SUMMER

President's Corner

All indications point to a very heavy enrollment for the fall of 1964. Last fall our enrollment was 3,803 and probably the enrollment this fall will be approximately 4,100. There have been a number of students who would have enrolled in this College if they could have found housing. This is a very unfortunate situation, but we can look forward to the fall of 1965 when we will have sufficient housing for all students desiring to enter this College.

We are now constructing a large dormitory that will house approximately 660 boys. It is called Missouri Hall. It will be a beautiful dormitory with lounges, a large dining room with kitchen facilities. The rooms are arranged to accommodate two boys each. This building will be ready for use by the opening of the fall of 1965.

We are also constructing an apartment building for married students. It will have sixty-two apartments. Laundry facilities will be provided. Also, there will be a parking space for each of the apartments. This building will be ready for occupancy by the opening of the fall quarter of 1965.

We are looking forward to an enrollment of approximately 5,000 in the fall of the Centennial Year of 1967.

WALTER H. RYLE, President

Alumni Notes

Elizabeth Lessly, 1950, retired in May after 31 years of service in the public schools. For the past 17 years she taught mathematics in the Novinger High School. She makes her home at 316 N. High in Kirksville.

James H. Sears, B.S. in Ed., 1958 and M.A., 1964, has been named superintendent of schools at Renick, Missouri. He has been coach and industrial arts instructor at the Cairo High School, Cairo, Missouri, for the past three years, but prior to that he had served as principal of the high school at Renick. He and his wife have four children.

M. Avonelle Venable, 1949, was featured in an article in the Culver-Stockton College magazine recently entitled "History on a Platter." After her retirement from the faculty of Culver-Stockton, Miss Venable whose hobby was antique patterned glass, opened an antique shop in Canton, Missouri. Her collection of glass now includes 1600 different patterns. The article described her collection and pictured fourteen platters from it. She has given a number of programs on historical and religious glassware to

Other girls in the picture are ((left to right): Valorie Hayes, Sandra Yos, Vicky Cochran, Rosemary Rikken, Vickie Marlay, Janet Smith, Paula McCarty, and Carolyn Mairs. The Milan school will keep the trophy for six months and then it will go to Albany, the other school which was represented by nine students at the clinic.

Recognition Banquet Honoring Faculty Members With Twenty-five Years of Service

Nine College faculty members who together have served the College a total of 271 years were honored at a banquet in the Ryle Hall dining room August 7, 1964. The banquet was in recognition of those still engaged in teaching or administration who have been members of the faculty for twenty-five years or more.

The honored guests were President Walter H. Ryle, Dean Wray M. Rieger, Miss Agnes Slemmons, Dr. Pauline D. Knobbs, Karl Webb, Otho L. Barnett, Sherod Collins, John C. Goetze, and Noah P. Richardson. Dr. Rieger holds seniority in that he became a member of the faculty as professor of chemistry on September 1, 1926. In 1960 he was named Dean of Instruction. President Walter H. Ryle has the second longest record of service having been named professor of social science on September 1, 1928. On August 31, 1937, he was selected by the Board of Regents as the seventh president of the College.

On September 1, 1929, Mr. Webb joined the faculty of the music department. From 1946 until September 1, 1963, he served as Head of the Division of Fine Arts. At that time he resigned the headship remaining on the faculty as professor of theory and instrumental music.

Miss Slemmons, assistant professor of journalism, became a member of the faculty on March 1, 1931. Twice recently she has taken a leave of absence to travel in Europe with Dr. Nan E. Wade, professor emeritus of languages.

Mr. Collins, assistant professor of speech, joined the faculty on September 1, 1937, and he too has traveled abroad on several occasions, the last being a three weeks' trip to the Scandinavian countries in July of this year.

September 1, 1938, marked the beginning of Mr. Richardson's service on the faculty. He serves as director of the Bureau of Correspondence and Extension Service. On December 1 of the same year, Mr. Goetze, instructor in instrumental music, joined the faculty.

Two of the nine are completing their twenty-fifth year of service. Mr. Barnett, who is now head of the Division of Practical Arts, was appointed to the faculty June 1, 1939, and Dr. Knobbs' appointment as professor of social science education began on September 1 of the same year.

