minot AFB, N.D., where he now serves with a unit of the Strategic Air Command.

The captain, a 1963 graduate of Scotland County R-1 High School, Memphis, Mo., received a B.S. in 1967 at Northeast Missouri State University and earned an M.S. degree in 1975 at Eastern Illinois University, Charleston, Ill.

He received his commission in 1973 upon completion of Officer Training School, Lackland AFB, Texas.

MARQUETTE'S MAP--Dr. James Paulding (right), associate professor of related arts-humanities at Northeast Missouri State University, starts his quest of photographing the trail of French explorers, Marquette and Jolliet. University President Charles J. McClain takes a look at the route where Paulding will travel in a copy of the 1653 map of Marquette.

Dr. Paulding has received a grant from the Missouri Committee of the Humanities to present slide programs on the culture and history of northeast Missouri including the travels of Marquette and Jolliet. Some topics to be covered will be Indians living in the territory, early settlers of northeast Missouri and religious groups along the Missouri frontier.

Record number attend 27th Parents Day

About 2,500 parents and relatives received an early report card on their sons and daughters at the 27th annual Parents Day on Saturday, Sept. 16, at Northeast Missouri State University.

Many parents who attended the activities were fathers and mothers of first-time students at Northeast. A large majority stood up to be recognized at the General Assembly held Saturday morning.

The report given by University President Charles J. McClain, Dean of Students Terry B. Smith, Dean of Instruction Darrell W. Krueger and Student Senate President Ed Harvey gave the new students good marks in adjusting to Northeast life.

The attendance record of their parents also showed high achievement. It broke last year's all-time high of 2,200 campus visitors.

The event when it was originated in 1952 had 300 parents in attendance.

Lunch arrangements highlighted this year's Parents Day when a crowd of 5,800 people was served. The crowd was the biggest that American Food Management, a private company providing food service, had ever handled in a single meal at Northeast.

At 11 a.m. parents and students with last names beginning with letters A-M ate lunch while those from N-Z toured the campus and visited the residence halls. At 12 noon, the activities were switched.

In the afternoon, parents were invited to attend the football game between the Northeast Bulldogs and the Zips of the University of Akron in Stokes Stadium. The Bulldogs beat the Zips 14-13.

Parents and other visitors became acquainted with the University life at Northeast on Sept. 16. They cheered for the Bulldogs, toured the campus and ate lunch in the residence halls. Lunching at Centennial Hall are Pam Werner, a freshman from Florissant, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Werner. In the afternoon, the Bulldogs beat the University of Akron Zips 14-13.

British debaters salute the good, the bad and the ugly

by Cathy Dvorak

"Every time Andrew scratches his head, he gets splinters in his fingers."

Insults, innuendo and good humor belong to the British style of debating. Northeast Missouri State University received a demonstration of the British style when Adair Turner and Andrew Mitchell visited the campus on Oct. 23 for an international debate.

The topic selected was humorous. It was "Resolved: That this House would rather be good looking than good."

Although the British debaters were prepared to argue more serious subjects as well, the humorous resolution was chosen to show the British style, David Buckley, NMSU director of debate, said.

And, as Adair said, the British style of debate is more of an art. The debaters attempt to persuade the audience.

"It's merely an opportunity for the two of us to stand up and insult each other and to amuse the audience while we're doing it."

The American style treats debate as a forensic science. A judge decides the winning team on criteria of technical ability and logical arguments.

In a British humorous debate,

"Nothing of any consequence will be said or will be expected," Andrew said.

At the NMSU debate, Andrew was joined by Chuck McPheeters, a graduate student from Chicago. They attempted to persuade the audience that it is better to be good looking than good.

On the negative side, Adair and Gina Borg, a junior from Kansas City, took issue with how good looking Andrew and Chuck are.

Andrew and Adair toured the United States through Dec. 8. The debate at NMSU was sponsored by the Speech Communication Association and the Language and Literature Division.

Andrew, 22, and Adair, 23, both attend Cambridge University.

Adair is studying economics which he will use in his new job as a corporate planner at British Petroleum's head office.

Andrew plans to go to work for a British Merchant Bank. He is studying history.

The two shared a common view of their reception in the United States.

"Everywhere we've been received with tremendous warmth and hospitality," Andrew said.

Missouri historian writes about "Show Me" nickname

by Debra Wheeler

"I'm from Missouri; you've got to show me..."

For years Missourians have believed their state slogan proclaims to the world that they are stalwart, conservative, skeptical creatures of wisdom.

But David D. March, professor emeritus of history at Northeast Missouri State University, says in an article published in a recent issue of Missouri Historical Review that Missouri may not have been nicknamed "The Show Me State" for the reasons they like to believe.

In fact, the state went through a long list of aliases, March says, ranging from descriptions of its natural resources, such as "The Iron State," to downright insults, with "The Puke State" being the most distasteful. His article, "Sobriquets of Missouri and Missourians," explains a few of these names and how they originated.

March was asked by the State Historical Society to submit the article for publication after he presented it as an address at the society's annual meeting in Columbia in fall 1977. He did not have to do extensive original research because most of the material was compiled from information March "picked up" in his thirty-odd years of teaching history.

"When I started this," March said, "I was just looking for some light, interesting material for the speech. I'd submitted articles to the Historical Review before, but the last two times they asked me to write them."

March's article is a collection of both traditional and little-known nicknames. Some originated from Missouri scenic attractions, others from native animals and still others from peculiar characteristics of the inhabitants of the state. A few are less than flattering descriptions of these peculiarities.

One of the most familiar and least insulting Missouri monikers is "The Mule State." March says in the mid-1800s Missouri surpassed every other state in both quality and number of mules produced. Missourians overlooked the mule's balky nature to take advantage of its sagacity, surefootedness and durability.

"The Iron State" became another popular appellation for a short time. Though less creative than many of the nicknames, it was far more descriptive. March says Missouri deserved this title for many years because the state was a leading producer of quality ore until the exploitation of the Mesabi Range in Minnesota.

Other sobriquets drifted out from the Midwest as the Missouri wilderness developed into gradual civilization. "The Bullion State," "The Center State" and "The Ozark State" did not seem to last long as Missouri handles. Nor did the more inventive titles "Gateway to the West" and "Mother to the West."

For a time it looked as if Missouri would be called "The Outlaw State." March says the local criminal element was probably no larger, more active or more ingenious than the criminal element in other states—just more dramatic and better publicized. Among the more famous bandits, Frank and Jesse James became legends and heroes for their lawless activities. Fortunately for Missourians, however, the reputation of the James gang outlived "The Outlaw State" brand.

Even a worse fate than going through history as a bountiful producer of bandits, one other sobriquet threatened Missourians in the 1830s. Residents of Illinois at that time called their Missouri neighbors "The Pukes" from "The Puke State." March gives two possible reasons for this nickname which he tactfully terms "inelegant."

This nationally famous cartoon by John McCutcheon, published in the Chicago Tribune in 1904, produced one of Missouri's lesser known nicknames — "The Mysterious Stranger." The cartoon represented the first time in 36 years that Missouri had failed to give its electoral votes to the Democratic Candidate for president.

The more picturesque reason for "The Pukes" is that Illinois residents considered the Missourians who joined them in the rich lead-mining operations at Galena to be from the dregs of society whom Missouri had "vomited up" into their area. "Missouri heaved and out the ruffians came," March says.

March's second reason for "The Puke State" sobriquet is a little less hostile. It seems Missouri miners were often ill with malarial chills, fevers, cholera and other intestinal disorders during the 1820s, so the nickname was appropriate even if it wasn't particularly friendly. Fortunately the insulting by-name was forgotten through the years.

"We (Missourians) certainly wouldn't keep bringing it up," March said.

Although much of the material for the sobriquets story was compiled, March has also had the opportunity to do some original research. In 1967 he published a 4-volume "History of Missouri" that took six years to prepare. He also wrote and edited "A Book of Adair County History" as a Bicentennial project two years ago.

Dr. David March

Missouri history is one of March's favorite subjects. Since he taught it from 1955 to 1977, it is a topic on which he has accumulated considerable background and knowledge. He also professes a love for history of the South and of the West, which might explain why many "frontier nicknames" appear in his article.

Presenting a speech does not always lead to a published article, March says, although that is what happened in the case of "Sobriquets of Missouri and Missourians."

March claims he did not have to do any "deep digging" for material in his sobriquets article, but many of the aliases he explained are relatively unknown to most Missourians.

But what about the name that stuck? Most people are familiar with "The Show Me State" slogan, March says, since it has been around as Missouri's nationally accepted sobriquet for more than 75 years.

The expression became popular in the 1890s, but not necessarily for the reasons Missourians like to think.

One theory is that Missouri miners who relocated in Leadville, Colo., were unfamiliar with Leadville mining methods, and so needed frequent instructions. The pit bosses constantly said, "That man is from Missouri; you'll have to show him." March says the expression soon became popular above ground as a term of reproach and ridicule.

More popular among Missourians is a second explanation of the nickname's origin. In Cripple Creek, Colo., an obnoxious saloon patron was loudly bragging that he could whip anyone present. A Missouri miner accepted the challenge, saying, "Buddy, I'm from Missouri; you'll have to show me." The Missourian then whipped the braggart soundly.

Whatever the reason for "The Show Me State" sobriquet, March says its meaning has evolved into a term of praise and commendation. When one considers some of the alternative nicknames, Missourians are pretty lucky "The Show Me State" stuck.

OUTSTANDING MISSOURI WRITER—Dr. David March (center), professor emeritus of history at Northeast Missouri State University, received the 1978 Literary Award on Sept. 28 from the Missouri Library Association at its annual convention in Kansas City. He is congratulated on his achievement by University President Charles J. McClain (right) and George Hartje, director of libraries at NMSU.

The Double Eagle II wasn't first

Tom Sawyer and Co. floated Europe back in 1850

Editor's Note: This story was published in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. It was written by Mary Rhodes, a student intern from Northeast at the Hannibal Courier-Post.

Man has been trying for decades to be the first to travel from North America to Europe in a balloon—not realizing the feat was accomplished long ago. Eighteen trips have been planned and perfected by navigators seeking adventure and fame, with seven persons dying in their attempts.

Three men, Maxie Anderson, 44, Ben Abruzzo, 48, and Larry Newman, 31, all of Albuquerque, N.M., aboard the Double Eagle II made history's first balloon crossing of the Atlantic, and landed in France Aug. 17.

But few realize that the trip across the Atlantic has already been successfully accomplished by Tom Sawyer back in 1850. Credit George Pace, executive secretary of the Hannibal Chamber of Commerce, with the discovery.

According to Mark Twain in "Tom Sawyer Abroad," (1872), Tom always got into one thing after another, including a balloon scheduled to sail from St. Louis to Europe. Tom, along with Huckleberry Finn, Jim and a professor, were inside the gondola when it accidentally took off.