The banquet was planned by the History and Traditions Committee of the faculty. Dr. Paul O. Selby, dean emeritus of the College, was the speaker at the banquet, and Donald D. Scriven, assistant professor of economics, who is currently on leave from the faculty as an expert on the staff of the State Reorganization Commission, served as toastmaster.

Framed certificates of recognition were presented to the honored guests by Mr. Scriven on behalf of the College.

In making the presentation he said: "While preparing for tonight, I found some facts that may interest you:

Goethe at 80 completed "Faust"; Cato at 80 began the study of Greek; Tennyson at 83 wrote "Crossing the Bar"; Oliver Wendell Holmes at 79 wrote "Over the Teacups"; Tintoretto at 74 painted the vast "Paradise," a canvas 74 feet by 30 feet; Kant at 74 wrote his "Anthropology, Metaphysics of Ethics"; Lamarek at 78 completed his great zoological work, "The Natural History of the Invertebrates"; between the ages of 70 and 83 Commodore Vanderbilt added about $100 million to his fortune; Verdi at 74 produced his masterpiece, "Otello"; at 80, "Falstaff," and at 85 the famous "Ave Maria," "Stabat Mater," and "Te Deum." On the other hand, we find that: Tennyson wrote his first volume at age 18; Alexander was a mere youth when he rolled back the Asiatic hordes; Napoleon had conquered Italy by his 25th birthday; Byron, Raphael, and Poe died at 37 years of age after writing their names among the world's immortals; Newton made some of his greatest discoveries before he was 25; Victor Hugo wrote a tragedy at age 15.

You, who are honored guests this evening, occupy places between these two classifications. We anticipate your guidance and counsel in building our college. It is now my privilege to represent the faculty in presenting to each of you certificates attesting your years of faithful contribution to academic life here at the Northeast Missouri State Teachers College.

"He is not to be educated because he is to make shoes, nails, and pins, but because he is a man." The faculty honors a teacher dedicated to this principle—Professor Otho Barnett.

Plato said, "Those having torches will pass them on to others." The torch of scholarship in teaching has been passed to many young teachers by Dr. Pauline D. Knobbs.

"I fear three newspapers more than 100,000 bayonets." These words of Napoleon symbolize the power of the press, but we are indebted to a faculty member for implanting the conscience of journalism in our students. We honor Professor Agnes Slemmons.

Faculty members honored at a recognition banquet August 7 pictured with two members of the Board of Regents who attended the banquet. Seated left to right: John C. Goetze; Dr. Pauline D. Knobbs; President Walter H. Ryle; Miss Agnes Slemmons; Noah P. Richardson. Standing from left to right: Rollins H. Brownlee, board member from Brookfield; Otho Barnett; Karl E. Webb; Dean Wray M. Rieger; Sherod Collins; and P. M. Marr of Milan, President of the Board of Regents.

A teacher affects eternity—he can never tell where his influence stops. Music, as an influence, is too sacred to be sold. Known and respected by students and faculty members as both teacher and artist this tribute is presented to Professor Karl Webb.

“Speech is civilization itself. The word, even the most contradictory word, preserves contact—it is silence that isolates.” National renown among public speakers resulted in honor brought to our campus by Professor Sherod Collins.

Martin Luther said, “Music is the art of the prophets, the only art that can calm the agitation of the soul.” Tonight we honor an outstanding performer, an imaginative composer, and a diligent teacher, Professor John Goetze.

“He who knows others is learned. He who knows himself is wise.” Held in high esteem because he is perceptive, wise, and candid, we pay tribute to Professor Noah Richardson.

“The way of a superior man is threefold: virtuous he is free from anxieties; wise he is free from perplexities; bold he is free from fear. He must have common sense—the knack of seeing things as they are, and doing them as they should be done.” The faculty is privileged to honor such a man, Dr. Wray Rieger.