Tom Sawyer, the traveler and aeronaut, always had a hankering to be a hero. And like most explorers, he was never satisfied after the notoriety of a few adventures, Tom was only "p'isoned for more."

Tom differed from the three balloonists who crossed the ocean. He lacked maps, plans or any special skills that navigators usually possess. He and his friends were accidentally left in the pilot's position when the professor, who was supposed to navigate the balloon, fell overboard into the ocean during the trip.

The balloon of Tom's adventure was probably quite old-fashioned compared to the ones of modern day. It was described as "big and roomy, and had water-tight lockers around the inside to keep all sorts of things in, and a body could sit on them, and make beds on them, too."

The space age technology now drop down closest to the land and look at the number on one of them meridians of longitude."

Huck also had a hard time trying to convince Tom of their location at points along the journey. Huck was sure they couldn't be over Indiana because the land below was green and that was the color of Illinois.

"What's color got to do with it?" Tom asked.

"It's got everything to do with it. Illinois is green and Indiana is pink. I've seen it on the map, and it ain't no lie," Huck answered.

The men of the Double Eagle II were probably hooked up with the latest radio equipment to keep them in contact with the remainder of the world. Tom, Huck and Jim were isolated from the world in their adventure.

"We had the sky and the whole ocean all to ourselves, and the roomiest place I ever see and the lonest. And it got lonest and employed by today's balloonists was sure to have been a big advantage for the New Mexican men who made the journey.

Huck Finn, still convinced the earth was as flat as a plate despite the "Widder Douglas' superstition that it was round like a ball, was pretty darn positive the easiest way to find the whereabouts of the balloon was to lonest," Huck said.

The worst thing that could happen to balloonists now sailing over the ocean is to be trapped in a storm like Tom's balloon was. The turbulent storm drove his gondola off-course and instead of landing somewhere in Europe, Tom and his gang ended up in a land of sand and lions. They knew this could only mean they were in the Great Sahara Desert in Africa.

Still not satisfied with enough adventure, the aeronauts sailed across the African continent tangling with lions, meeting wild hunters and exploring the Pyramids.

Their journey came to an end after reaching Mount Sinai. Lucky for their health's sake, balloonists today don't have an Aunt Polly to return home to and explain their whereabouts. She stood on the porch, according to Jim, "wid her eye sot on de sky a-laying' for you, en she say she ain't gwyne to budge from dah tell she gits hold of you."

More about Mary Rhodes

A 20-year-old junior from Hannibal, Mo., Mary Rhodes has combined two diversified majors, mass communication and home economics, for her studies at NMSU.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cleve J. Rhodes of rural Hannibal, Mary is the fourth of five children and the first to attend NMSU. She graduated valedictorian from Hannibal High in 1976 and was selected to receive the John J. Pershing Scholarship.

As a part of her studies, Mary worked as an intern at the Hannibal Courier-Post this past summer and was assigned the court and political beats. A highlight of the summer was having this story published in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

This fall Mary is working part time as a student assistant in the Public Relations Office and hopes to be a campus correspondent for a state metropolitan newspaper.

She has been active in many campus organizations, including currently serving as president of Student Ambassadors, assistant news editor of the Index student newspaper, Sigma Sigma Sigma social sorority—public information chairman, and Cardinal Key service sorority.

After graduation in May 1980, Mary's plans are indefinite, but she would like to explore a career in consumer affairs and political journalism.

Science Division receives grant

The National Science Foundation has awarded Northeast Missouri State University a matching grant of $10,800 to improve the quality of its undergraduate science instruction.

The grant will enable the University to purchase instructional scientific equipment to be used in advanced laboratory work in biology, physics and chemistry classes.

The equipment requested is a microcomputer-based system with capabilities for graphic display of data gathered from scientific instruments such as the Clark Oxygen Electrode that measures respiration in cells.

The project director is Donald E. Walker, associate professor of chemistry. He received his B.S. and B.S.E. from Northeast with graduate study at Kansas University.

Helping with applications of the equipment to biology and physics will be Dr. Gary Sells, professor of physiology, and Dr. Robert Nothdurft, professor of physics.

BALLOONS AWAY!—Ballooning has become quite popular since Tom Sawyer's day. While the principle remains the same (hot air rises), today's balloon is quite mechanized compared to the one Tom used.

President Emeritus Ryle Dies

by Dr. Ruth W. Towne, professor of history

OLD FRIENDS--The late Dean Emeritus Wray M. Rieger, Dr. Ryle, and President Emeritus Eli F. Mittler, now living in Warrenton.

Dr. Walter Harrington Ryle III, 82, of 820 East Patterson, President Emeritus of Northeast Missouri State University, died Monday (Oct. 30, 1978) at 3:03 a.m. in the Kirksville Osteopathic Hospital, where he had been a patient since suffering a heart attack on Tuesday, Oct. 17.

Born June 1, 1896, on a farm in Howard County, he was the son of Walter Harrington ("Harry") and Kate Stark Ryle. On June 7, 1927, near Clifton Hill, he married Maurine Adell Lea who preceded him in death on Dec. 3, 1972.

Surviving are one son, Walter Harrington Ryle IV of Rt. 5 Kirksville, who is associate professor of history at Northeast Missouri State University; four grandchildren, Vela Marie Ryle, Douglas Evan Ryle, Alana Jennifer Ryle and Wesley Stuart Ryle; and one brother, Claude B. Ryle of Higbee.

At the age of seven, Dr. Ryle moved with his parents to a farm in Randolph County near Yates. He attended Ryle School and in September 1913 came to Kirksville to attend the First District Normal School.

In 1916 Dr. Ryle became a teacher and principal in the high school at Clifton Hill and in December 1917, he assumed the superintendency when the superintendent of schools was called into military service. However, Dr. Ryle was drafted into the Army in August 1918. Following his discharge, he returned to Kirksville to complete the requirements for the bachelor's degree. In August 1919, he received one of the first degrees granted by Northeast Missouri State Teachers College.

From 1919 until 1921, Dr. Ryle served as teacher-principal of the high school at Palmyra. In 1921, he was named principal of the high school at Holden and 1923 he became superintendent of schools at Holden. In 1927 he resigned to begin work on his Ph.D. degree. While at Holden he had completed work for the master's degree by spending the summers at George Peabody College for Teachers. In 1930 he received the Ph.D. in History from Peabody but a considerable portion of the course work was earned at the University of Chicago, the University of Wisconsin and Vanderbilt University.

In 1928 Dr. Ryle assumed the position of professor of social science at Northeast Missouri State Teachers College. On Aug. 30, 1937, following the death of President Eugene Fair, Dr. Ryle was selected by the Board of Regents as the seventh president of the Teachers College. He retired from that position on Feb. 1, 1967, after he had reached the mandatory retirement age. At that time the Board named him President Emeritus.

During Dr. Ryle's 30-year tenure, the college made a large growth. The campus expanded from 15 acres to more than 60. The school had only four buildings when he assumed the presidency; 21 additional structures existed when he retired. The enrollment increased from 755 to 5,320 students, and the faculty grew proportionately. In his years as president Dr. Ryle chose 438 faculty members.

Dr. Ryle had an interest in politics and from 1932 until 1937 he was a leading figure in the Democratic party in Missouri. He organized a Young Democratic Club in Adair county in 1932; he led it in sponsoring an annual Jefferson Day banquet with national and state leaders in attendance; and he served as chairman of the Adair County Democratic Central Committee from 1936 until 1937. He was an early supporter of Lloyd C. Stark for governor and was Stark's principal adviser on educational issues. Stark chose Dr. Ryle as one of the colonels on the governor's staff.

Dr. Ryle was among that small band of intellectuals who tried to arouse Americans out of their isolationist apathy in the late 1930s. For his stand he was sharply criticized but events soon demonstrated the wisdom of his views. Following Pearl Harbor he volunteered the facilities of the Teachers College for defense training programs. He helped to form the Adair County Defense Council and was elected its president.

In 1910 Dr. Ryle became a member of the Baptist church. As a young man he was active in youth work and in both Palmyra and Holden he taught Sunday School classes. In 1952 he assumed the responsibility of the businessmen's class at First Baptist Church in Kirksville.

Dr. Ryle had an interest in the Boy Scouts of America. In 1917 he became scoutmaster at Clifton Hill. Later he served as president of the Kirksville Council from 1942 until 1949 when he was elected president of the Great Rivers Council. In 1950 he was named a member of the National Council and he served on its leadership training committee. In recognition of his services, he was given the Silver Beaver Award in 1956; it is the highest honor granted by Scouting.

From 1953 until 1957 he served as president of the Missouri Recreation Association and it awarded him a bronze plaque for his leadership. He was a member and past president of the Rotary Club of Kirksville and chairman of the Northeast Missouri Health and Welfare Council from 1964 until his death.

At the time of his retirement, resolutions commending him for his career were passed by the Missouri General Assembly, the Kirksville City Council, the Board of Regents of Northeast Missouri State Teachers College, the Missouri State Teachers Association and many campus organizations. The Kirksville College of Osteopathic Medicine conferred upon Dr. Ryle the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters in 1966.

Dr. Ryle was the author of 12 books, numerous articles and many essays. Each year during his presidency he made a formal address to the faculty on some issues in higher education; these were published in a series. His "Missouri: Union or Secession" published in 1931 is the classic study of Missouri's reasons for remaining in the Union in 1861. His "Centennial History of Northeast Missouri State Teachers College" was published in 1971.

Dr. Ryle had a number of hobbies including stamp collecting, fishing and hunting. His main hobby was gardening, especially the hybridizing of iris and hemerocallis, or day lilies. He introduced a number of new seedlings into the iris world. The campus of Northeast Missouri State University has many gardens containing his irises and lilies.

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Wednesday (Nov. 1, 1978) in the First Baptist church. Dr. Kenton Webb, pastor of the church and the Rev. Bob Schnucker conducted the services. Burial was in Maple Hills cemetery.

A Mighty Oak has fallen

by Dr. Robert Schnucker (BA 1953)

I've been asked to speak about Dr. Ryle and his relationship to the University—but what can one say? His life was so rich and full that it almost defies description. He spent 65 of his 82 years related to what began for him as a Normal School, became a Teachers' College, then a state college, and now a regional University. He began those 65 years here in 1913 as a student, where he demonstrated a quality that never left him—a robust curiosity that made him a continual learner. It was not uncommon for him to read into the early hours of the morning in his quest for knowledge. He became a faculty member and although many of us did not have the opportunity to be in his classroom, those who did still have vivid memories of his excellence and enthusiasm as a teacher. As a faculty member he also demonstrated his scholarly skills and over the years a number of speeches, articles, and books came from his pen. As his curiosity as a student carried over into his life as a faculty member, so did his enthusiasm for learning and his scholarship carry over into his presidency of the college.