The men who framed the Constitution of the United States of America would not today be called a highly educated group by academic standards. There was not a professor of government among them. Benjamin Franklin had only three years of formal schooling. George Washington was tutored in Latin until he was fourteen, and later taught himself mathematics. James Madison was one of the few college graduates. It is quite probable that most of the men who drafted the Constitution could not have met the entrance requirements for many colleges today. Still, despite their lack of formal education, the men who met in Philadelphia in 1787 were well-educated in the true meaning of the term. First, and most important, they know how to think.

Second, although they lacked access to well-stocked libraries, they were well-read in the classics; and they had learned how to blend living experience with the lessons of history. These men had studied the pioneering works in political philosophy which appeared in the 18th century. From the classic, “The Spirit of Laws,” for example, they drew the concept of separating the executive, legislative, and judicial powers, fitting them into the American experience in a novel way.

The fathers of our country were well-educated in still another sense—they were deeply imbued with moral values. Their minds drew a clear distinction between good and evil; between principle and expediency. They were not uncertain of the values they believed and were determined to uphold.

Today the college is the archive of the Western Mind; the keeper of the Western Culture; the guardian of our heritage; the teacher of teachers; the dwelling place of the free mind.

For these reasons the phrase, “Education that sustains democracy” has an intense meaning for all of us on this campus. Tonight we laud the man representing these ideals, Dr. Walter H. Ryle, President of the Northeast Missouri State Teachers College.”

New Pre-Enrollment Program Inaugurated

A newly organized program for summer pre-enrollment of students entering KSTC for the first time got underway in the summer of 1964. More than 80 percent of the students who were accepted for admission in the fall of 1964 made arrangements for pre-enrollment between June 8 and August 15.

In announcing the establishment of the program early in 1964, President Walter H. Ryle expressed the hope that “a more comprehensive program in freshman enrollment will help solve the dropout problem by properly enrolling students at the beginning of their first year of college.” Kenneth W. Serfass was placed in charge of the new program which is part of the Division of Student Affairs. Serfass summed up the project by saying: “We hope to provide the college with more information about the new students before they arrive in the fall and to help familiarize the students with the college and its program.”

A unique feature of the new program is the participation of the parents of incoming freshmen in the pre-enrollment process. Parents take part in a general orientation program for both students and parents. Then they are given a tour of the campus, the city, and Thousand Hills State Park via the college bus. They have lunch with their sons and daughters in Ryle Hall Dining Room, and after lunch they are invited to a question and answer session with a number of administrators at the college.

The schedule for the incoming students includes the general orientation session, group meetings with

Memorial Scholarship Fund Established

With the final settlement of the estate of the late Ivie Amelia McGuire MacCarthy, 1945, the Teachers College has received the money for the establishment of the George and Stacy McGuire Memorial Scholarship Fund in honor of the memory of George Marion McGuire and Stacy Ivie McGuire, parents of Mrs. MacCarthy. As a part of the bequest, Mrs. MacCarthy willed the College the bronze bas-relief of her father and the bronze bust of her mother, both pieces of sculpture being the work of Mrs. MacCarthy. Both have been suitably mounted and are on display at the College.

The trust fund provides that its income should be used for one or more scholarships to deserving students in the field of art or philosophy. The first scholarship has been awarded to Robert Byg, a senior from Adel, Iowa, majoring in art at the College.

George Marion McGuire was a native of Virginia who came to Missouri after the Civil War. He became a prosperous merchant in Kirksville and married Stacy Ivie, daughter of William H. and Julia Ivie, proprietors of the Ivie Hotel, one of the early hotels in Kirksville, located in the Ivie Building on the North side of the square where the J. C. Penney Store is now housed. At one time the McGuire family owned what was for many years known as the Kellogg place on the northeastern edge of Kirksville. This was one of the most beautiful mansions in Adair County, but the McGuires became convinced that it had brought them ill fortune after the death of their only son and a series of other calamities, so they sold it.

After the death of Mr. McGuire, academic advisors, and individual interviews for class schedule planning with the academic advisors. The new freshmen take a reading test, have interviews with the college physician, and are photographed by the college photographer for their identification cards. After their fall schedules are made out, they have an opportunity to purchase books and supplies if they desire to do so. Every effort is made to enroll the student in a curriculum suited to the interests, aptitudes, and abilities of each.