He became president during the depression and saw the school through those hard times. He then saw the light of learning flicker and almost go out during the World War II years but somehow he kept things going. He was able to weather the storms that swirl about the position of the presidency of an institution of higher learning, so that he was able to see the campus expand from 15 acres to 60 acres; the number of buildings to increase from 4 to 25; he was able to see the enrollment grow from over 750 to sevenfold that number; he was able to cultivate the campus so that it became a site of beauty, full of flowers, shrubs, and magnificent trees, particularly oak trees. He encouraged foreign students to come to the school which helped to broaden the horizons of the student body. It is hard to believe but he hired over 400 faculty members through the years. For many of us, Dr. Ryle provided the opportunity to begin our life's joy and work. Under his guidance an advanced general education curriculum appeared and worked; the undergraduate programs increased and flourished; finally a graduate program was brought into existence. He has unusually keen insight on matters of curricula and had a strong appreciation for academic freedom in the classroom.

Now as a planter of trees, Dr. Ryle and I shared a mutual love. We had a standing joke about my super oak which grows at a very rapid pace. The last long conversation we had together took place about two weeks ago. We spent about 45 minutes walking around the campus looking at the trees. He particularly pointed out the bicentennial oak and the coffee bean tree that was moved on campus from the yard of President Fair's home. And this leads me to an analogy which seems fitting for Dr. Ryle. After his heart attack, I was running out by the Orrick Road among the oaks and as I reflected upon what had happened and what probably would result, I thought—A Mighty Oak Has Fallen In Our Midst.

Consider the oak tree for a moment. It grows from temperate regions to below the equator. It grows from the seashore to the mountain tops. It is found throughout the world from Japan to India to Russia to Poland to England. There are over 80 indigenous varieties in America. The largest in America is the Burr Oak which can grow to 150-170 feet tall and can become five to seven feet in diameter. There was a mighty oak in England, the Newland Oak, that was probably growing back in Anglo-Saxon days and when it was finally cut down, it was 47.5 feet in diameter five feet above the ground. Although some oaks take two years before an acorn matures, most of the ones around here mature in one year; and an oak produces hundreds and hundreds of acorns.

Dr. Ryle's acorns were and are the students who went through his school and in turn produced students and good citizens, and they in turn produced students and so on. As acorns can flourish and others don't, so has this been true with the students—some flourish and some don't. Some amazed even Dr. Ryle, but the point is that year after year the school he shaped, produced and continues to produce graduates who are now scattered around the world, as the oak is, and the students have become living testimony to his life and work.

The next time you see an oak and reflect upon its magnificence—its strength, and its thousands of acorns, think of the oak as a mute but living and continuing parable about Dr. Ryle—the student, the faculty member, the president, the educator, the multi-dimensional man.

A teacher and a leader

by Lenore Tittle Riggen (BSE 1954, MA 1960)

When I returned from Florida Nov. 2 my husband gave me the information concerning the death of my former teacher, Dr. Walter H. Ryle III.

From the time I started to college at K.S.T.C. as a transfer student from Central Methodist College, the name of Dr. Walter Ryle has been held in high esteem by me, his former student.

When I arrived on campus I was assigned to his American History Section. How fortunate this was for me. The enthusiasm he had for this class was transferred to me and I went each summer to study Social Science because of that first summer. When we studied the early railroads, I brought enough pictures of early engines and rail equipment to enthuse my teacher about his subject. I'm still convinced learning is a two-way street.

Thus, after fifty years, his class is still outstanding in my mind.

Between 1928 and 1978 no individual could have done more to bring information and learning to so many people.

As teacher, principal, teacher-principal, professor of social science, seventh president of the Teachers College, author and community servant, Dr. Ryle has served his generation in a most acceptable manner. It was always my desire to visit his businessmen's class at his favorite church, the First Baptist in Kirksville.

Since I was too far away to attend his funeral services perhaps I will visit his Sunday school class as a memorial to him.

Let him who would be the greatest among us, be the servant of all. Mark 9:35.

(bottom) RYLE HALL--A highlight in President Ryle's distinguished career was the honor bestowed by the Board of Regents in naming the beautiful Ryle Hall residence hall in his honor. Pictured at the cornerstone laying ceremonies in 1963 are Grand Master Martin Dickenson, Dr. Ryle's brother, Claude Ryle, of Higbee, Walter H. Ryle IV, Mrs. Claude Ryle, and President and Mrs. Ryle.

(top) A GOOD YEAR--It was a good year in 1965 for Northeast athletics, with several conference championships, but the real treasure to Dr. Ryle was winning the traditional hickory stick football game with Northwest Missouri State.

The Ryle family has requested that contributions be made to the Walter H. and Maurine Ryle Memorial Scholarship Fund. Mrs. Ryle died in 1974. The scholarship fund will be used to assist students in teacher education.

SCIENTIFIC SHOWMAN OR ENTERTAINING SCIENTIST?—The Amazing Kreskin promotes his latest book while staying in Kirksville for his performance at Northeast Missouri State University. Kreskin, a mentalist and authority on extrasensory perception, entertained 1300 persons.

Amazing Kreskin shows mental powers at NMSU

by Sue Lammert

Would you let someone hide your paycheck knowing that you'd forfeit the money unless you found it using only mental powers?

This check-hiding feat and others were performed by "The Amazing Kreskin," mentalist and authority in the field of extrasensory perception, Sept. 25 at Northeast Missouri State University.

Kreskin found his paycheck hidden in the pages of a Bible under the seat of an audience member. "I have done this feat at thousands of appearances, and I have failed only seven times," Kreskin said. When he fails to find his check, he forfeits his fee.

Kreskin astounded the audience of 1300 persons through other feats. In the case of one woman, the scientific showman correctly guessed the month, date and year of birth of her husband and two daughters.

About half the performance was devoted to a demonstration of the power of suggestion. Kreskin emphasized that this "power" was not hypnosis: "There is no evidence to support the theory that there is a state of hypnosis." The 40 people who took part in the demonstration were fully awake and could understand what was being said, the mentalist said.

Kreskin has made more than 100 appearances on "The Mike Douglas Show" and more than 80 on "The Tonight Show" which were record appearances for both shows, he said. Last year alone, he performed more than 500 times.

"My performances require an intense amount of concentration," Kreskin said. During a stage presentation, the mental pressure causes him to lose three or four pounds.

His powers are not supernatural, though: Kreskin says that everyone is born with the powers he possesses. He credits his development of his talent with starting at an early age, about five. "No one had a chance to tell me these things couldn't be done, so I just did them."

Kreskin was born in 1935 in Caldwell, N.J., as George Kresge. He took the name of Kreskin in high school by using the "Kres" from his own name; "k" from Harry Kellar, one of America's first great magicians; and "in" from Houdini, a French conjurer. Kreskin earned an A.B. in Psychology from Seton Hall University, an institution which has given him an honorary doctorate.

Kreskin's performance at NMSU was sponsored by the Lyceum Series.

Coach Craddock chosen to lead Bulldogs in 1979

by Bill Cable

Bruce Craddock, former assistant football coach at Northeast Missouri State University, has been selected as head football coach at the University.

Craddock, a 1966 graduate of NMSU, succeeds Ron Taylor, who announced in late September this would be his last season after four years at the Bulldog helm.

The new coach has served the past three campaigns as NMSU's offensive coordinator. The 1977 offense ranked third in NCAA Division II rushing and 10th in scoring. He returned to his alma mater in 1975 as offensive and defensive line coach after a three-year stint as an assistant at the University of Vermont.

Craddock, 34, was also a Bulldog assistant in 1970 and 1971, directing the wrestling squad during that period.

He played on the NMSU football team between 1962-65, earning Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association honorable mention all-conference accolades as a senior. Craddock served as a graduate assistant for the 1966 squad.

The coach holds a B.S. degree in Education and an M.A. degree from the University. Before working toward the M.A. degree, he served in the Marine Corps as a commissioned captain with 12 months of his hitch spent in DaNang, Republic of Vietnam. During his military career, he was the captain and most valuable offensive lineman for the Quantico Marines in 1967 and 1968.

In commenting on the appointment, University President Charles J. McClain said, "I am delighted that one of our outstanding graduates has achieved the distinction of being named head football coach of the University. I have worked with Coach Craddock for several years and I know him to be tops in every respect. He is the kind of person that I would want my grandson to play for."

"I'm extremely pleased and honored about my appointment," commented Craddock. "I've worked for some outstanding people, who have helped me a great deal. People such as Maurice 'Red' Wade, my head coach at Northeast, Bill Richerson, who recruited me to play here, Ken Gardner (now athletic director), who was my line coach, Russ Sloan, who gave me an opportunity to coach here in the early 1970s, Ron Taylor, whom I have served under the past four years, and my fellow coaches on the current staff, Ed Johnson and Gary Evans, as well as the graduate assistants.

"We have always received great support from the University administration and alumni, as well as citizens of Northeast Missouri. And we will need this type of support in the future. We want to continue the fine tradition of football at NMSU."

Ken Gardner, the NMSU athletic director, said, "I'm extremely pleased with the choice. I've known Coach Craddock as dedicated player and assistant coach, and believe he will be a dedicated head coach. He has great rapport with players, and his loyalty to this University is unsurpassed. The football program should continue to enjoy the success of the past four seasons, and improve under his leadership."

Energy conservation effort receives approval of alumna

The transition from energy awareness to energy action took place Sept. 11 at the final meeting of the Kirksville Energy Awareness Program, a pilot project designed to stress energy conservation in Kirksville and other small cities.

Stressing the importance of KEAP, Pat Danner, federal cochairman of the Ozark Regional Commission, said, "No government action can by itself achieve the major goal of meeting our future energy needs, but through local and state leaders the energy challenge can be met." The ORC is a federal-state partnership established to plan and to accelerate the economic development of five states: Arkansas, Kansas, Louisiana, Missouri and Oklahoma.

As an awareness program, KEAP will no longer exist, but individuals and groups will now use the knowledge they gained from KEAP to implement individual energy action programs of their own, said Mac Lutz, chairman of the KEAP steering committee. "The work of KEAP will be continued by NMSU, KCOM-KOH, the public schools, the Solar Energy Club and the City Energy Advisory Committee."

NMSU will continue with the same energy program it had last year, said Howard Morris, physical plant director. "Literally, dozens of things were done that added up to NMSU's average of 20 percent energy savings, but the main thing was putting time clocks on the air handlers which turned them off when not in use." Other conservation measures were installing water restrictors in residence hall showers, insulating windows, and turning off lights in classrooms when not in use.

Announcing the NMSU Alumni Scholarship

NMSU's 20,000 Alumni continue to give excellent support to the University. In appreciation of alumni loyalty, the NMSU Board of Regents has established the Alumni Scholarship for 1979-80. Twenty-five incidental fees scholarships ($310.00) will be awarded to children of alumni. Good references, self-motivation, and sincere interest in academic study will count equally with high school grades in determining recipients of the scholarships.