Mrs. McGuire and her daughter, Ivie, spent much of their time in world travel including trips to remote regions not generally visited by the ordinary tourist. In one of these trips, they went into the Amazon valley of Brazil where they met Dr. Frederick MacCarthy, nephew of Sir James Grant, physician to the King of England. He and Ivie McGuire were married in 1906 and lived in New York until his death in 1928.

Mrs. MacCarthy became famous in the United States and England as a sculptor, painter, and writer. Best known were her miniature statuettes of such notables as the Prince of Wales, now the Duke of Windsor; H. G. Wells; Sarah Bernhardt; Enrico Caruso; Elenora Duse; Mary Pickford; Douglas Fairbanks; General John J. Pershing; and Admiral Robert Coontz.

Fills Newly Created Position

Dr. John Schwada, 1941, has been appointed to the newly created position of chancellor of the University of Missouri, Columbia campus, according to an announcement made by President Elmer Ellis July 14. Dr. Schwada had been Dean of Faculties at the University since 1961. His appointment completes the major administrative reorganization of the University begun after the expansion to the campuses in Kansas City and St. Louis. Dr. Schwada will be the first person to hold the position of chancellor on the Columbia campus. Dr. Schwada received the Ph.D. in political science from the University of Texas in 1951 and joined the faculty of the University of Missouri that year. In announcing the appointment President Ellis said: "In selecting a person for this important position, we were extremely fortunate in having a man of Dean Schwada's eminent qualifications already in our organization and available for the appointment. As a member of our teaching staff since 1951, as professor of political science, as acting dean of the School of Business and Public Administration, and as dean of the faculties, he has displayed outstanding educational and administrative abilities, and has shown complete devotion to the programs and policies of the University as established by the Board of Curators." Dr. Schwada is married to the former Wilma Webster and they have a son, John, and a daughter, Ann.

B. Gene Bartow, 1952, assistant professor of physical education and head basketball coach at Central Missouri State College at Warrensburg, has resigned effective June 8 to accept the position of head coach at Valparaiso University in Indiana.

ALUMNI NOTES

Harry Stroup, 1929, teacher in the Normandy High School in St. Louis County, and Mrs. Stroup toured Europe this past summer.

C. E. Grim, 1959, received the Doctor of Medicine degree from the University of Missouri School of Medicine June 9 and his wife received the B.S. degree in nursing. Dr. Grim will intern at Duke University Hospital, Durham, North Carolina, beginning June 24.

Charlotte Opal Bailey, 1922, retired at the end of the 1963-1964 school year after teaching home economics for the past thirty years at Hamsher High School in Webster Groves, Missouri. She is currently busy testing recipes to go into the St. Louis Symphony Cookbook. Her address is 1050 Tuxedo Blvd., Webster Groves 19.

Major Hilman H. Knapp, 1949, U. S. Army Reserves, completed a one-week Reserve Division refresher course at the U. S. Army Command and General Staff College, Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, May 23. The course is given annually for commanders and general staff officers of Army Reserve combat divisions. Major Knapp is assigned to the Third Battalion of the 102nd Division's Ninth Infantry, an Army Reserve unit in Quincy, Illinois. His home is in Macon, Missouri.

David Doctorian, B.S. in Ed., 1960 and M.A., 1960, social studies and French teacher at the high school in Clarence, Missouri, and his wife, the former Phyllis Taylor, and their two daughters, Sonya Renee, age two and Sherry Lynn, age four, flew to Yurich, Switzerland, May 25 on the first stage of a journey to Mr. Doctorian's native city, Beirut, Lebanon. Mr. Doctorian, who received his naturalization papers as a U. S. citizen in May of 1963, came to the United States in 1954. He had not seen his parents since that time and they had not seen his wife or children. The family will return to the United States in August. While abroad they plan to visit other countries in the Mediterranean and Middle East.

DeVon Griffiths, 1964, has been selected as first counselor of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints in Kirksville by its newly appointed president. He has also been employed to teach industrial arts at Novinger for the 1964-1965 school year and he will also do graduate work at KSTC.