Instructions for Applying for the NMSU Alumni Scholarships

Qualifications

Must be a child of an alumnus/alumna of NMSU. An alumnus is defined as: a person who has received a degree from NMSU (Bachelor's, Master's, Specialist), or -a person who has earned at least sixty (60) college credit hours at NMSU or
 -a person who has been awarded a one-year certificate by NMSU (e.g., One-Year Secretarial).

Must be a high school senior eligible to enroll at NMSU for Fall Semester 1979.

Must have above average grades and a superior record of activities while in high school.

Children of employees of NMSU are not eligible for this scholarship.

Procedures

Submit attached application to the address listed below, including current address and social security number.

Submit letters of recommendation from two people:

- 1) a teacher
- 2) a community citizen

Submit a high school transcript.

All materials must be postmarked no later than March 1, 1979.

A Selection Committee, comprised of NMSU faculty, staff, and alumni, will recommend no more than twenty-five awardees to the President of the University, who will notify the recipients of the awards.

Renewal of Scholarship

The scholarship may be renewed for the sophomore, junior, and senior years if the recipient maintains satisfactory progress toward a degree (30 credit hours passed in a calendar year) and a 3.75 cumulative grade point average.

Other Information

Acceptance of this scholarship by the recipient voids any other fee-waiver scholarship accepted (i.e., Regents, Certificate of Recognition, etc.) Address all application materials and any questions you may have about the scholarship to:

Chairman, NMSU Alumni Scholarship Committee
 Financial Aids Office
 Northeast Missouri State University
 Kirksville, Missouri 63501

Since the number of scholarships is limited, it is important that the applicants get all application materials in as early as possible. If there are numerous applications from equally qualified seniors, applicants who have completed the process early may be given preference.

If you do not know a student who would be interested in this scholarship, you can still support the Alumni Scholarship program with a tax-deductible donation to the Alumni Scholarship Fund, c/o Russ Harrison, Director of Public Relations, NMSU, Kirksville, Missouri 63501.

NMSU Alumni Scholarship Application

Northeast Missouri State University grants a limited number of Alumni Scholarships to children of an alumnus/alumna who has earned at least 30 semester hours or a one-year certificate from NMSU.

Applicants should be above average students, have a superior record of high school activities and submit letters of recommendation from a teacher and a community citizen. A Selection Committee, comprised of NMSU faculty, staff and alumni, will recommend no more than 25 awardees to the President of the University, who will notify the recipients of the awards.

All applications must be postmarked by March 1, 1979 and mailed to Chairman, NMSU Alumni Scholarship Committee, Financial Aids Office, Northeast Missouri State University, Kirksville, Missouri 63501.

Mrs. Hazel Collins of Kirksville died Aug. 13, 1978. She was the wife of Sherod Collins 1932 and the mother of Lloyd J. Collins 1948. Funeral services were held in Kirksville, with burial in Maple Hills Cemetery, Kirksville.

Matthew L. Dorian of Edina, Mo., died unexpectedly July 21, 1978. He was the husband of Delestine Metzger Dorian B.S.E. 1967 and M.A. 1968. Mr. Dorian had been a dietician cook for various institutions and at the time of his retirement in 1972 was employed at the Knox County Nursing Home in Edina. Funeral services were held at St. Joseph Catholic Church in Edina.

Marvin F. Beach 1919 of Kenosha, Wis., educator, whose vision and preparatory planning led to the founding of Moberly Junior College 51 years ago, died July 19, 1978, at the age of 93. He and his wife, the former Sarah Snyder, who survives, observed their 71st wedding anniversary last year. Other survivors include a son, Wallace Beach of Kenosha; two grandchildren, Laura and Stephen; two step-grandchildren, James and Michael; a sister-in-law, Mrs. Rolla Beach, Moberly, Mo.; and two nieces, Mrs. Ruth Harris, Moberly, and Mrs. Helen Fray, Jefferson City, Mo. Funeral services were held in Armstrong, Mo., with burial at the Wesley Chapel Cemetery east of Armstrong. Mr. Beach was a native of Armstrong, and started his long career as an educator at the age of 19 as a rural school teacher. He served as a teacher, principal and superintendent and headed the Moberly school system for 25 years, from 1920-1944. When Moberly Junior College was founded in 1927, he served as its president.

After his resignation as superintendent of schools in Moberly, Mr. Beach helped train Army instructors in the civilian dept, Kansas City, Mo. He later returned to Randolph County as superintendent at Higbee. His last school employment was at Armstrong, where he was superintendent and also taught industrial arts. He was 77 years old when he retired. In 1968 Mr. and Mrs. Beach moved to Kenosha, Wis. He was a member of the Baptist Church, the Moberly Rotary Club, Northeast Missouri State Teachers Association and Missouri State Teachers Association. (From the Moberly Monitor-Index)

Kay E. Wilkin 1961 of Boonville, Mo., died May 27, 1978. Mr. Wilkin was a purchasing agent for McGraw-Edison Company. He is survived by his wife, Norma Jean Fleming Wilkin, and five children, Calvin, Alan, Kim, Karla and Robert.

Class of 1928 remembers the way they were

by Mary Rhodes

As I boarded the bus filled with alumni of 50 years, I was greeted with exclams of "Honey, you're on the wrong bus, this bus is for old timers." I knew I had found my tour group.

The alumni had returned for their Golden Anniversary class reunion, held Homecoming weekend, Oct. 13-14. The graduates, now in their 70s, came from places as far away as Billings, Mont., and Crescent City, Calif., to see their old classmates and the University.

In my two years in serving the University as a student ambassador, I had mainly given tours to high school seniors and their families. But now sitting in front of me were more than 25 alumni from the class of 1928 waiting to see what the University and the town of Kirksville were like today.