Janet Harrison, M.A., 1961, who has been an instructor in the Division of Language and Literature at the Teachers College for the past two years, has been awarded a teaching fellowship from the University of Ohio where she will begin work on the Ph.D. degree in English in September. Miss Harrison, a native of England, will spend the summer visiting her home in Digswell, Welwyn Herefordshire, a small town north of London.

Captain Herbert G. Webb, 1948, has been decorated with the bronze oak leaf cluster to the U. S. Air Force Commendation Medal at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio. Capt. Webb received the medal for meritorious achievement while serving as chief of the plans and programs branch in the office of the comptroller at Wright-Patterson. He is now a weapons systems analyst with the Air Force Systems Command's Foreign Technology Division Headquarters at Dayton, Ohio. Capt. Webb is a veteran of sixteen years' service.

Kenneth Smith, B.S. in Ed., 1949 and M.A., 1953, principal of the Kirksville Senior High School for the past nine years, has resigned to accept the position of principal of the Parkway Central Junior High School in St. Louis County. His wife, the former Elaine Beaty, 1960, who has been a speech correctionist in the Kirksville public schools, has also resigned. Stanley L. Jackson, B.S. in Ed., 1949 and M.A., 1961, has been appointed principal of the Kirksville High School to replace Mr. Smith. Mr. Jackson has served as assistant principal for the past four years.

William McDowell Dawkins, 1949, art instructor in the Keokuk, Iowa, schools, held a one-man art show June 1-3 at Community College, Keokuk. According to the Daily Gate City, Keokuk newspaper, "Dawkins has stimulated and encouraged virtually hundreds of Keokuk young people in his art classes and another sizeable group of tri-state adults who have enrolled in his adult night classes." Mr. Dawkins received a master of arts degree from the University of Missouri. He and his wife, the former Marion Ruth Mouse, 1949, have four children, Dan, Mary, Chris, and Teresa.

Dr. Ollin Drennan, Jr., 1949, professor of physics at the Teachers College for the past nine years, resigned effective September 1 to accept a position as associate professor of physics at Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo, Michigan. Dr. Drennan received the Ph.D. degree in the history of science from the University of Wisconsin.

James Edward Hollcraft, 1960, received the degree of Doctor of Osteopathy from the Kirksville College of Osteopathy and Surgery May 25. He will intern at Phoenix General Hospital, Phoenix, Arizona. His wife, the former Martha Barnett, 1959, received the M.A. degree in elementary school guidance at the Teachers College commencement exercises, May 22. She has been teaching in the Benton Elementary School in Kirksville for the past five years.

Dr. Ralph House, 1926, professor of education at the Teachers College, retired at the end of the spring quarter after 17 years of service on the faculty. He received the master's degree from the University of Missouri and the Ed.D. from Pennsylvania State University. He taught at several other colleges before joining the Teachers College faculty in 1947. He is married to the former Esther Sadler, 1929, social studies teacher at the Ophelia Parrish Junior High School in Kirksville.

Paula Hoerrmann Nelson, 1960, graduate student in piano at the University of Missouri, was presented in a recital May 24 in Recital Hall of the Fine Arts Building at the University. She performed works by Scarletti, Bach, Schubert, and Schumann. Mrs. Nelson received her master's degree in piano and music theory at the University in August of 1963 and is giving private lessons. Her husband, Jim Nelson, 1960, is a doctoral student and instructor in mathematics at the University.

Olen G. Bradshaw, B.S., 1953 and M.A., 1957, instructor at Hannibal-LaGrange College has been selected to participate in a National Science Foundation Institute for junior college teachers of economics which was held at the University of Missouri this summer. Mr. Bradshaw is currently on leave from Hannibal-LaGrange doing graduate work looking toward the doctorate at the University. He and his wife, the former Carolyn Sue Goodding, 1956, and their three children are living in Huntsville where Mrs. Bradshaw taught during the 1963-1964 school year.

Victor Van Dyne, B.S. in Ed., 1957 and M.A., 1958, has been named principal of the new junior high school in Mascoutah, Illinois. He and his wife, the former Elizabeth McCartney, and their two sons, Terry and Jeff, moved into their new home July 1.

Karen Richards, 1962, was accepted as a student in the foreign language institute at the University of Oklahoma at Norman held from June 4 to August 3. Miss Richards taught Spanish in the North Shelby Junior-Senior High School last year and will teach in North Kansas City next year.

Donald D. Scriven, B.S. in Ed., 1950 and M.A., 1959, assistant professor of economics at the Teachers College who is on a ten months' leave of absence to serve as one of the three experts on the State Reorganization Commission of Missouri, was sent to a government Executives Training School at the University of California May 25 to June 1. There he was trained in the use of computers.

Ralph Sterrett, B.S. in Ed., 1961 and M.A., 1962, has resigned as basketball coach at the Kirksville Senior High School to accept a similar position in the high school at Alton, Illinois. During his three years in Kirksville, his teams have been North Central Missouri Conference champions each year. He is married and has two young sons, Stephan and Jeffrey, and a daughter, Michele Lynn, born July 2.

Charles Cornwell, 1938, was named acting librarian, Municipal Reference Library, City Hall, St. Louis, in March, following the death of F. C. Ault, Chief Librarian at the library, where Mr. Cornwell had been the assistant librarian since 1958. Mr. Cornwell received the M.A. in political science from the University of Missouri in 1939. He is married to the former Evelyn Curtis, 1937, and they have four children, the oldest of whom, Janet Cornwell is now a student at KSTC.

Dr. H. Frank Way, Jr., 1951, is the author of a book, Liberty in the Balance: Current Issues in Civil Liberties, published recently by McGraw-Hill as a part of a series called Foundations of American Government and Political Science. Dr. Way, who is assistant professor of political science at the University of California, Riverside, is also the author of an article entitled "The Supreme Court and State Coerced Confessions," which was published in 1963 in the Journal of Public Law, Vol. 12, No. I, a publication of Emory University, Atlanta, Georgia.

Larry M. Rogers, 1961, joined the staff of the Farmers Savings Bank at Marshall, Missouri, May 1. Before accepting the new position he had served as agricultural field representative for the MFA Central Co-operative in Marshall. His wife, the former Rita Sosa, 1960, teaches in the Sweet Springs High School.

Dr. Ralph Schmid, B.S. in Ed., 1941 and M.A., 1954, has accepted a position as assistant director of the School of Education at Emory University, Atlanta, Georgia. He received the Ed.D. degree from Washington University in St. Louis in 1963 and has been teaching in the education department at Southern Illinois University. He and his wife, the former Colene VanSickel, 1941, have two sons, Tom and Bill.

Dr. David Armbruster, 1957, and Mrs. Armbruster, the former Elaine Wellborn, 1957, and their three children, Todd, Brian, and Amy, have moved to Pearland, Texas, where Dr. Armbruster will enter private practice of osteopathy. Dr. Armbruster graduated in 1963 from the Kirksville College of Osteopathy and Surgery and interned at the Kirksville Osteopathic Hospital. Mrs. Armbruster has served as speech correctionist for the schools of Macon, Atlanta, and LaPlata for the past six years.

Rose Janet King, 1959, has been appointed Director of Christian Education of the First Methodist Church of Kirksville. A former teacher in the high schools at Birmingham, Iowa, and Milan, Missouri, she attended Scarritt College for Christian Workers in Nashville, Tennessee, the past year and received the Master of Arts degree in Christian Education from that institution in May. During the summer she enrolled in the summer session at Scarritt and took up her new duties in Kirksville August 1.

Michael John Myers, B.S. in Ed., 1959 and M.A., 1960, administrative assistant principal at U. S. Grant High School, Springfield, Illinois, has been chosen as one of five instructors to receive a two-year Walter A. Anderson Fellowship to New York University where he will work toward the Doctor of Education degree in administration. The award carries a grant of $11,000 for the two years. Eight hundred teachers throughout the United States were applicants for the fellowship. Before going to Springfield, Mr. Myers taught in North Dakota, Iowa, and Missouri.