I had my work cut out for me. Never had I faced a challenge as great as relating Northeast Missouri State University today to the Kirksville State Teachers College remembered by this group back in 1928.

As we toured the town first, the alumni found their favorite hang-outs were no longer there, and what used to be farms and other undeveloped land were now subdivisions and shopping centers.

"That used to be the old Owl Drug Store," one alumnus pointed out. "Many a date was arranged there." The building, now housing Baldwin's Biz Mart, brought back memories of the old soda fountain where young women would gather to meet the medical students of Kirksville Osteopathic College.

Since most of the students at the teachers college in the 20s were women, the coeds had to arrange dates with the osteopath students across town. In fact, one alumna on the tour said her romance with an osteopath student ended in marriage.

Ramsey's Ice Cream Parlor, now the Shoe Box, and the Princess Theatre, now Sieren's Palace clothing store, sparked memories of Friday nights at the show and ice cream afterwards. And of course the date wouldn't be complete without a trip to Owen Park, now College Lake, for a little spooning in the moonlight.

Since most students didn't have automobiles of their own, most of the means of transportation in the late 20s was supplied by their own two feet. A hike out to the Cliffs of now Thousand Hills State Park, a good five miles from campus, was nothing.

One man said he rode a horse to class and was the first superintendent at his school not to complete high school. He did later graduate from college with the class of 1928.

Back on campus, the 50-year grads were amazed with the many buildings and "huge residence halls."

"We lived in boarding houses or with families that were good enough to take us in," one woman alumna recalled.

"Where's Kirk Auditorium?" one grad asked.

Quickly I pointed out Kirk Building, now housing the Nursing Division, Physical Plant Office, and Audio-Visual Services. Kirk, Laughlin Building, and Ophelia Parrish, seemed to be the only buildings still standing from their college days.

Throughout the tour the alumni asked many questions, and were very interested in how their small teachers college had now become a state university offering more than 100 majors.

With this being the first trip back to Kirksville for some, the 25 alumni plus their guests were pleasantly surprised and barely recognized the town or the college from which they had graduated 50 years ago. Yet all seemed happy to be back at their Alma Mater and see the tradition of excellent education still being carried on.

Dear Mr. Harrison:

Thank you for your letter of Oct. 24, 1978. I have received the back issues of the NEMOSCOPE and enjoyed catching up on NMSU news, and look forward to future editions.

I read in last week's Post Dispatch about the passing of Dr. Ryle. I remember him as one of the first people to meet on visiting the campus in 1966. His personal tour of Baldwin Hall was so enjoyable. He had a way of making people feel welcome at "NMSU".

Congratulations to the Bulldogs. Hope they continue on a winning season.

Sincerely,

Timothy D. Butler

Dear Mr. Harrison:

I want to thank you and the college for the picture you sent me this week of the Class of 1928 and also the good time and delicious meals that we enjoyed at our class reunion and the Alumni Association Banquet.

We were very shocked and grieved at Dr. Ryle's passing this week. I have certainly been enjoying reading his History of NMSU that was given us. Was especially pleased at his statement on page 164 of the "three Johns" back in the early part of this century. Johnie Gill was a very good friend of ours. It was at his home that I stayed the four years that I was in Kirksville; three years in college and one year teaching in senior high. I thought of asking our class at luncheon if they remembered him, but didn't.

Also wish I had told them about the last class that met in Old Baldwin Hall on Jan. 24, 1924. It was a late hour class of mathematics taught by Prof. Epperson. There were three of us in the class on first floor - a boy, another girl and myself. We heard a fire whistle but thought nothing of it. Finally a lady teacher, I believe it was T. Jennie Green, happened to see us from the glass window in the door and called Prof. Epperson out and told him the building was on fire. He came back and told us to get our wraps and get outside. When we did the fire truck was already there and a great crowd outside.

Thought these things would interest you and wanted to thank you for our good time and all the things that were given us at our class reunion.

Sincerely,

Hildred Loen Wilgus

Dear Mr. Harrison:

We wanted to thank you so much for a very enjoyable evening at the alumni buffet this year. We always feel very welcome and comfortable, seeing old friends, as well as meeting new ones.

The time goes so quickly, we often forget the alumni office makes Homecoming the success it is. Thank you for all the hard work.

Sincerely,

Spence and Liz Straubmuller
Class of '67 and '68

Dear Mr. Harrison:

I wish to receive the alumni paper, as I always enjoy hearing from the happenings of the college.

I also wish to report that I was graduated in 1939 and this year I retired teaching from the Quincy Public Schools after 34 years teaching here.

I guess I failed to report the death of my husband Benjamin F. Schroder, a 1933 graduate at college there, who passed away Aug. 8, 1976. He had spent 42 years teaching high school in Missouri, Iowa, and Illinois. He had done graduate work at Ames, Iowa, and Fort Collins, Colo. in the field of vocational agriculture, the field he taught all those years.

Sincerely,

Mildred E. (Hunziker) Schroder
Class of 1939

Dear President McClain:

Just a note to tell you how much we enjoyed the NMSU Commencement exercises.

Receiving master's degrees were our son Thomas Sloggett, his wife Karen and our niece, Karen Sterrett.

Tom's two sisters, Nancy and Judy, are graduates of Northeast, as well as Karen Sterrett's two sisters, Patricia Sterrett Clermont and Priscilla Sterrett Medley.

We are happy that these young people have been able to receive this training from your institution of higher learning.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Roger Sloggett
